Pioneers In Art and Literature

NORTH DAKOTA PENWOMEN

By Russell Asleson, '40

What happens to those brilliant undergraduate writers when they graduate from the various colleges and universities throughout the country? The obvious answer to this question, in regard to the women in the creative writing field is, "They join the League of American Pen Women." This society, membership in which indicates a professional standing, is open to those who have achieved this professional rating through the sale of certain of their works. Poets, short story writers, novelists and essayists all find their way into the ranks of this growing organization.

MANY UND GRADS

The North Dakota branch of this organization boasts many who got their start on the campus of the University of North Dakota, best known of whom are Grace Brown Putnam, Lyla Hoffine and Frances Vejtasa, all graduates of UND. Let us examine the accomplishments of each of them individually.

Miss Frances Vejtasa has had poetry published in numerous magazines, newspapers and anthologies for the past nine years. Perhaps her most recent achievement, speaking of a national scope, came when her book of poetry, "Prairie Phantasy", was published and placed on the national market in Oct., 1937., as No. 170 of the series of Contemporary Poets of Dorrance. Also included in her published material was a short feature article entitled "Perplexities of a Highway Stenographer," first published in the "Earth Mover", Aurora, Ill., in 1935. This story has been reprinted in many highway magazines in the U. S. and is still being reprinted. In the same vein, she wrote a monthly page, "The Drag Line," in the recent publication, the North Dakota Roadbuilder. A number of her articles of a scientific and metaphysical nature have been printed in the Rosicrucian Digest of San Jose, Cal., and she has accepted invitations for submission of poetry to Harrison's North American Anthology of Verse which is in the process of compiling, and the Mitre Press Poetry Anthology of 1938-39, published in London and containing the works of leading poets of all English speaking nations.

MISS VEJTASA

Miss Vejtasa graduated from the University of North Dakota with an A.B. during the summer session of 1928 and enrolled in graduate work the following year, teaching part time in Model high school and the commercial department of the University. Prior to attending the University, she took work at Mayville State Teachers college, research university in Washington, D. C., and the University of Minnesota. While at UND she took an important part in writing circles, being a member of Quill club, creative writers' organization, Matrix, women's journalism society, the Dakota Student, where she was employed as a feature writer, and the Graduate club.

For the past five years, she has been employed by the North Dakota state highway department. She is a member of the National League of American Pen Women and acts in the capacity of secretary and national correspondent for the N. D. branch located in Bismarck. She is president of the Bismarck Poetry society and is a member of the national advisory committee on women's participation for the state of North Dakota on the New York world's fair in 1939.

MISS LYLA HOFFINE

Lyla Hoffine, another graduate of the University, has published a book called "Wi Sapa," which came out in 1936, and has another book, "White Buffalo," that is scheduled to come out early in 1939. She graduated from the University in 1923 with a B.A., and at present is teaching English in Minot senior high school. Since leaving the University, she has acted as editor for Scott, Foresman and Co., of Chicago and taught for four years at the Minot Teachers college, from 1926 to 1930. She attended the Breadloaf Writers' Conference at Breadloaf, Vermont in 1935.

Grace Brown Putnam of New Rockford, N. D., graduated from the University in 1906 with two degrees, a B.A. and B.Ped. "North Dakota Singing," an anthology of North Dakota poetry, has been published by her with Miss Anna M. Ackerman, who received her M.A. at the University of North Dakota, assisting in the preparation of the work. While at the University, Grace was a member of ADT and the Women's Glee club. She received her Phi Beta Kappa key after leaving the University. At present she is editor of "Prairie Wing" (official organ of North Dakota Poetry Society) and is president of the North Dakota Poetry Society.

These women, together with the other members of the club, have cooperated splendidly with every artistic venture that has been attempted in North Dakota.

WINTER PLANS

Much interest has already been shown in the branch contest which opened this month, a short story contest to close January 1, and a monthly poetry competition in charge of Mrs. Anglesburg. In the latter, branch poets will direct their efforts toward certain kinds of poems slated for definite publication; there will be monthly awards and a grand prize at the annual meeting in March 1939 for the winner of the most points during the season.

Sales reported in the September Pen Gram, branch publication, include several trade journal and feature articles by Mrs. Bolyn, Mrs. Waldo and Esther Abbetmeyer Selke of Dickinson; a juvenile story by Mrs. Byrnes; short material by Mrs. Johnson and Maude Krake Baklund of Lisbon. Anne Murry Movious of Lilgerwood, has sold poems, to the American Baptist and Better Homes, articles to "Grit" and stories to the Zion Herald and the International Magazine. Mrs. Selke won a prize from the Brooklyn Tablet for an article, "Why I Want to Be in Winchell's Column."

Miss Denise Barrette, of Lehr, artist member of the branch, is studying California and Miss Brown of Fargo has just returned from Harvard university where she had a Carnegie fellowship for the summer.

And in years to come, North Dakota will hear more and more from this growing organization of women who deem culture the keynote of American progress.

Miss Dorothy Wallace, '36, is employed in San Diego, Cal. Her address is 1532 30th street.

An Interview With Dean Hanson

“---She Loves To Help People”

By Dorothy McCumber, '42

“Because I love to help people.”

That is the natural philosophy that culminated this fall in the appointment of Alice M. Hanson as Dean of Women at the University of North Dakota.

That love of people prompted her, during her senior year at Minnesota university, to volunteer for YWCA charitable services. The same love called her to a position as directress at a settlement house. And that same regard for human beings caused her later to leave the work she loved on the advise of an older woman who said her interest was not detached enough, was too personal, who told her that she let her work mean too much to her to become a really valuable worker.

She went abroad to study, but the love that originally started her in work for the human race inevitably drew her back. She became dean of women in her high school. Her work was noticed. Now she's dean of women at the University—and unofficially dean of men.

It all started when she thought it would be nice to help somebody and so volunteered for charitable work under the YWCA at the University of Minnesota.

Her hobby became her work and upon graduation, when she was offered the position of directress at another settlement house, she readily accepted. As directress she was in charge of the activities of more than 300 children. She had about 30 volunteer teachers who taught gymnastics, cooking, sewing, social dancing and many other useful forms of amusement. This was the work she loved, even to the long, irregular hours. Her work, difficult in itself, was complicated as she was called upon to make rush decisions, and to perform a myriad of duties from teacher to settling children's squabbles. The purpose of the settlement was to deliver service to the community, and just what type or how much was left to the judgment of the Neighborhood Visitor, the Boys' Club Director and the Girls' Club Directress—which meant Dean Hanson.

An incident occurred during that year illustrating the attempt made by these three to be really of service.

DEAN ALICE HANSON

During her weekly visits the neighborhood visitor discovered the plight of a young woman, Mrs. A, and her two children who were being badly mistreated by the husband. She decided that it would be best for all concerned if these three, mother and two children, were sent to relatives in a neighboring state. Knowing full well, that under the state law the woman could be forced to live with her husband, they sought the quickest means of getting her out of the state. The neighborhood visitor, fearing that all trains leaving the city were liable to be watched, taxied with the three to a nearby town.

The taxi was midway between towns. It was about a half hour drive.

At that moment at the settlement house a knock was heard at the door and was answered by the young directress. She opened the door and all vacant space was immediately filled by a portly gentleman wearing a silver star badge.

... questions ... questions ... Did she know anything of the whereabouts of Mrs. A and her two children? ... Was she in charge of the settlement house? ... If not, who was? ... Where was the neighborhood visitor?

No, she knew nothing of Mrs. A ... No, she was not in charge of the house ... The superintendent was in charge of the house ... No, the neighborhood visitor was not home, she was on a case.

And the neighborhood visitor, Miss Hanson knew, needed time ... stall the policeman ... the taxi must reach its destination ...

Would she, the preserver of the law inquired, call the superintendent?

Willing to do anything to detain him, she lifted the receiver and called the number. She explained all to the superintendent taking as much time as possible.

“Do nothing,” the greatly agitated superintendent said, “Above all the law must know nothing of what is going on. They must not suspect. Say anything to detain the cop. Stall for time ...”

To which the bewildered Miss Hanson, under the watchful eyes of the law, answered “yes ... yess ... yes ...” and when at last she hung up the receiver—turned to the gentleman and said:

“No, the superintendent knows nothing whatever of the case. There must be some mistake.”

... stall ... stall ... ten ... twenty-five ... thirty minutes ... surely that was time enough for them to reach their destination.

With a sigh of relief she escorted the policeman to the door. Perhaps it was outside the law—but it was justice and a social service, and they often differ from law

The next summer, in order to better equip herself for her work, she studied at the Chicago School of Civics and Philanthropy. She roomed at Hull House and took part in social service work there. Here it was that she met the woman who advised her that she was too emotional for settlement work.

So that fall, when Dean Hanson received an opportunity to spend eleven weeks at a school in France, she remembered the advice given her, and resigned the position of directress and accepted the study abroad.

CAMPUS NEWS

By Robert Hammes, '41

HONORS DAY

President Frank Eversull, NDAC head, was the principle speaker in his first appearance before the University student body, at the all honors convocation held December 9.

Originated last year, the convocation is planned as a means of familiarizing students with the possibilities of securing scholarship and service honors. A spring convocation at which students are recognized for their service to the school serves a compliment to Honors day.

Portraits of two former faculty members were presented to the school. A portrait of the late Dr. A. G. Leonard, once head of the geology department and state water geologist from 1903 until his death in 1932 was presented by a faculty representative( while the Women's League and Mortor Board furnished a portrait of Dean M. Beatrice Olson, who resigned last summer to accept a similar position at Idaho university, had been dean of women since 1922. Both portraits will be hung in the University Hall of Fame in Merrifield hall.

Following the convocation, a luncheon was held at the Commons with President and Mrs. Eversull as guests of honor.

NORDQUIST

Dale Nordquist, University law junior, won $250 and third prize November 1 at the Young Republican national oratorical contest at Washington, D. C.

His topic was "Can the Initiative of Youth be Maintained Under the New Deal." Two weeks previously, Nordquist won state honors, and a week later won the regional meeting at Des Moines, Iowa.

CONCERT BAND

The University Concert band will play over the Mutual Broadcasting system from station WGN, Chicago, during its spring tour to tentative plans announced December 1 by John E. Howard, bandmaster.

The band's schedule tour features a program for the University's Alumni club there. Milwaukee, Sauk Center, St. Cloud, and Fargo are now definitely on the band's itinerary.

WHO'S WHO

Nine seniors were chosen for the 1939 Who's Who of the University of North Dakota by a student-faculty committee.

Those chosen were Beverly Ann Bushaw, Peggy Foss, James Glycer, Jean Hoagland, William McCosh, Fritz Pollard, Donald Roney, Bert Timm and Stanley Walsh. Selection is based on character, service to the school, activities, and scholarship.

FINGER BOWL

Insurrection! Rebellion on the campus! Who blew out the flame? A little group of irate football players got together the other day and were irate because they had no bowl game. So they found a place faintly resembling a bowl and named it the Finger Bowl, and played there games there December 10.

Senechal, Jacobson, Ordway and Gainor decided that the Militarists and pacifists had nothing on the athletes, and to liven up the pre-holiday season, the boys who reside in the stadium threw a ball for the members of the varsity football team and their femmes.

So with a nickeldom grinding out "The Clarinet Polka" and "Square Dance for Eight Egyptian Mummies," the boys gathered in a room in the stadium—and celebrated the Christmas season.

MADRIGAL TOUR

Approval of a professional tour of the Chicago area in February by the Madrigal club was announced recently by Hywel C. Rowland, conductor.

The trip, which has been planned since August, was finally agreed upon by Rowland and Austris A. Wihtol, director of the Chicago Latvian singers and an independent booking agent.

The tour is to be entirely on a professional basis, with the club guaranteed full expenses by Wihtol.

Thirty students will be chosen during the two weeks following Christmas vacation to make the trip. Over fifty singers have been drilling daily since late September for places among the 30 going.

KIDDIE PARTY

Grand Forks children were guests of four University organizations at their annual Kiddie's Christmas party, December 11.

The party in an annual affair sponsored by the YMCA, YWCA, Mortar Board and Blue Key. About 60 youngsters between the ages of four and eight were invited.

Dinner, games, a large Christmas tree and distribution of inexpensive gifts were featured at the party. Sixty college students were invited to the festivities, each bringing a present for one of the children.

HOLDS APPOINTMENT

Dr. Harvey C. Gunderson, graduate of North Dakota in 1933, completed work at Rush college in 1937 and served as general internship at Cincinnati General hospital the same year. He now holds a two year surgical appointment at Bellevue hospital, New York City.

PEGLOW PARAGRAPHS

Irving Peglow, 1662 Scheffer street, St. Paul, Minnesota writes: "The Review is always read from cover to cover when received. Its contents keep one posted with UND friends and instructors. North Dakota certainly has a right to be proud of many of its graduates. I would certainly like to see Jack West's "Sioux" in action again. Here's hoping that the work of the association will be carried on."

PIONEER DIES

Joseph John Youngblood, pioneer Fessenden attorney and University law school graduate in 1904, died at the age of 74 in a Fessenden hospital. Youngblood was a former Wells county state's attorney and state railroad commission. He has lived in North Dakota since 1891.

ON BALL STATE FACULTY

Dr. L. L. Hyde, who is on the faculty of the Ball State Teachers college, Muncie, Indiana writes, "Dear Frank: I hope that better times are ahead for the Alumni association. I wish to compliment you upon your fine work in keeping the organization functioning."

Paintings by Eugene E. Myers, director of art at Mayville State Teachers college and former assistant at the University, and Paul E. Barr, UND art director, have been exhibited recently in the Graver hotel under the auspices of the Fargo Fine Arts club. Myers recently was appointed state art chairman for the National Education association by New Orleans, La., art department chairman. The two artists are co-authors of a textbook in art, published this year, on creative lettering.

Boxing, Basketball Take Limelight

SIoux SPORT SUMMARY

By Orville Bergren, '40

At the last writing, the Sioux grid-ers were undefeated, were clicking on all cylinders, and had an excellent chance to repeat their 1937 North Central Conference championship and even to go through their tough schedule undefeated. Following their fourth consecutive triumph, over De Paul university, the Westmen defeated the Montana Grizzlies in the Homecoming classic, 7-0 before a big crowd of old grads. After looking very impressive in the Grizzly game, the Nodaks journeyed to Fargo the next week-end and DIDN'T spoil the A. C. Homecoming, losing to their traditional rivals, the Bison, by a score of 17-13. Despite the superior record of the Sioux, the Bison deserved to win since they really played championship ball for a day to overcome the Nodak team.

With their confidence and morale at a low ebb following the Bison game and the squad riddled with injuries, the Sioux went to Detroit the next week-end and proceeded to take a 38-7 beating, but there is just cause for the one-sided loss when the condition of the squad is considered.

The Nodak football season was brought to a close with the Omaha university game, which U.N.D. won, 7-0 in a hard-fought game. It was another conference triumph, but the previous loss of the Bison game threw the Sioux out of the running for the conference title. South Dakota University Coyotes defeated the Bison and their undefeated record in conference competition won for them the N.C.I.C. grid title for 1938.

Co-captains Jack West and Chuck Gainor were awarded the center and end position respectively on the Fargo Forum coaches all-conference team, with Fritz Pollard, truly great colored halfback, winning the left-halfback position for the third successive year.

After the last game of the season, the players elected their captain for next year. His name is Evan Lips and he hails from Bismarck. Lips has been a regular blocking back for two years and his consistent play from his quarterback position has been a big factor in Sioux success this year. He is the best blocker on the team and is a bulwark on defense, when he backs up the line. While it is still a little early to determine what kind of a team he will lead next year, indications are that much help will be needed from the freshman squad of this year. Gone will be such stars as Pollard, Gainor, West, Ordway, Gehrke, Hallen, Horace Johnson and several other reserves.

A tough schedule is again being lined up for next year, including games with Montana, De Paul and Detroit, besides the several tough conference games. Yes, Coach C. A. West really has his work cut out for him.

But the grid season is dead and buried, and the Sioux cagers are well into the 1938-39 basketball season. Clem Letich's men have already several victories under their belts. Starting out the season with a thrilling 42-35 overtime victory over Jamestown college, the Nodaks showed flashes of good form, although they were ragged on defense and missed many shots. The next victim was Mayville Teachers college, and the Sioux took on the strong Hamline University quint next on the armory floor.

Now a look at the squad upon which the basketball aspirations of U.N.D. are based this year. At present the first five consists of Chuck Nelson and All-conference Bill McCosh at forwards, Jim Eide, a six-foot four-inch sophomore at center, and Donn Pepke and Pete Burich at guards. McCosh, co-captain of the team with Donn Pepke, was individual scoring champion of the loop last year and was the only unanimous choice for all-conference rating, so there isn't much question about his position. Nelson at the other forward was a reserve last year and the big Fargo athlete should click this year. He is a consistent performer, and while he is not usually a formidable offensive threat, he really gets hot occasionally.

Eide's appointment to regular center duties seems to be permanent. He is tall enough, a fair ball handler, and while he is not a high scorer, he is mighty effective on the floor. He is improving all the time, since he is only 18 years old.

Pepke is starting his third year as a regular and this should be his greatest. He is easily the best defensive performer on the team and judging from the performance in early season games, he will also be an offensive threat. He garnered 14 points against Jamestown and Mayville, which is very heartening to Sioux fans. The other guard position is a toss-up between Pete Burich and Bernie White. Burich played a lot of basketball last year and is a smooth ball-handling veteran. However, White, a sophomore with years of basketball experience behind him, is putting in a strong bid to cop the starting assignment from Burich. At any rate, both of them are outstanding guards and should be a boon to the offense as well as the defense.

The reserves back from last year's team are Horace Johnson, Elliot Simonsen and Phil MacMillan. Johnson, lanky colored flash, has been bothered with a knee injury sustained in football and has not seen much action to date. Simonsen and MacMillan should both be improved this year with one year of experience behind them. Football Captain Evan Lips is the only other upper-classman on the squad. He is a guard and did not play last year. The outstanding sophomore candidates are Norm Leafe, Bill James and Orren Homme, forwards; and Glen Enge and Arnold Algier, guards. They are all improving rapidly and should help the team considerably as they get more experience.

A tough schedule lies ahead of the Nodaks, including Hamline, De Paul, Illinois, Loyola and many tough conference games. South Dakota U and South Dakota State appear to be the outstanding contenders for the conference cage champions at the present time, but we'll wager that the old basketball magician, "Silent Clem" Letich, will come up with a team that will have to be reckoned with in the heat of the N.C.I.C. race. Time will tell . . .

Interest in Nodak boxing is slowly mounting, due mainly to the efforts of several students. It was only several years ago that the Sioux were regarded as one of the top-flight boxing teams in the country, boasting five Northwest Golden Gloves champions on its roster. Then several of the good men graduated. Next Coach H. H. Russell had to resign because of heavy duties in the English department. Interest declined and for a while this year, it looked like boxing as a varsity sport would be dropped. But Student Manager Louis Eschenberg and Student Coaches Cully Eckstrom and Carlyle Loverud wouldn't hear of it. They got a team working out and Eschenberg immediately scheduled matches with an all-star collection of Winnipeg amateurs and with the Idaho university team, one of the highest ranking collegiate boxing teams in the country. The Nodaks lost both matches, but made a scrap of it in every fight of both matches.

Winnipeg is scheduled to return to the University on December 15, and because of the popularity of the Nodaks due to their last appearance, they are going to fight Winnipeg again in the Manitoba city later in the year.

Gordy Lee, a veteran campaigner, is fighting bantamweight on the team. Student Coaches Loverud and Eckstrom are fighting featherweight and lightweight respectively. Both have years of amateur experience behind them, having won numerous titles, and they are the nucleus of the team. Vern Johnson, a newcomer last year, is fighting welterweight and Student Manager Eschenberg is fighting in the middleweight division. Roy Christianson, a tall boxing veteran of two years service, is fighting in the light heavyweight class, and Roy Montgomery and Johnny Holodnik are taking care of the heavyweight duties. That is the roster of the team at present. They are, as a whole, inexperienced, but they like to fight and are eager to learn. It is mainly through the efforts of the fighters themselves that boxing is staging a revival on the University campus.

NEW DORM

Construction work on a new dormitory, ready for occupancy by the second semester of 1939-40 school year, will be begun very soon.

The $211,000 structure, originally planned as a women's dormitory, will be used for a men's dorm, due to the fact that a survey proved the graver necessity for men's quarters. The building will house 130 men, and will be a U shaped structure made of brick and stone facing University avenue, with two wings running south.

When the structure is completed Macnie hall and Camp Depression will be closed.

The Public Works Administration granted $9,000 and the remaining $12,100 will be supplied by the sale of self-liquidating, dormitory revenue bonds which will mature over a 20-year period with four and a half per cent interest.

DEAN HANSON

The eleven weeks in France gave her much practical knowledge and use of the subject that had been her major in college. When she returned, she accepted the position of French and Mathematics instructor at Central high school in Grand Forks and later was appointed dean of women there.

Her devotion to her job of helping the girls and working with them as girls' adviser at the high school took more time than she had planned. Something had to be dropped, as she discontinued instruction in one of her courses. During the years spent at Central, she studied, during summer vacations, at Columbia university and received her degree in social service work.

Her natural aptitude and ability were noticed. When a vacancy occurred in the Sioux faculty ranks, she was called to fill it.

So here she is—because she loves people.

News Letter Tells Whereabouts

GRADUATES OF 1936

By Helen M. Reis, Secretary

Greetings, classmates!

Here we are with the annual roundup again. We only hope that some of the more silent members of the class can be aroused into action for the next news letter.

In the two years, since graduation, no word has come to the secretary concerning the whereabouts of 56 individuals—they failed to return their cards and no one else mentioned them.

Here they are—the missing alums: Bergmeyer, Earl Bradford, Nathan Brownstein, Angela M. Buck, Eugene Carpenter, Joyce Ballard, Janet Barnard, George James W. Cochran, Jack T. Cowan, Raymond J. Crider, Clarice J. Ferguson, Emma J. Grady, Halle O. Hall, Maxwell M. Luchs, Donald A. McCallum, Horace D. McGee, Marian C. McIntosh, Richard J. Maginn, Jean A. Mallinson, Colette J. Mechler, Katherine C. Melby, Norman B. Mikkelsen, Ethel V. Nagle, Frederick W. Nagle, Norman E. Nelson, H. Eberhardt Neve, Gerd E. Ohnstad, Hjalmar V. Peterson, Leonard J. Petrucci, Raymond W. Reise, Aleck M. Ripple, Donald W. Robinson, Francis W. Hennings, Norman S. Hollem, Donato A. Jacob, George S. Klovstad, Charles W. deBryun Kops, Carl J. Larson, Vernon L. Larson, Lloyd Thompson, Donald H. Trauffer, Fridtjoff Vaule, John A. Wyness, Sam Sachs, Carolina Schalfmann, Jerry J. Searight, Alfred F. Sowl, Milton D. Starekw, Donald J. Stubbins, Vera C. Swenson, Elmer O. Tandberg, William Holland, Blanche Spiller, Lilas Retzlaff, Thomas O. Boyle, Robert J. Deering.

Of the 234 class members, only 93 bothered to drop replies in the mail this year. Thanks to their co-operation this epistle contains news of 130 who received their degrees in 1936. Three cards were returned unclaimed.

Remember, information is scarce where cards are missing. By returning them, you do away with the need for improvising.

Helen Reis, Secretary.

GORDON S. AAMOTH—got around to returning his card this year from the Roxy Building in Fargo, where he is practicing law. He passed the bar examination last summer. Still unmarried. Fargo Forum says something about managing a theater—is it true, Gordy?

GEORGE E. AANSTAD—is now a salesman for the Minnesota Paper and Cordage Company and lives in Apartment 306, 212 Walnut street S. E., Minneapolis, Minn. Single.

RALPH W. ADAMS—will be an M. D. soon. He is a fourth year medical student at the University of Pennsylvania. Lives at 326 South 38th street, Philadelphia, Pa. Thanks for the word that Murray Stromberg is in the same year of medicine at Temple university in Philadelphia.

HELEN J. ALFONTE—went to the Philippines a year ago with her father, Colonel Alfonte. Helen intended to collect bugs for the Carnegie Institute or something. A late dispatch reveals that she was married Oct. 23, 1938 to Lieutenant Henry David Lind of the U. S. army. They the Minot, N. D. high school, but gives her address as 1721 Fourth avenue North, Grand Forks.

LORENE BERG—is a secretary in Seattle, Wash., but she forgot to mention the type of office in which she works. Her home and forwarding address is Monmouth, Ore.

FREDA BERGMAN—was married March 13, 1938 and henceforth will be listed as Mrs. William Nydorff. Her husband, a graduate of New York University, is auditor for the United States employes' compensation commission. Freda is working for the National Labor Relations Board and says the work is "very interesting." Their address—2212 Eye street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

MARGUERITE BONZER—again refuses to communicate. However, when last heard of, she was en route to California to visit her parents. Still working at the N. D. State Training School in Bismarck. Bonzer? We wouldn't know.

ALFRED G. BOYD—will be remembered better as "Gordy." Is an electrical engineer with General Electric in Philadelphia. His address is 44 Marlborough Road, Upper Darby, Pa. Sends word that Les Jacobs, Mrs. Les Jacobs and Les Jacobs Jr., live at 162 North Elmwood avenue, Oak Park, Ill.

LYOYD M. BRAFF—is engaged in traffic engineering work as a student engineer with the Chicago Surface Lines. He married Ruth Smith of Superior, Wis., Sept. 26, 1936, and lives at 1733 Juneway Terrace, Chicago. No children. To Boyd's information about Lester Jacobs, he adds that Mrs. J's name used to be Ruth Jewel Haskins. She attended the University of Michigan. The wedding was Oct. 3, 1936, and Lester Lee "Bucky—God's Gift to Athletics" Jr., arrived Aug. 6, 1938. Les Sr., is with the Buchen Advertising Agency.

ARNOLD BRAVERMAN—is gym instructor at the Raymond elementary school in Chicago and director of publicity at Schurz evening high school. His address is 4206 Jackson Blvd., Chicago, are living at Fort Mills, Convegidor, Philippine Islands.

STEPHEN C. BACHELLER—interning in a Chicago hospital. Married Dorothy Bangert, UND, '37, a year ago Thanksgiving day.

GRACE H. BALFOUR—After a long illness, resumed her work teaching in Belmont school, Grand Forks.

GEORGE ALLEN—the great silence continues. When last heard from, he was still adjusting insurance somewhere in Michigan.

BERNICE I. ANDERSON—works in the office of the Grand Forks Grocery Company and lives at 8 Fuller Block, Grand Forks.

GARVIN L. AUGUSTADT—is a mining engineer with Box 215, Superior, Ariz., as his address. He married Nina Dell Thorson, UND '38, on July 9, 1938.

VERNEIL AXTELL—teaches commercial subjects at Farmington, Minn. Thanks for the information about Marian Wagness who is teaching in Hopkinton, Ia.

LOGAN BEISNER—is now a junior public accountant and lists 1054 McKnight Building, Minneapolis, Minn., as his address. Married Eva Liermann of Knapp, Wis., Sept. 29, 1937. Says that Chi Hallenberg, still single, is employed by the First National Bank and Trust Company in Minneapolis.

ELEANOR G. BERG—teaches English in Ill. Says that Irving Kupcnet, '35, still writes sports for The Chicago Daily Times.

VIVIAN BRINK—teaches in Cass Lake, Minn.

BENNIE I. BUNAS—another single man who does chemical engineering for Universal Oil Products Company and lives at 35 West avenue, Riverside, Ill.

HELEN LEIGH BUNAS—still lists her occupation as housewife. She was married to Arthur J. Bunas, UND, '32, June 21, 1936 and lives at 518 Ninth street, Bismarck, N. D. Her year-old child is named Norman Leigh.

ROBERT A. BUTTZ—come, come, Bobby! It is good politics to refrain from sending a card to let your classmates know your whereabouts? Or have you given up politicking since graduation? 'Tis said that as a practicing attorney in Grand Forks, Bob specializes in collections, eats at Hoft's and recently purchased an imposing new car.

GEORGE H. CARTER—probably too busy flying around in the Naval Air Corps at San Diego to bother about UND class cards. Ranks as a flying cadet or something. Completed his course at the United States Naval school in Pensacola, Fla., about a year ago.

HELEN A. CHANCE—thinks up special diets for patients in a Des Moines, Ia., hospital. Her address is 1440 Sixth avenue, Des Moines.

JACK W. CHARBONNEAU—is a salesman in American Falls, Idaho and has joined the ranks of married men. The big event was July 17, 1938, with Fern Schwarz joining in the "I do's." She attended the University of Idaho.

STUART M. CHARLESWORTH—call him Second Lieutenant, if you please. As an officer in the United States Marine Corps he has been attending the Marine Corps schools at Quantico, Va., since last summer. Before that, he served about a year or more on the U. S. S. Ranger.

CONRAD W. CHRISTENSON—returned his card this time. He is working on his Master's Degree in chemical engineering at the University. His address is 311 Fifth avenue, North, Grand Forks.

DOROTHY CLAYTON—also broke down and filled in her card with the information that she is transcript clerk in the registrar's office at UND. Her address is 1011 University avenue, Grand Forks. Says she is still single.

MARY CONMY HOPPERT—joined the ranks of matrons when she was married to D. E. Hoppert, UND '35, January 15, 1938. Hop is an engineer for the state health department. Their address is 1214 Fourteenth avenue North, Fargo.

JACK CONNOR—is a draftsman with the highway planning survey in Bismarck. He adds that Edward Hagert, also unmarried, is a draftsman for the same survey.

CAROL H. COX—failed to reply, but it must be recorded that she was married to Robert Buckingham, UND '37, Sigma Chi, in June 1937. They live in Schnectady, N. Y., where Bob is employed by General Electric. Guests declare that he boasts about her cooking—especially apple pies.

CHARLES E. CRANE—was elected state's attorney for his home county in the November elections. He lives in Medora.

RUTH CRONKHITE—teaches home economics and gives as her address Box 465, Henning, Minn. Says that Vivian Brink teaches in Cass Lake, and Lois Thoreson in Austin, Minn.

JANE CRYDERMAN — sports starched white uniforms in her job as laboratory technician in the public health laboratory in Grand Forks. Lists Grafton as her home address. She adds that Helen Alfente is in Manilla with her father.

BETTY DAHL—is therapeutic dietitian in the Good Samaritan Hospital. She forgot to say where the hospital is located, but the card was postmarked, Portland, Ore.

DARRELL A. DAHL — works in the sales department of the Ford Motor Company in Fargo. His address is 620, Tenth avenue North, Fargo. He exclaims, "Not married!" and "No prospects." For additional information he reveals that Edna Peterson is a secretary in the Fargo high school; John Arman is in the Firestone Service store in Fargo; Lloyd Graving is with Cargill Elevator in Minneapolis; and Elton Ringsak, recently married to Ruth Baker of Bismarck, is an officer in the U. S. army at Jefferson Barracks in Iowa.

MANFORD B. DAHLE—is interning in the Swedish Hospital, Minneapolis.

JOHN P. DALY—Jack, to his classmates, is assistant manager in the Foremost Dairies, Inc., in Jacksonville, Fla. His address is 2929 Post street, Jacksonville. Married Winifred I. Finlay, UND '36, Dec. 3, 1936. Refuses to divulge information about other classmates. Says, "they promised not to tell on me."

EUGENE T. DEVITT — class president, has forsaken the radio business to help handle the business in Brother Edward's East Grand Forks law office. Lawyer Devitt declares that he is not married, but adds, "I love her."

VINCENT J. DODGE—teaches science and is principal of the high school at Bathgate. He married a classmate, Irene Fortune, Sept. 5, 1937.

GERALD K. ECKHARDT — supervises the high school band and teaches English at McLaughlin, S. D. Another single man.

CHARLES E. EIRIKSSON—is attending the medical school at Marquette University. Address is 605 North 13th street, Milwaukee, Wis.

GENEVIEVE FALKANGER—must have been too busy directing the school publications at Hope to answer the questionnaire. She brought a crew of of nephyte editors to the NIPA convention in November.

BLAIR A. FLEGAL—is state director of the historical records survey and gives his address as 712-9, Bismarck.

MURL L. FODNESS — another who failed to reply, but reports have it that she is leading the girls of the State Normal and Industrial school at Ellendale in their daily gymnastics.

IRENE FORTUNE DODGE—is a housewife since her marriage to Classmate Vincent J. Dodge, Sept. 5, 1937. They reside in Bathgate.

MILDRED I. FRENCH—no answer. Was seen in Grand Forks last summer where she was working for her father in the Equitable of New York office.

BLANCHE E. GANS—too busy administering progressive education in the primary grades at Roslyn, Long Island, N. Y., and going to hops at West Point to fill in a card. Lives in Manhattan Island with her sister along about 106th street West.

MARY GERALDINE GIBBENS—never did send in a card to set straight this rumor about whether or not she and Maine Schaefer have middle-aisled it. At any rate, friends declare they're engaged. Gerry was at the University for rush week this year, but is employed in Washington, D. C. in a government setup.

C. HARTLEY GLYER—is a senior in Northwestern Medical School at Chicago.

ADDISON D. GODDARD—no answer. A week or so was trying to decide whether to spend the winter in Grand Forks or Miami. At one time during the fall said he was serving as organizer for the American Federation of Labor—but that was a couple of months ago.

HOWARD A. GOLDAMMER—works for the county welfare board and was married recently, they say. He must have kept his card.

CHARLES M. GRAHAM—gives his address as 939 North LaSalle street, Chicago, while interning at Henrotin Hospital.

GORDON F. GRAHAM—too busy holding down the night city editor's desk at The Grand Forks Herald to bother with trifles like the news letter. Time out only for dinners and "love at first sight." Still single, Gordon?

JOHN H. GRAHAM—entered the UND school of medicine this fall after teaching for a couple of years. Resides at 1632 Belmont Road.

VERNON M. GRIFFIN—among the missing cards. Someone says he is interning in a hospital in Portland, Ore. Verification is lacking.

EDWARD S. HAGERT—is engineering some place in the south. Mail may be sent in care of the highway department, Brookhaven, Miss.

EDWARD X. HALLENBERG—works in the industrial relations department, transformer division for Westinghouse. Married Ellen Brager, UND, June 25, 1937. Address is 131 North Water, Shuron, Pa.

WALTER N. HANSON — entered the medical school at Temple University, Philadelphia, this fall.

STANLEY A. HENDRICKSON — works for the Forx Finance Company and resides at 515 Eighth avenue South, Grand Forks.

D. JOSEPH HENNESSY—no answer, but readers of The Grand Forks Herald know that this second lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps married Jeannette Phillips, UND, in Grand Forks last summer. Reside some place in California.

ALFRED J. HENNINGS—card returned from 1906 Cliton avenue, Minneapolis. Law school classmates report that Doc is still in Minneapolis as a salesman and that he is married.

CLYDE F. HERREID—works for the Grand Forks county welfare board and lives at 1106 Walnut, Grand Forks. Clyde gives foundation to the reports concerning Howard A. Goldhammer. He writes that Howard is also employed by the welfare board and married Enid Metcalf of Lakota August 21, 1938.

LOREN K. HOFF—manages a hardware business in Grand Rapids, Minn.

ROBERT J. HOSKINS—is down in the hillbilly country as staff engineer for the Tennessee Eastman Corporation at Kingsport, Tenn. Married Dorothea Sylvester, UND, Jan. 2, 1935. One child.

COLBURN HVIDSTON, Jr.—scored the new letter card again, but probably a newly-wed can be excused. He married Marguerite Lyons last summer.

LESTER JACOBS—no card, but Gordon Boyd and Lloyd Braff provided the information that he is in Chicago.

LYDA F. JOHNSTON—teaches in Roosevelt School in Grand Forks.

RUSSELL R. JOHNSTONE—was elected justice of the peace in Grand Forks county in November. Lists his occupation as "lawyer."

KATHRYN JONES VINCENT—is doing social service work for the state of California, while her husband, Jack Vincent, NDAC and Stanford University, is a geologist. The wedding was Sept. 15, 1936 and their address is Route 1, Box 182, Brooksfield, Calif. Thanks for the card.

JAMES W. KENNELLY—as deputy commissioner of insurance in North Dakota, headquarters at 419 Seventh street, Bismarck.

THEODORE F. KESSEL—is a lawyer at Kulm, N. D. Married Esther Stephens March 20, 1936.

ALLAN J. KING—is a salesman with headquarters at 201 Builders Exchange Building, Duluth, Minn.

MARY E. KIRK—lives at 303 North Second street, East Grand Forks, Minn., and is director of physical education in the Parochial schools of Grand Forks.

ROBERT A. KRATT—is a public accountant in Minneapolis. Lives at 2441 Girard avenue South, Minneapolis.

WILLIAM A. KUNKEL—helps his father with the Ford business in Carrington, N. D. Points out that Gordon Graham is "understudying" Al Austin, also UND alum and also of The Herald staff.

ROLLIN A. LAGER—is still in Milwaukee working for the Vilter Manufacturing Company. His present position is draftsman. Rollin says he's not married, but volunteers the information that he is engaged to Lorraine L. Nys of Green Bay, Wis. Your kind words regarding the class letter certainly were appreciated.

ELEANOR LANGER — teaches science and home economics in Sherman, S. D.

HELEN LEIGH BUNAS—listed as Mrs. Arthur J. Bunas.

FLORENCE McCUTCCHAN SAVILLE—was married to Lee J. Saville, Valley City Teachers college and UND, June 5, 1938. They reside at 620 North Sixth street and Lee is employed in the offices of the Great Northern railroad. She adds that Cordelia Stayner is married and lives in Streeter.

LINCOLN W. MacMILLAN—failed to send a card with the information that he married Alice Olson, UND, in the summer of 1937. At last reports he was still employed by Jewel Tea in Rochester, N. Y.

MINARD McCREA — is a science instructor in Carrington, N. D.

CHARLES E. MAGNER—is interning in St. Mary's hospital, Duluth, Minn.

RALPH MOE—no answer. Not even to reveal the name of the girl he married in Missouri, Iowa or some place last year.

Dr. Beck Co-Authors New Book

Dr. Richard Beck, professor of Scandinavian languages and literatures at the University, is the co-author of a new book, "The History of Scandinavian Literature," which was published in September by the Dial Press of New York City. The book is a pioneer work in the sense that it is the first one in the English language surveying completely in one volume the literatures of the Scandinavian countries and Finland.

The book is the result of collaboration between several specialists in the field of Scandinavian languages and literatures, with Dr. Beck as one of the main contributors. He is the author of some 100 pages or about one third of the work.

Besides expanding the section on modern Norwegian literature, he wrote the sections on Norwegian-American, Icelandic, Icelandic-American and Finnish literatures, and compiled the corresponding bibliographies. He also assisted with the preparations of the sections on Swedish and Danish literatures. His sections on modern Icelandic and modern Finnish literature are considered the most complete yet to appear in English.

General editor of the volume is Dr. Frederika Blankner, Western Reserve university, Cleveland, Ohio, and principal contributors, besides Dr. Beck, are Dr. Adolph B. Benson, Yale university; Dr. Axel J. Uppvall, University of Pennsylvania; Dr. Einar Haugen, University of Wisconsin, and George Strandvold, associate editor of the Norwegian weekly "Decorah-Posten," Decorah, Iowa.

This is Dr. Beck's fourth book since he came to the University in the fall of 1929. He is also the author of numerous articles, reviews and poems in American, Icelandic, Norwegian-American and Icelandic-American publications. During the current year alone he has published a score of articles and book-reviews on Scandinavian subjects including several in the following national publications: "The Journal of English and Germanic Philology," "Scandinavian Studies and Notes," "The Survey Graphic" and "The American-Scandinavian Review."

Two of Dr. Beck's original poems, "Lincoln in Marble" and "The Pioneer's Field," have been selected for this year's edition of the Mitre Press Anthology, published in London, England, and circulating throughout the English-speaking world. The second one of these poems appeared in "The Biographical Dictionary of Contemporary Poets," a New York publication, and will be reprinted in "The Caravan of Verse," also published in New York.

In recognition of his work in the field of Scandinavian literature and culture Dr. Beck has recently been elected an honorary member of the following organizations: The Leif Erikson Association of South Dakota, The National Tronderlag of America, The National Snaasalag of America, The Nordlandslag of America, and the Nordvestre Gudbrandsdalslag.

Also largely because of his prominence in the Scandinavian field he was this year included in the "Who's Who in America."

The February issue of The Alumni Review will be published Feb. 15.

BUSINESS REVIEW

GRAND FORKS TRANSPORTATION CO.

The Grand Forks Transportation company, founded in 1904, had as its expressed purpose a connecting link between the University and downtown Grand Forks and to this day more business on this line than on any of its six bus lines.

Feeling the need for a connecting link between the Sioux institution and the city, a group of professors and business men founded the Grand Forks Transit company, consisting of one street car line out to the University. Headed by Webster Merrifield, then president of the University, the group included R. B. Griffith, E. J. Lander, O. S. Hanson, D. H. Beecher and Dean E. F. Chandler.

The company was reorganized in 1908 under the name of the Grand Forks Street Railway company, and within a few years had expanded to such an extent that they were operating three main street car lines with one auxiliary track to the Fair Grounds.

But now the street car is history and has found other uses. When a full bus schedule was initiated in 1934 and the name changed to the Grand Forks Transportation company, these old cars became anything from farmers bunk houses to beer parlors; from living quarters to chicken houses.

Now, owning 13 modern busses and expecting a new one any day, the company covers the city with six bus lines which average 1500 miles a day. Some idea of the service rendered can be gained from a few vital statistics: each bus averages about 175 miles a day or 50,000 miles a year. During the busy winter season, 27 men are carried on the payroll. They have the most modern of garages on N. 5th st. where the busses are stored and repaired. They charter busses to any part of the city. The lines run so that nearly all parts of the city are not farther than two blocks from a line.

The company has always been tied up with the University and everybody on the board of directors has continued this tieup, either through having attended the University or having their children attend the institution.

Its present board consists of N. G. Benner, Myron Bacon, E. F. Chandler, Paul Griffith, O. S. Hanson, D. R. Jenkins, J. P. Kennedy, E. J. Lander, M. K. Lander, E. O. Odegard and D. C. Smith.

RED RIVER VALLEY BRICKS

From the Great Lakes to Havre, Montana; from Winnipeg to Brandon and from Canada to Iowa, the Red River Valley bricks made here in Grand Forks go into buildings of every size and description.

Founded in 1882 and said to be the original industry in North Dakota, the Red River Valley Brick Corporation was the first brick plant in the state and now, in 1938, is the only one of its kind in the state, manufacturing common bricks.

Consolidation of five Grand Forks brick yards into one company saw the birth of this corporation under the management of A. I. Hunter, John and James Dinnie, Mike Murphy, John P. Kennedy and W. P. Elsip.

During the brick making season, which is only during the summer months in this northern location, the company employs between 60 and 65 men and produces annually a total of five million bricks. This type of brick can only be made during the summer months because an open air drying system is used. Clay for the product is obtained from an open pit across from the state mill and directly north of the brick yards.

As in most Grand Forks business ventures, the corporation draws upon graduates and former students of the University for membership on its board of directors. Included on the board are the following persons who have been affiliated with our school at one time or other: Arthur S. Dinnie, Mrs. Louise Franklin (Louise Ryan), Charles Ryan, Jr., Mrs. W. D. Fee, Mrs. S. D. McKinnon, Mrs. Ray Stinson, Mrs. C. L. Van Alstine, Vivian Dinnie Danford and Alice Hunter.
