CONCERNING ACADEMIC COSTUMES

Academic costumes are related to two garments, a type of robe and a hood or head covering, worn in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries for warmth in unheated buildings. Special costumes to distinguish academic persons were first used in the fourteenth century at Oxford and Cambridge. Differences among such costumes came to symbolize two things: an academic degree and the institution which awarded it.

Academic garb has been worn in the United States since colonial times. In 1895 an Intercollegiate Code was adopted to encourage standard designs and usage. This Code was reviewed by a special committee of the American Council on Education in 1932 and again in 1960 when minor revisions were made.

An academic costume consists of three items: the gown, the hood, and the Oxford cap or mortar board. Gowns are easily distinguished by their sleeves. Bachelors' gowns have long, pointed sleeves. Sleeves of a master's gown are oblong panels reaching nearly to the hem of the gown. Each sleeve has a small arc cut out near the bottom, and a slit at the elbow through which the wearer extends an arm. A doctor's gown has full and bellshaped sleeves which carry three horizontal bars; it also has a velvet panel extending around the neck and down to the front of the hem. The velvet trim is usually black, but may be of the color associated with the degree.

Hoods for bachelors and masters are similar. The former are shorter and are trimmed with a narrower velvet band than the latter. Hoods for bachelors degrees are not normally used. A doctor's hood is four feet long, has a broad, rounded base, and is trimmed with a five-inch velvet border. The color of the trim of a hood identifies the wearer's degree; that of the lining, the institution which conferred the degree. Hoods given by the University of North Dakota are lined in pink with a green chevron.

The cap is essentially the same for all degrees, except that doctors and university and college presidents may wear a gold tassel.

Colors of tassels associated with various degrees now used at the University of North Dakota are as follows:

College of Arts and Sciences	white
College of Business and Public Administration	(drab (subdued orange))
Center for Teaching and Learning	blue
School of Engineering and Mines	orange
College of Fine Arts	russet brown
College for Human Resources Development	silver
School of Law	purple
School of Medicine	green
College of Nursing	apricot
Graduate School	black

Presiding Officer: Thomas J. Clifford

Kent H. Siemers, Grand Marshal

Muriel Roley, University Hostess

AMERICA THE BEAUTIFUL

O Beautiful for spacious skies	America! America!
For amber waves of grain,	God shed His grace on thee,
For purple mountain majesties	And crown thy good with brotherhood
Above the fruited plain.	From sea to shining sea.

ALMA MATER

Hail to thee, O Alma Mater!	Home of lofty thought and learning,
Hail to thee with heart and tongue!	Beacon o'er our western land,
Pride we feel and love yet greater,	Shrine whence still the ever burning
While we raise our grateful song.	Torch is passed from hand to hand.

The Benediction

FOUR-YEAR HONORS PROGRAM

Richard Hampsten, Honors Coordinator

The following students have met the objectives of the University of North Dakotas' four-year HONOR'S PROGRAM, a program designed to broaden and enrich the undergraduate curriculum. They have passed sophomore and senior comprehensive written and oral examinations and have been certified for graduation by the Honors Committee of the University. A substantial segment of their University training has been pursued in honor courses, tutorials and colloquia, and they have done independent research in their major fields of interest.

Janice Marie Fetsch, Langdon

Douglas Craig Loup, Riverdale

SENIOR HONORS

The following senior students of high ability, having completed independent research in their major fields of study, and successfully defended their research papers in comprehensive oral examinations, are being graduated WITH HONORS in their major fields.
