AND FRIENDS OF THE UNIVERSITY
PROSPECTUS — SIOUX FOOTBALL 1961
By Lee Bohnet, After Consultation with Coach Marv Helling

ENDS—Must rank as one of stronger positions on team because of sound personnel available. Probabable starters will be Co-Captain Gene Tetrault and Gary Sukut, who played on the same prep team at Williston. Other experienced ends returning include Bruce Breitling and Jack Marron. Best of new ends may be Ed Anderson. Comparing Position to Last Year: About same as far as manpower but might be better because of experience.

TACKLES—Unlike the end situation, lettermen are scarce at this position. Gone is big Don Kaczmarek, who went to the pro Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Returning is junior Dennis Hoffelt who came on with a rush near end of last season and appears to be set as a starter, along with rugged Maurice Paulsen, best of the newcomers. Also missing is reserve Jim Johnson. Louie Bosch, reserve last fall, appears set for more action. Top men in the sophomore crew appear to be Neil Reuter and Gary Allington. Allington missed all but two of spring drills but compensates with tremendous desire. Comparing Position to Last Year: Weakener because of lack of experience and depth.

GUARDS—Lettermen returning are Bob Enebak, Charlie Kankel and Dick Nelson. Rugged Isadore Derkos, who alternated between first and second team last fall, will not be on squad because of a back injury, forcing him to give up the sport. Dick Perrin, formerly an end, has been moved here. Graduated is Bud Bjornaraa. Comparing Position to Last Year: Weakener due to loss of Derkos and failure of frosty to live up to expectations.

CENTERS—Position should be sound with versatile Dewey Breitling returning after missing most of last season as a result of knee injury, which has been fixed. Backing up Breitling are Joe Bachmeier and best of newcomers is George Jaderston. Comparing Position to Last Year: Somewhat stronger because of return of Breitling.

QUARTERBACKS—Position outlook should be okay as long as Co-Captain Bill Leifur and Gene Murphy remain healthy. Both are fine team leaders and can pass adequately and have proved they can move team well. Leifur is a good runner, fair passer and defensive player. Murphy is a good passer, runs okay. Another returnee is junior Vern Hebert, who is a place-kicker. Of the newcomers, Bob Glas is a big, strong boy who should help. Comparing Position to Last Year: Stronger because of depth and more experience.

HALFBACKS—Here's where graduation hit hardest. Gone are fleet L. C. Hester (to Dallas Cowboys), defensive specialist John Councilman, Scooter Jim Webb and Bill Drozd. Returning are Herschel (Pepper) Lysaker, who runs well and is a good pass-catcher; Joe Taylor, who has potential to become best running back in conference; Gary Fabel, who must be rated as best defensive back on squad; and Bill Haberkorn, who missed spring ball. Of newcomers, Neil Bengston appears to be a starter along with Lysaker. Comparing Position to Last Year: About the same and if seniors come through could be slightly improved.

FULLBACKS—Returning are Dave Walker and Gary Monson. Walker got his baptism as a sophomore against Montana and has been a steady performer since. Monson is a big, strong athlete and could be a comer. Best of newcomers appears to be Dan Neppel, who looked good in spring drills. Comparing Position to Last Year: About the same.

TEAM SUMMARY—Squad has some outstanding individuals, is not exactly weak at any one position but must get maximum mileage from top boys and avoid injuries to be as good or better than 1960 team. It is a team that believes in itself and has had tremendous competition for starting jobs. With a few breaks could win its share in the conference. It will be a colorful team. Seniors will have to show the way until sophs bloom.

He is also credited with being the prime planner of the excellent North Dakota Fieldhouse-Gymnasium, now being copied by several other schools.

He received a Master's degree from Minnesota after serving on the staff there. He has done advanced work toward a doctorate at the University of Iowa. He is married and has two sons.

1863 – THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH DAKOTA – 1961

The University of North Dakota ranks among the really fine universities of the nation in academic standing. Recently its institutional reputation was enhanced when it was listed among the top 100 graduate schools in the country. Federal Judge Ronald N. Davies, UND graduate and former Sioux athlete, in a talk to spring graduates, called the school "one of the country's great universities."

Located on the west edge of Grand Forks, the original 20 acres of wind-swept prairie have expanded into a beautiful 225-acre campus shaded by stately trees. A majority of the buildings on the campus are modern collegiate gothic type architecture.

Founded in 1883 by an act of the Dakota Territorial Council, the institution has had continuous growth. From a one-building institution with four instructors in its College of Arts and Sciences with a Normal School for education of teachers, the University has grown to 10 academic colleges and divisions.

Recent new buildings constructed or under construction include the million-dollar Chester Fritz Library, Abbott Hall for chemistry, Twamley Hall for administrative offices, a two-story addition to McCannel Hall (rehabilitation unit of the School of Medicine) and an addition to two-year old Walsh Hall men's dormitory.

Recent new buildings constructed or under construction include the million-dollar Chester Fritz Library, Abbott Hall for chemistry, Twamley Hall for administrative offices, a two-story addition to McCannel Hall (rehabilitation unit of the School of Medicine) and an addition to two-year old Walsh Hall men's dormitory.

Other important recent acquisitions of the institution include an IBM 1620 electronic computer, which will be housed in the College of Business and Public Administration but which will be available for all campus departments and also to state-wide agencies; a nuclear reactor to be built in the College of Engineering and a $50,000 electron microscope in the School of Medicine.

State-supported and co-educational, over 18,000 have received degrees from this pioneer educational institution. Expansion in all areas marks UND growth under its ninth president, Dr. George W. Starcher. Dr. Starcher took office July 1, 1954, succeeding Dr. John C. West. He received his A.B. degree from Ohio University and Master's and Ph.D. from the University of Illinois.

UND MEMORIAL STADIUM

Memorial Stadium, University of North Dakota's home football field, is located right on the campus and includes a quarter-mile track.

It was formally dedicated in 1927 as a memorial to World War I dead who had graduated or attended UND and former President Webster Merrifield.

Constructed of brick and steel it will seat 10,000. Visiting teams dress underneath the stadium, while the Sioux utilize Fieldhouse facilities.

The press box has seats for writers and scouts and has two booths for home and visiting field phones, scoreboard and clock and public address operators plus space for five radio stations. Working broadcasters, writers and scouts seeking use of these facilities must have press passes to gain admittance. Address press box facility requests to Lee Bohnet, Sports Information Director, well in advance of date of game.
