SIGMA DELTA CHI presents

the 1951 Flickertail Follies
In Retrospect . . .

Let's go back through Flickertail Follies' 26 years tonight and review a few sidelights since the show's idea was first made known Feb. 25, 1926.

Follies was born when Roy French, then heading UND's journalism department, and undergrads Armin F. Rohde and Charles Evans saw a University of Indiana variety show while attending a national Sigma Delta Chi convention at Indianapolis. They decided to try a show here, got approval and called fraternities, sororities, hall and organizations to dream up acts on the aforementioned date.

So much for sedate history. Since then, Follies has produced extreme triumph, humor and anguish as only college events can. It's been a success and, once or twice a flop. It's been nationally publicized and locally praised and criticized.

Chief criticism of the last two years is that the show has been just too dog-gone long. Those of you who used a program like this to fan away heat during the last hours and hours of the '49 and '50 shows will no doubt agree. But it's happened before. In 1939 a gentleman was shown his seat at 8 p.m. and thereupon went quickly to sleep . . . "I slept four hours," said he, "and when I awoke the darn thing was still on . . ." So if you're the dozing kind and that day at the office was rough or the trip here tiring, let's review another incident or so before slumber sets in.

What kind of a seat are you in? Did you have any trouble finding it or did you get in on a mix-up? Back in the middle thirties when E. A. Fladland was Grand Forks mayor, an usher moved him four times during a ticket mixup. Likewise in the same decade, a student usher moved University President and Mrs. West down to their seats before the entire audience. However, the doorman had sent them down the wrong aisle. The aisle was jammed preventing retreat and leaving the good president and an embarrassed usher staging an unscheduled act. Yes, seats were hard to get then too.

Speaking of seats, your chair here was worth 75 cents or reserved for one dollar in 1937. And if you came late, were you turned away or forced to stand? No, rush seats were available for 50 cents. Better yet, in 1926 members of participating acts came around to your home and sold tickets. They got prizes and you didn't have to look at an auditorium floor plan to pick a seat.

Well sir, all infants grow up. Nowadays French's, Rohde's and Evans' child is too big to carry from door to door. But, anyway, Follies is always fun. Even now as color and melody fill this auditorium and you glue your eyes to the stage or repeat the gentleman's 1939 performance, anxious players stand ready at the left stage entrance waiting for the time when their act will take the stage and perspiring stagehands are moving scenery in the lower auditorium preparing for an act 30 minutes from now. All are ready for the old college try.

Therein lies the final tale. Once the college try failed. In 1939 amused stage hands watched an act manager running amuck with a pair of red panties trying to find what girl in the act was on stage without them. She had only to watch until the first kick of the chorus to so determine—one girl didn't kick.

Wonder if the gentleman who went to sleep saw that?
