Explanatory Note

Key to symbols:

? translational equivalent unknown, or unknown in this context.

∅ this is a particle without a special meaning. Though it probably originated from the English "he", it does not mean that now, that is, not where translated as "he".

indicates that this word joins with the one immediately preceding it to give the one translation.

_ this indicates that the two English words which it joins together give the translational equivalent for the one Pidgin word.

1 At first there were two brothers together, 2 and they had no wives and no children. 3 There were only two men. 4 The first brother remained at the village. 5 The second brother went out into the jungle to find an opossum and a bird. 6. And so as he goes he sees a tree with flowers in it. 7 The name of this tree is Nowanda. 8 Many birds come up among the flowers in this tree. 9 And so he shoots one bird and it falls down to a place where there is an old woman. 10 And so the old woman catches this bird. 11 So she catches bird. 12 The man seeing the bird comes up to her. 13 And so the old woman kept the bird and gave the spear back to the man. 14 The old woman said, 15 "I'll use the bird for food, I'll give you the spear. 16 You can take your spear and go." 17 She talked in this way to this man. 18 And so the man said, 19 "You give me my bird." 20 But the old woman would not give it to him. 21 And so the old woman said, 22 "You can sleep one time at my place." 23 She talked in this way. 24 And so this man sleeps one time at the old woman's. 25 There were no men, women, or children. 26 He stays. 27 And so he makes a bed. 28 So he slept until midnight. 29 Many women come up and dance and play around in that area. 30 This man got up angry. 31 "During the daytime I see no people, 32 at night I hear many people talking nonsense." 33 He got up angry. 34 He wants to go outside; 35 he wants to see those women dancing. 36 And so the man goes outside and the thorns from the trees stuck him and the stones cut him. 37 And so he came back to sleep inside of the house. 38 Dayling comes and he wants to fight this old woman. 39a "You can show me some of these people that come talking during the night, I want to see them." 39b He talked thus. 40 The old woman did not listen to what he was saying. 41 The man, therefore, wants to beat this old woman. 42 The old woman said, "You wait, I can show them to you." 43 And so the man stopped. 44 This old woman silenced him by saying, 45 "You go up on top of this Narim tree. 46 And so the man listened to what the old woman said. 47 He goes up on top of this tree. 48 He cuts a branch of the tree. 49 And then he cuts another branch. 50 And the old woman said to him, 51 "You must do a good job of cutting and then bring this stick to me." 52 She talked thus.
