New Dates Announced For Reunion

Dear Alums:

Lloyd Stone has charted his tenth consecutive UND Reunion at Camelback Inn from Dec. 6 to 14.

This promises to be the biggest and most successful of these interesting affairs and we are telling you about the meeting now with the hope that you can be present. Many Nodaks, recognizing the value of a good vacation, are attending the Reunion and taking their vacation on these dates instead of during the regular summer months.

There are a lot of dividends in such a procedure. In the first place Camelback is recognized by the many guests who come here from every state in the Union as one of the world's most interesting resorts.

All the wonderful facilities, which have attracted the cream of the nation's families, are offered to the UND visitors at a rate of $13.50 per person for two persons in a twin-bedded room with bath. This fee also includes a cocktail party and considerable entertainment.

In recent Reunions we have had Alums from as many as 14 states at the meeting and it is expected that approximately 20 states will be represented next December.

Alums come from almost every class and everyone gets acquainted and has such a good time that all age groups enjoy the affair.

Camelback has been greatly enlarged since the earliest reunions and last summer spent $200,000 on improvements and modernization. This summer a further program of $100,000 will be carried out to further modernize the plant.

The Paradise Valley Country Club next to the Inn now offers unusual golfing facilities.

With two other men, William Budge donated the land on which the University was established and was instrumental in an 1893 fund drive which kept the institution from closing when the Legislators made no appropriation for its operation.

Alexander Budge is pictured in a March issue of Life Magazine as one of the business leaders of the nation's newest state. He is shown with two other men, the caption stating that the trio "help run three of the five main trading companies in Hawaii."

Anniversary Items Reordered

The demand of University alumni and friends has led to the reordering of additional 75th Anniversary items, according to Milton F. Wennerstrom, manager of the University Bookstore.

Original stocks of Varsity Bards records and Wedgewood Queensware plates were completely sold. The records and plates are among several special items which were ordered for the anniversary year by the Bookstore, in cooperation with several University departments.

Recently repressed and now in stock again is "Varsity Bards in Concert," an album containing 14 selections by the Bards, popular UND male chorus. The 33 and one-third rpm long-play record features on one side numbers directed by James T. Fudge, and on the other side, selections directed by Mrs. Carol M. Humpstone.

The anniversary plates featured two University views. Proving most popular was Old Main Building in Boston Red color, which has been reordered. Delivery is expected in August. Still in stock are plates featuring the Memorial Student Union, produced in Still Green color.

The Bookstore is also the sales and distribution agency for "University of the Northern Plains," anniversary history written by Dr. Louis G. Geiger and printed by the University Press.

The Anniversary heirloom chair, featuring the University of North Dakota Seal on the back, has gone to a number of points, including France.
