4-1995

Lux et Lex: Volume 3, Number 1

Sandy Slater
University of North Dakota

Follow this and additional works at: https://commons.und.edu/lux-et-lex

Part of the Higher Education Commons

Recommended Citation
https://commons.und.edu/lux-et-lex/5

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Elwyn B. Robinson Department of Special Collections at UND Scholarly Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Lux et Lex by an authorized administrator of UND Scholarly Commons. For more information, please contact zeinebyousif@library.und.edu.
OUR WRITTEN HERITAGE

The Elwyn B. Robinson Department of Special Collections, in its mission to identify, preserve, and interpret the written heritage of North Dakota for future generations, has recently made available several manuscript collections for scholarly research. The collections span more than the last hundred years and uniquely document the political, economic and social history of the state, the Red River Valley and the city of Grand Forks.

The political papers of the late Senator Quentin Burdick document his two years in the U.S. House of Representatives as North Dakota's first Democrat elected to Congress in 1958 and his thirty-two years from 1960 to 1992 in the U.S. Senate. Burdick staunchly defended North Dakota's agricultural community and family farmer, and was a lifelong champion of the state's Native American communities. He wielded considerable political clout in his latter years as Chairman of the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee and the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture, Rural Development and Related Agencies. Burdick's papers total 966 linear feet and contain correspondence, subject files, legislative materials, and photographs.

The American Legion Auxiliary sponsored the first Flickertail Girls State in 1947 at Jamestown College. Held on the University of North Dakota campus since 1950, the program allows participants to experience real-life politics in North Dakota at the city, county, and state level. Records trace the evolution of the program from 1956 to 1989.

Business records of several companies reveal the economic climate of the Red River Valley from 1881 to 1990. The A.L. Hanson Papers outline Hanson's banking career which began in Iowa in 1878 and continued in Hillsboro, Dakota Territory. From 1881 to 1893, Hanson organized and became an officer of the Hillsboro Bank, Buxton Bank and the Bank of Wapeton. The majority of his papers reflect loan and mortgage activities of these three banks, as well as his real estate and tax title business.

The nation's tenth largest wholesaler, the Nash Finch Company, began as a small family-owned confectionery and tobacco store in Devils Lake in 1885. Business thrived with the addition of two stores and expanded into retail fruit. After fire destroyed the original store in 1887, the Nash brothers relocated to Grand Forks where they developed a wholesale line. By 1891, Nash Brothers Company was entirely wholesale and included fruits and other grocery lines. Nash Finch Company remained in Grand Forks until 1919 when it moved to Minneapolis, a rapidly growing regional wholesale distribution center.

Nash Finch Company records contain 48 linear feet of financial records dating from 1911 to 1979, although the majority date from 1919 to 1960. The records detail the financial activities of the Nash Brothers Company, Nash Coffee Company, Nash Finch Company, the Nash Shareholders Company, and the Nash Foundation. Three indexes offer detailed access and organize the records by date, creating agency, and document type.

The Implement Dealers Mutual Fire Insurance Company was organized in 1903 by the Retail Implement Dealers Association of North Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota. The company experienced several affiliations and name changes, and is presently American West Insurance Company. Although it has operated in thirty-four states at one time or another, the highest number of policies have been written in North Dakota. Certificates of Authority, annual reports, and yearbooks outline the history of the company from 1903 to 1990, while correspondence, minutes of meetings of both policy holders and Board of Directors, and financial reports document the company's early years through 1948.

The depression years began in North Dakota in the 1920's and continued into the Great Depression. The McCanna Farming Company was established in 1881 near present-day McCanna, ND, and operated continuously through the 1960's. Nine linear feet of farm records contain a wealth of correspondence and financial records, which tell the story of the farm's survival during the Depression and recovery during and after WWII. The collection's bank records for 1922 to 1930, however, reveal the opposite scenario for small bank operations in northeastern North Dakota. The majority of these banks closed their doors.

A similar scenario was played out for two Grand Forks businesses. The Northern Packing Company opened for operation in Grand Forks on December 9, 1919, and processed a variety of meats and meat products. Annual reports, correspondence, and financial records document the company's high business expectations, but disclose that area farmers found it more convenient to take their business to local butchers. In 1935, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation foreclosed on its unpaid mortgage and the plant closed. A small Grand Forks business, the Dakotah Custom Shirt Shop, experienced a similar fate. In operation from 1919 to 1934 at Paulo Conte was born in Palermo, Italy. He taught piano and composition at Wesley College from 1914 to 1923 when he became Dean of Fine Arts at Oklahoma Baptist University until 1936. He continued his career at the University of Wichita and at the music of the First Baptist Church in Wichita, until he was invited topeater in the 1950s.

Several valuable additions have been made to the papers of Thomas McCraith, nationally known North Dakota poet. They include "Thomas McCraith," a memory by fellow poet, Jack Berching, and letters exchanged with McCraith, correspondence with former wife, Alice McCraith, and with Ann Lewis Deaton, godmother to McCraith’s son, Tomast, drafts of the manuscript for Frederick Stem’s book, The Revolutionary Poet in the United States: The Poetry of Thomas McCraith; in addition to, several audio and video tapes of poetry reading and talks.

UND Law School graduate, Judge Edward J. Devet, led a long and exceptionally distinguished career as Chief U.S. District Judge for Minnesota. His papers include 58 linear feet of legal documents from civil and criminal cases which record social, economic, and environmental issues of the 1970’s and 1980’s, as well as biographical materials and publications. A number of criminal cases are cross-referenced to Appeal Court records in the papers of Judge Myron H. Bright, Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals, allowing a researcher to follow the entire case from trial through subsequent appeal.
BE A FRIEND OF THE LIBRARY!

 Spread the word about Library collection activities in your newsletter or publication

Obtain your company’s participation in a matching gift program.

Send us names of persons to whom we might send Lux et Lex.

Let us know about collections of books and manuscripts we might pursue for the Libraries.

Participate in the Commemorative Gift Program

---

University Libraries
Box 9000
University of North Dakota
Grand Forks, ND 58202-9000
(701)777-2189
e-mail: shabb@plains.nodak.edu

CONSIDER ME A FRIEND OF THE LIBRARY. My tax-deductible contribution, payable to the University of North Dakota Foundation, is enclosed.

___ Benefactor: $500  ___ Sponsor: $100  ___ Contributor: $25
___ Patron: $250  ___ Supporter: $50  ___ Student: $10

"The Library depends on the generosity of alumni and other friends to maintain and improve its quality collections and innovative information services."

Frank D’Andraia
Director of Libraries,
Library Administration