UE PAUSE reflectively at Christmas time to recount the blessings that have come to our University . . . your Alma Mater . . . and to join in spirit with all our alumni and friends in a Yuletide of mutual thanksgiving.

In the post-war years, the University of North Dakota has found itself with a larger student body than ever in its history served by a highly skilled, superb, and growing faculty. Our legislature has provided means to proceed with an excellent building program to facilitate the increased demands for more research and the finest in educational opportunities for our students.

The perils that confronted us seven Christmases ago have been faced and liquidated. Many of our alumni gave their lives that this free and joyous Christmas might be possible today. They will be permanently enshrined in the new Memorial Student Union building. Through the years, this building will grow in tradition and in the affection of each generation of students.

With all our blessings in the material things; many of these blessings made possible by you; we realize the challenge and the opportunity which we have here in your Alma Mater to be of infinitely greater service to all mankind; thus assuring happier Christmases the world over in the years to come.

A Joyous Christmas and a
Happy, Prosperous, New Year
1948 - 49

Watch UND-Montana Game

of the Belgian mission of the peace commission.

After the war, he returned to the University in 1919 as assistant professor in the college of engineering, becoming a full professor in ceramics engineering in 1933.

He was a member of Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity, Sigma Xi, Sigma Tau, American Ceramics Society, and the American Institute of Mining Engineers.

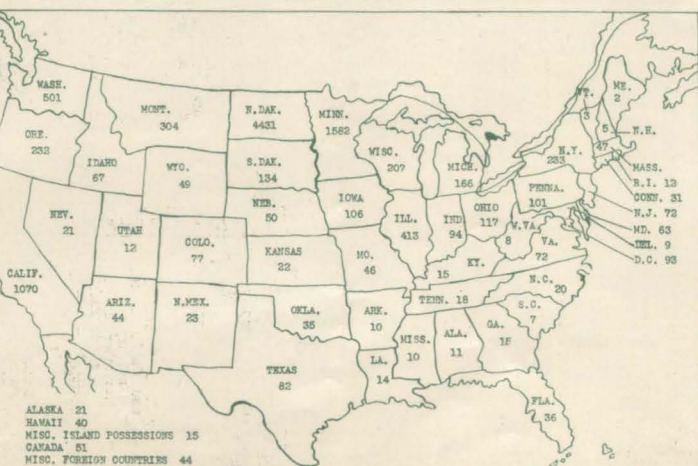

He was married in 1921 to Pauline Serunggaard of Devils Lake. A brother, Ernest, died several years ago. Besides Mrs. Budge, he is survived by five sisters.

Journalism Group Wins Top Honors

The University of North Dakota chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, won a rotating plaque for best serving the profession during the past year at the national convention of Sigma Delta Chi in Milwaukee.

The UND chapter placed first in the classification among 49 undergraduate organizations. The chapter held a special remembrance service for members who died during the year. Among those honored was the late Mark Forkner, formerly a member of the North Dakota professional chapter and publisher of the Cavalier County Republican.

THE UNIVERSITY of North Dakota's ALUMNI REVIEW is sent to about 11,500 graduates and former students 10 times each year. This map, prepared by the Alumni Office for the Christmas, 1948, edition, shows the distribution by states. The figures were compiled and totaled from the mailing list of the REVIEW.
