I am so impressed

Shilo Previti

Shilo Virginia Previti was born near the marshy outskirts of noirish Atlantic City, NJ, and raised in a cedar bog during a natural Pygmy Pines wildfire deep in the Pinelands reserve. They have held various jobs on the east coast, including teaching English in county jails, assisting with writing workshops for Murphy Writing, and moonlighting as a waitress & a newspaper deliveryman, but they have recently moved away from the sea to complete an M.A. in English at UND.

by the population density of cars vying for citizenship in the Black Hills
 national park
parking lots
following directives to rush more hurry up
 let's go and
 wait

because every one of these cars is a good American
even if some are foreign-made

because they are participating in our beautiful
 backdrop
 stolen landscape

manifesting their destinies queuing up in neat columns desperate to get closest to the ticketing office toilets and concessions stands of this outdoor portrait gallery

cutting their teeth exploring
a New World
of curated wilderness—
come see it before it's gone and better not forget to take a picture—down carved paths of founding foreheads

so it's a good thing they expanded that parking lot—
did you know park land is the crown jewel of America the beautiful,
America of the beautiful asphalt—
in the name of progress
a nature conservation convenience campaign

or this wouldn't be what I see (see that fresh-air so hard it steals the breath
right out of you)
at Six Grandfathers.

America
aren't you proud?
