Plan Study Of Alaskan Glacier

A team of University of North Dakota professors and students will conduct research this summer on an Alaskan glacier to learn more about North Dakota glacial deposits.

Headed by Dr. Wilson M. Laird, chairman of the geology department and state geologist, they expect to complete a two-year study started last year on a $38,000 grant from the National Science Foundation.

The camp will be on the Mountain River Glacier, 50 miles east of the Alaskan coastline.

The purpose is to find out what happened in North Dakota 10,000 years ago when the Pleistocene glacier covered the northern and eastern portions of the state.

When they return, Laird and his crew will prepare their results of the study for publication in scientific journals.

Name Graduates to Medical Association

University of North Dakota graduates were elected to offices at the meeting of the Minnesota State Medical Association held recently in Duluth, Minn.

Dr. John P. Medelman, class of 1927, was named president-elect. He resides in St. Paul.

Dr. George Sather of Foss-ton, Minn., was named district counselor. Dr. Sather is from the class of 1934.

Named first vice president of the women's auxiliary was Mrs. Philip Arzt of St. Paul. She is the wife of Dr. Philip Arzt, class of 1937.

BOOK REVIEWED

A new book by Dorothy Thompkins Revell, head dietician of the Fargo Clinic, is reviewed in the April 29 issue of the Medical Tribune. A 70-page volume, the book is titled "Dietary Control of Hypercholesterolemia."

Simenstad Heads Alumni

NEW BLOOD: Three new directors and a new president were elected at the annual business meeting of the UND Alumni Board of Directors on June 1. Left to right are Paul Bolton, new board member; J. Lloyd Stone, executive vice president who was re-elected; Dr. Otis Simenstad, new president replacing Robert Eddy, and Mark Foss, new board member. (Evan Lips, another new board member, was not present at the time of picture taking.)

1963 Commencement Rated As One of the "Greatest"

Commencement 1963 is now in the memory books, but the events of the annual graduation occasion make it one of the greatest in UND annals.

Activities got under way with the dedication and concert of the Twamley Hall Carillon, with John Klein, noted carillonneur from Pennsylvania, playing dedication concerts. Official dedication of Twamley Hall, new UND administration building, was highlighted by an address by Dr. O. Meredith Wilson, president of the University of Minnesota. Dr. Wilson was awarded the Doctor of Laws honorary degree by Dr. George W. Starcher, UND president, at the Twamley Hall dedication.

Music for the Twamley Hall dedication was provided by the UND band, while the cornerstone ceremony was conducted by E. A. Haakenson, Grand Master of North Dakota Masons. Special guests introduced at the dedication included Senator George Saumur of Grand Forks, Mrs. Mildred Johnson, president of the State Board of Higher Education, Paul Grosz, architect, and Lawrence Carlson of the Dean Witcher construction firm.

Brief remarks were made by Miss Edna Twamley, Rock Tavern, N. Y., who is the daughter of James Twamley, for whom the building was named. Following the dedication, several hundred alumni, faculty members, graduating seniors and friends gathered at the Student Union for the Twamley-Alumni banquet.

A special symposium was held on June 1 at the new UND Burtness Theatre, where a panel discussed the past, present and future of UND.

Lips, Bolton Foss Named Directors

A trio of outstanding UND alumni were elected to three year terms as new members on the Alumni Association Board of Directors at the annual business session held during the Alumni-Twamley Banquet on May 31.

New board members are Evan Lips, mayor of Bismarck; Mark Foss, engineer in Fargo, and Paul Bolton of Los Angeles, Calif., who is in the banking field. Re-elected for three year terms were Herbert Treichler, Edward J. Franta, and E. E. Simmons.

TRICHLER HONORED

Herbert Treichler, a member of the UND Alumni Board of Directors, was given a special citation at the Twamley-Alumni Banquet during the Commencement Weekend at UND.

Treichler of Richmond, Texas, was honored for his leadership as National Chairman of the UND Development Fund during the period of 1961-63.

Retiring from the board this year were Judge Edward Devitt, Dr. O. W. Johnson, and Andrew L. Freeman. Special recognition was paid them at the Alumni Banquet and the retiring board members were presented with plaques and gavels for their years of service.

Summer Session Registration Set at U

Registration for the summer session at UND will start on June 17, with about 1800 students expected to enroll. The session runs for eight weeks, with courses offered in 35 departments plus graduate and undergraduate credit in workshops, conferences and institutes.

University of North Dakota ALUMNI REVIEW

The University of North Dakota Alumni Review is published monthly, except July and August, by the University of North Dakota, Grand Forks, N. Dak., for alumni and former students of the University of North Dakota in the interests of the University. Second-class postage paid at Grand Forks, N. D. Change of address and return requested forms should be sent to the University of North Dakota Alumni Review, Grand Forks, N. Dak.

BREAK GROUND FOR UNION ADDITION

Ground breaking ceremonies on May 29 signified the start of construction on a $1.2 million addition to the Memorial Student Union at UND. The new addition will be built onto the east side of the present structure and will be financed through self-liquidating bonds.

YEARBOOK DEDICATED TO FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION

The 1963 Dacotah, UND yearbook, is dedicated to "Freedom of Expression", with a foreword that says "the maintenance of such a principle is necessary for the perpetuation of academic freedom".

34 H S MATH STUDENTS SELECTED FOR UND STUDY

Thirty-four high school students have been selected from a field of more than 500 applicants to attend the 5th annual Pre-Collegiate Science Mathematics program at UND this summer. Applicants this year were double the number of last year.

GRANT LECTURE FUND

The American Cynamid Co. of Stamford, Conn., has contributed $350 to the George A. Abbott Lectureship in Chemistry Fund. The contributions will be used to bring outstanding scientists to the University for lectureships in the field of chemistry.

For Academic Achievement

500 UND Students Gain Honors

Nearly 500 UND students were recognized for high scholarship and academic achievement at the 27th Annual Honors Day during April in ceremonies held at the Fieldhouse.

Among the award winners were:

The Gansl Cup, for the highest ranking senior in the College of Science, Literature and Arts to Frederick Carroll Johnson, Grand Forks.

The Mortar Board Plaque, for the highest ranking freshman women, to Marcia K. Moen, Mayville, and Judy L. Prosser, Grand Forks.

The Mortar Board Scholarship Award, to Carrie E. Flaagan, Reynolds.

The Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship, for the highest ranking male senior in the College of Business and Public Administration, to Eldon H. Reinke, Center.

The Pi Lambda Theta (Tau Chapter) Award, for the highest ranking senior woman in the College of Education, to Nancy Larson Lund, Kenmare.

The Pi Lambda Theta Alumnae Award, for the highest ranking junior woman in the College of Education, Lois M. Johnson, Grand Forks.

The Sigma Tau Medal, for the sophomore in engineering with the highest freshman average, to Russell Long, Bowman.

Hamilton Watch Award, for the senior in the college of Engineering demonstrating successful combination of proficiency in major field with achievements in the social sciences or humanities, to David Lee Henderson (1962), Grand Forks.

The Charles E. Dahl Award in Law, awarded to a senior in the School of Law on the basis of scholarship, contribution to University life, and demonstrated capacity for constructive leadership, to Gene C. Grindeland (1962), Fargo.

The University of North Dakota Law School Foundation Scholarship, to the highest ranking members of the first and second year classes, to James R. Eissenger (1962), Wishek, and Orlin W. Backes (1962), Glenburn.

The Robert D. Campbell Medal and Prize, for the ranking student in the School of Medicine, Donald A. Wells, Langdon.

The Mrs. Bertha Beck Memorial Award in Nursing, for the junior in the College of Nursing having the highest over-all average, to Laurel Jean Oslund, Fargo.

The Haskins and Sells Foundation Award, for the outstanding senior in accounting to Gerald Hoesl, Rolla.

The Paul E. Barr Memorial Award in Art, the ranking senior in art, to Robert Allan Bykonen, Rolla.

The Lawrence Hansen Award in Secondary Education, for seniors in secondary education, to Larry Irwin, Max, and Nancy Larson Lund, Kenmare.

Awards in Chemistry:
Highest ranking students by class—

Graduate Award—Hung S. Lee, Hong Kong, China.

E. D. Coon Award (Senior award)—Richard W. Blaine, Grand Forks.

The Universal Oil Products Scholarship Award, for the highest ranking senior in chemical engineering, to Thomas Charles Owens, Devils Lake.

The Civil Engineering Prize, for the outstanding senior in civil engineering, to George Arthur Plaas III, Grand Forks.

The Ormiston Kermott Memorial Prize, awarded to a junior in electrical engineering on the basis of scholarship, character and usefulness in University activities, to Gary L. Mattson, Mayville.

The William J. Hutcheson Memorial Prizes, awarded for technical papers outstanding in style, content, readability and originality, to Donn N. Peterson, Kempton, first; David J. Krile, Pisek, second; and William L. Reller, Grand Forks, third.

The Helen J. Sullivan Memorial Award, for the freshman woman demonstrating the greatest improvement in English, to Kay Dianne Ashenbrenner, Grafton.

The Phi Upsilon Omicron Award, for the highest ranking sophomore woman in home economics, to Susan Sweet, Pembina.

The Silver Hammer Award, for the highest ranking graduating senior in industrial arts, to George M. Benjaminson, Edinburg.

The Mahowald Industrial Arts Award, to the highest ranking junior in industrial arts, to Richard A. Nygard, Grafton.

Larry Schlasinger Cup Award, for the ranking senior in journalism, John McDonald, Bismarck.

Sigma Delta Chi Outstanding Senior Award, for the ranking senior in journalism, John McDonald, Bismarck.

Sigma Delta Chi Scholarship Key Award, a national award made to seniors in journalism in highest ten per cent of their graduating class, to John McDonald, Bismarck, and Lois Reiser, Grand Forks.

The Murray Award, for a graduating law student excelling in legal writing and draftsmanship, to Ken M. Brown (1962), Mayville.

The Nels G. Johnson Award, for the ranking law student in uniform commercial code, to John F. Stone, Grand Forks.

The Olger B. Burtness Scholarship, for the highest ranking second year law student in constitutional law, to John F. Stone (1962), Grand Forks.

It's October 10-11-12-13

1963 Homecoming to Be Fabulous

Plans for the 1963 Homecoming at UND are the most extensive in history. A gala series of events are planned for four big days—October 10-11-12-13. We have asked "Snowball", the voice of Camelback Inn, to tell us his version of the plans and preparations.

SNOWBALL IN NORTH DAKOTA? It sounds most appropriate, and we apologize to the original "Snowball" for stealing a bit of his style in "tooting his horn" about a new and temporary location for Camelback Inn.

For four days next fall—October 10, 11, 12 and 13—Camelback Inn and many of its inmates will establish a new location on the campus of the University of North Dakota.

This is an earth-shaking endeavor, and many committees have already spent many hours of preparation so that the true "flavor" of Camelback Inn and its Alumni Reunion will be retained. For the hundreds of UNDers who have visited the "original" Camelback Inn, you'll find a few things different in North Dakota. The swaying palm trees are replaced by stately elm trees, the swimming pool is inside, not outside, and there just ain't no orange trees.

But, the friendly spirit of hospitality is burning brightly, and for four glorious days, "Time will stand still" for the Innmates and Alumni at the UND Homecoming of 1963. Frankly, there's so much going on that "time" may be out of breath trying to keep up, but it will be an experience to be long remembered.

Lloyd "Fruit" Nelson is the general chairman of this gala affair, and has already made a flying trip to help the committee get their plans made in North Dakota. There is so much interest in the southwestern part of the United States that a special charter plane (a jet borrowed from the Los Angeles Dodgers) will bring a group of some 80-odd Sioux back to their old stamping grounds.

Of course, there are hundreds of other UND Alumni who have attended Camelback reunions from all over the country, and they will be coming back to the campus by various means of transportation—even burro-back!

Then, add the thousands of UND friends, students and other alumni who will be in Grand Forks for the October homecoming week-end, and you'll find it the biggest extravaganza ever held in Sioux history.

Of course, you'll need an agenda to keep posted on these Homecoming plans, so here is Snowball's Bugle Blast:

Thursday, October 10, 1963:
5:30 p.m. — Camelback plane arrives at Grand Forks Airport (maybe the new airport if it's in operation by then) and a giant welcoming committee will greet the suntanned contingent, sparked by a Nodak pep band. Greyhound buses will await the passengers, and they will be whisked to their hotels to unpack, limber up their sea-legs, and freshen up a bit. Don't worry about your luggage... it will be handled by a special bus and brought right to your hotel room. All you have to carry is your high spirits!

7:00 p.m.—And, now things really get rolling! Chartered buses will depart from the Dacotah Hotel and head out to the Grand Forks Country Club. There'll be a social hour, a genuine North Dakota smorgasbord, and dancing to some Sioux "missing links." You can dress informally, be comfortable and start to renew those friendships made over the years. The Country Club will be appropriately decorated.

12:00 Midnight—Buses leave the Country Club to return you to your hotel, and you can snooze away to get set for the day to follow.

Friday, October 11: Breakfast on your own! Early risers can find some fine eating spots in the hotels and vicinity, and maybe some of you lazy birds might have breakfast in bed. But, don't dawdle around—there's much to see and do!

10:00 a.m.—Chartered buses will leave the Dacotah Hotel for a tour of Greater Grand Forks, the sprawling new airbase, and the UND campus. Greater Grand Forks has made some amazing strides in the past few years, and although many of the old landmarks are still around, you'll find it a very metropolitan city. You just won't believe it 'til you see it!

12:15 p.m.—Camelback luncheon at the Student Union on the UND campus. You'll find the food is delicious, even by Camelback standards, and you'll find the Student Union is a most modern facility.

1:15 p.m.—Need a little exercise? Get back in the swing of your college days, with an afternoon dance party to a Dixieland Band, as we did years ago at UND. Even if you're a bit crotchity, you'll still enjoy watching!

2:00 p.m.—Conducted tours of the U Campus and "Open House." The campus is really something to view, and for those who have not returned in many moons, it will be like your first glimpse of Camelback Inn—slightly sensational!

3:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m.—One of the secrets of the Camelback reunions has been plenty of time to relax and rest. So this is our "Siesta" time, when you can return to your hotel for a snooze. Or, if you're still full of pep and vigor, you can go exploring, or just watch the coeds strolling down the boulevard.

7:00 p.m. — It's time for Camelback Cocktails, dinner and dancing at the "Camelback" Armory (this is the brand new Armory-Auditorium just a few blocks from Hotel corner). Buses will leave the hotel at 7:00 p.m. and take you to the Armory. Jack Stewart and his family will be properly recognized and honored at this event. Up until now, we haven't said much about Jack Stewart and his wife, Louise. And, for those who have ever been to the original Camelback Inn, there is no point in telling you about these two wonderful people. They are the greatest!

12:00 Midnight—Buses will return all passengers to their hotels.

Saturday, October 12: The Big Day! First, the parade will start at 9:00 a.m. and route itself through the downtown area. Homecoming parades are a thrill to see—bigger and better every year, with bands, floats, pretty girls, queens, and color galore! It will take about two hours to view it, so put on some comfortable warm duds and your walking shoes.

11:15 a.m. to 1:15 p.m.—Social Hour and smorgasbord at the fabulous Westward Ho Motel. Buses will pick up their passengers at the hotel corner at 11:00 a.m. You'll appreciate a little "anti-freeze" after the crisp morning air, and we guarantee that the food will be enjoyable. Be sure to wear your sweaters and crisp-weather clothing to be all set for the game!

1:30 p.m. — Buses leave Westward Ho for the UND Stadium, where the opening kick-off is at 2:00 p.m. Arrangements will have been made with you for your reserved tickets, and a special section is all set for Camelback Innmates. Marv Helling, the Sioux football coach, has a mighty band of warriors all set to bring us victory! Following the Sioux victory, there'll be "open houses" at UND in the fraternity, sorority and residence halls, and you're invited to choose your spot and talk over the "post-mortem" of the game.

5:00 p.m.—Buses will leave the campus to return you to your hotel. Take off your shoes and girdle and just relax!

7:00 p.m.—All University-Alumni smorgasbord, featuring a social hour and smorgasbord and dancing. It will be held at the Camelback Armory again, and buses will take you from your hotel and return you at midnight. Of course, if you don't want to retire at that hour, you'll find plenty going on around town.

Sunday, October 13: (Sob... the last day!) 9:15 a.m.—Greyhound buses will be loaded with your baggage for transportation to the airport. However, you'll board buses

IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. A. C. Baker, '97, passed away in Seattle, Wash., on August 30, 1962. She was the widow of Dr. A. C. Baker, who practiced in Seattle until his death in 1927.

Roy Johnson died May 4, 1963, in Fargo. He was a former legislator and speaker of the North Dakota House of Representatives. In 1938 he was appointed to the State Board of Higher Education and served continuously until 1954, part of the time as president.

Russell Ellingson, who graduated from the University of North Dakota with a major in chemistry, died May 3, 1963 in Iowa City, Iowa.

William Keeley died May 5, 1963, in Deer Lodge, Mont., at the age of 78. He was a former state senator in Montana and a member of the North Dakota and Montana Bar Associations.

James C. Porter, who earned a degree in electrical engineering from the University of North Dakota, died April 26, 1963, in Boscobel, Wis. He had been an attorney there since 1944.

Larry J. Arnold, a student at the University of North Dakota, died May 19, 1963, in Grand Forks from injuries received in a motor scooter accident.

James E. Gronna, '01, '05, was pronounced dead at the scene after his car crashed into a tree in Grand Forks last month. He apparently suffered a heart attack. Gronna served as North Dakota secretary of state for three terms in the 1930s. He was a charter member of Sigma Chi social fraternity at the University.

Clarence L. Benter passed away June 16, 1962 at the age of 34 in Citrus Heights, Calif. A native of Crosby, N. D., Benter received a degree with high honors in industrial engineering from UND in 1950. At the time of his death, he was Chief of the Industrial Engineering division in the maintenance directorate of McClellan Air Force Base in Sacramento. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, mother, five sisters and one brother.

Ray V. Tilly, '24, Hemet, Calif., died March 31, 1963.

Elmer O. Hanson, who received his law degree in 1931 from the University of North Dakota, died May 19, 1963, in Grand Forks. He became associated with radio station KFJM and subsequently became an announcer, program director and manager of radio stations KILO and KNOX in Grand Forks.

He was a member of the Alpha Tau Omega, social fraternity, and Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity.

Mrs. W. Anstett (Angela) Thacker, '31, died last month in Grand Forks after a long illness. She was affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority.

Charles A. Loughlin died on May 19th. A former University of North Dakota student he was affiliated with Phi Delta Theta Fraternity.

Robert Cassel, '30, died in February, 1963, at Baltimore, Md., where he was an attorney for the federal government. A native of Ellendale, N.D., he earned his law degree at the University of North Dakota where he was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity and elected to the Order of the Coif.

News Notes

John M. Noah, '52, is United States Probation Officer, District of North Dakota, and is residing in Fargo. John was one of the former Sioux hockey greats.

Howard R. Wold represented the University of North Dakota at the 78th Annual Commencement and Presidential Inauguration of General Beadle State Teachers College, Madison, S. D. The event was held on May 29.

Paul Yoder, '30, who is president of the American Band Masters Association, will be guest conductor of the massed band at the 34th annual Chicagoland Music Festival. Yoder resides in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and will direct more than 1,000 players for the Festival, which is scheduled August 17 at Soldier's Field in Chicago. The festival will feature the Lawrence Welk show.

Margaret (Geisler) Zaderaka, '59, is a housewife at Max, N. D. She was married in 1962 to Eugene Zaderaka.

Eielson Fur Parka To Be Refurbished

A fur parka, once worn by one of the University of North Dakota's most famous graduates, is now undergoing a complete refurbishing, thanks to the efforts of the University chapter of Blue Key, honorary service fraternity.

The fur coat, on display on the main floor of Merrifield Hall, was presented to Blue Key by Colonel Carl Ben Eielson when he visited the University in 1929. This was only a short while after he had completed a tour of duty with Sir Hubert Wilkins in the far north and had flown over the North Pole.

The famed flier from Hatton, N. D., died less than a year later when his plane crashed in the north while he was on a mission of mercy. Press reports at the time said, "the finding of Eielson's body brought an end to the greatest manhunt in recent history."

Colonel Eielson graduated from UND in 1921 with a bachelor of arts degree and later attended law school in Wisconsin for a year. While at UND he was a Rhodes Scholar candidate and was active in debate.

Elder Lium, now dean of the College of Engineering at UND, was Eielson's roommate and fraternity brother.

A magazine supplement to the campus newspaper once paid tribute to Eielson's frontier courage, saying "Eielson, pilot of mail planes, the pioneer birdman of Alaska, the grim flyer who has met and conquered all obstacles in Arctic flights has been chosen as the man who will be in charge of the controls when he and Wilkins venture into the unknown for sight of land or sea."

The fur parka was made for the famed flier by an Eskimo woman and was used during the time he spent with Wilkins' expedition in the north. Instrumental in obtaining the parka for Blue Key was William Bek, who became Dean of Liberal Arts after the death of Dean Squires. Bek was also the man who helped found the Blue Key chapter at the University.

The work presently being done by members of Blue Key in connection with the parka involves cleaning and refinishing the inside of the trophy case, cleaning the parka and adding lighting to the case to provide illumination for the famed parka.

Blue Key officers stated that their endeavor will not only maintain the upkeep of the memento but display it more advantageously so that student, faculty and visitors to the University will know that this famed flier of the past is not forgotten by his alma mater.

Homecoming

directly for the Westward Ho Motel for the Silver Fizz hour and the farewell breakfast. You'll be tired, happy, and sad to leave the most glorious Homecoming in UND history.

11:00 a.m.—California plane takes off to the golden west, as those left behind wave a fond farewell.

So, that's the outline of the plans. There may be some revisions before the Homecoming Reunion rolls around, but don't worry . . . they'll be for even more fun and excitement. Frankly, we have some other special plans that are jelling, but we want to keep a few surprises to tease you.

If you've been undecided about attending the 1963 Homecoming Reunion, make up your mind right now to attend! We personally guarantee that it will go down in history as the best and greatest!

Yours,

Snowball

P.S.: Any questions? For further details and other tid-bits direct your inquiry to J. Lloyd Stone, University of North Dakota Alumni Office, Grand Forks, North Dakota.

James G. Movius joined the Naval Air Force in 1963, and gained his commission as ensign that year. He is currently engaged in flight training with the Naval Air Force and is located at NAAS Whiting Field, Milton, Fla.

Bookstore Head Takes Post In California

Milton F. Wennerstrom, manager of the University of North Dakota bookstore for 14 years, has announced his resignation. He has accepted the position of assistant manager of the Associated Student Store at the University of California, Davis, beginning in August.

The resignation was accepted "with reluctance" by UND President George W. Starcher.

When Wennerstrom was named manager in 1949, the Bookstore was in cramped quarters in Old Main. Two years later, it was moved to Budge Hall as the demand for more space continued. In the fall of 1964, the Bookstore is scheduled to move into the Memorial Student Union.

Born in Hope, N. D., Wennerstrom received a B.S.C. degree from UND in 1941. He taught business mathematics, accounting and business law at Burdet College, Boston, Mass., from 1947-49 and accounting at UND in 1941. He served in the Navy from 1942-46 and was a commissioned officer the final two years of his active service.

Wennerstrom, his wife and three children will reside in Davis where Mrs. Wennerstrom also will teach junior high school mathematics.

Engineers Win Scholarships

Seven UND engineering students have won scholarships for the coming academic year at the University. Winners are Richard L. Dorr, Grand Forks, Western Electric; Charles Hammond, Mandan and Darryl Anderson, Rock Creek, Minn., Dow Chemical; Gary Mattson, Mayville, Nodak Rural Electric Cooperative; Edward Kist, Temvik, General Electric; Daniel Gallagher, Watford City and Robert E. Walters, St. Thomas, Universal Oil Products.

Gale McNamara of Voltaire received a wrist watch from the Hamilton Watch Co. for outstanding humanistic and professional contributions as an undergraduate.

Win Dr. Arneberg Awards

UND Coeds to Study Abroad

Recipients of John G. Arneberg awards chat with Mrs. Arneberg, wife of the late Grand Forks physician who set up a $250,000 fund to provide scholarships and awards to students showing excellence in the study of German, French or Norwegian. Standing are Mary Tschider, Bismarck, who will spend the summer studying at Neu Chatel, Switzerland, and Janice Olson, Pleasant Lake, who will attend the German Summer School of the Pacific, located on the campus of Reed College, Portland, Ore. Seated from left to right are Mary Blaskowsky, Gackle, who will spend the summer in Vienna; Kathleen Clower, Fargo, who will attend McGill University, Montreal, Que., Can., summer school; Mrs. Arneberg; Sara Ledahl, Williston, who will spend the 1963-64 academic year at the University of Munich, Germany; and Sheryll Peterson, East Grand Forks, Minn., who will spend the year at the University of Grenoble, France.

Myhra to Lead Fargo Ex-Sioux

Nearly 150 alumni attended the spring reunion meeting in Fargo May 17, with Steve Myhra elected new president of the Fargo area alumni, succeeding Lowell Lundberg.

Other new officers are Al Simpson, vice president, and Kitty Sathre, secretary. Tom Wold, '62, acted as master of ceremonies for the meeting.

In attendance from the University were Marv Helling, football coach; Jerry Olson, assistant football coach; Bill

Fitch, basketball coach; and J. Lloyd Stone, executive vice president of the Alumni Association.

Following the program, a dance was held to wind up the evening.

Much credit for the large turnout must go to the newly elected president, Steve Myhra, who spearheaded the arrangements. Myhra was one of the greatest football stars in University gridiron history, and performed as a professional for many seasons with the Baltimore Colts.

Myhra is the new state agent for the John Hancock Insurance Company, with offices in the Black Building in Fargo. His enthusiasm and vigor that he displayed as an athlete are still in his loyalty to UND, and as one person at the banquet remarked, "his support of the University is a wonderful thing to behold!"

Here, There, Everywhere with UND Alumni

Charles Nelson, '62, received an A average in four courses for his first semester in civil engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He was recently assigned to head a research laboratory testing the dynamic response of reinforced concrete arches under a $73,100 government contract.

J. Emmet Judge has joined the Westinghouse Electric Corporation as vice president of marketing services. He was formerly with the Ford Motor Company. Another UND graduate, John A. Hutcheson, is also with Westinghouse as vice president, technical operations and planning; atomic, defense and space.

Frederick H. C. Schultz, '42, is joining the staff of Washington State University, Department of Physics to teach engineering physics and do research. He was formerly on the staff of Montana State College and for the past two years had headed the physics department at Minot State Teachers College.

E. Maine Shafer, '35, has been appointed assistant director of agencies for the American Life & Casualty Insurance Co. of Fargo. The past year he has been regional field superintendent for the Northern Founders Insurance Co. of Bismarck and previously was executive vice president of the Surety Mutual Life & Casualty Insurance Co. of Fargo. He is a member and past president of the Rotary Club and currently is president of the North Dakota Golf Association.

Herbert Clarence Wagner, '59, is employed as an electrical engineer by the Litton Systems, Inc., in Beverly Hills, Calif. He lives at 16022 Jersey St., Granada Hills, Calif.

Minot Attorney Heads Law School Solicitation

A Minot attorney has been named 1963 director of solicitations for the second annual fund drive of the University of North Dakota Law School Foundation. He is Kenneth G. Pringle of the firm of Pringle, Herigstad, Meschke, Loder, Mahoney and Purdy. The announcement was made by John Crabb, president of the Law School Foundation and associate professor of law.

The Law School Foundation is a charitable foundation incorporated to establish funds for student scholarships, loan funds, legal institutes, bringing in noted speakers, campus research projects, and special library acquisitions for which legislative appropriations are not available.

Frank F. Jestrab, Williston, was 1962 chairman. The initial project of the foundation was the presentation of a portrait of former Dean O. H. Thormodsgard to the law school and awarding two full tuition scholarships to the highest ranking students in the first and second year classes. Recipients for the year are James Eissinger, Wishek, and Lee Hamilton, Fargo.

The Foundation also established a loan fund in excess of $25,000 under an arrangement with the North Dakota Bankers Association and the United Students Aids of Indianapolis, Ind. The Law Foundation guarantees these loans.

The Law School Foundation plans to have a sustaining membership campaign to build up funds over a period of years. Pringle said that all attorneys and judges within the state will be personally contacted and all Alumni of the UND Law School living outside the state will be contacted by mail or in person.

Paul Benson, Grand Forks, is mail campaign chairman. County chairmen are Orrin B. Lovell, Beach, Golden Valley and Billings counties; Floyd B. Sperry and Jerry Vandewalle, Bismarck, Burleigh county; A. S. Benson, Bottineau, Bottineau and Renville counties; Bert L. Wilson, Jr., Bowbells, Burke and Mountrail counties; Paul L. The committee consists of all board directors, Paul Matthews, Jerome Barron and Robert Beck of the UND Law School faculty; attorneys J. F. X. Conmy and Floyd B. Sper-

UND Placement Director Wins Top Recognition

Ronald Betts, director of student placement for the North Dakota State Employment Service at the University of North Dakota, has received national recognition for his work at the University.

Betts is the recipient of the 1963 second place award of merit given annually by the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security.

He was cited for an "outstanding job in a field which is unique among state employment agencies in this country." The UND placement center is one of only 19 in the country which uses the state employment service for professional placement of graduates.

Betts received the award on the merit of the work he did in centralizing the placement office on campus. He also developed the use of UND credential forms for the placement of college graduates in specialized areas.

He is a 1959 graduate of the University.

● Commencement

The past was discussed by Dr. Stanley Kneeshaw, San Jose, California, and J. B. Johnson, Shorthills, New Jersey, both of the class of 1913.

The University of Today was discussed by State Representative Gordon Aamoth of Fargo, and State Senator George Longmire, class of 1947. The University of the future was outlined by Jack Traynor, Devils Lake Attorney, class of 1949, and President George W. Starcher.

Honor Dr. Min Hin Li

Another highlight of the 1963 commencement weekend was a special tea in honor of Dr. Min Hin Li of Honolulu. An alumnus of UND, Dr. Li has helped build up the Asiatic collection of the Chester Fritz Library. A 1920 graduate of UND, Dr. Li was named honorary life chairman of the UND Alumni Association of Hawaii, and has been given a distinguished service citation by the UND Alumni Association.

About 640 degrees were awarded at the Commencement Ceremony. S. L. A. Marshall, military historian and writer for the Detroit news, made the commencement address.
