Matters of Consequence

Time for travel, research, reflection, and writing is prized by academics. The university community values its faculty by awarding a sabbatical once every seven years to scholars who propose projects deemed worthy of pursuit beyond the physical boundaries of the campus.

I am grateful to the College of Education and Human Development and the Office of Instructional Development at the University of North Dakota for support and funding of my sabbatical in the coming academic year (Fall 1998-Spring 1999). I will use my time, wisely I hope, in pursuit of the roots of liberatory education in feminism, spirituality, and psychology.

In my absence, Teaching & Learning will be edited by Kathleen Gershman, my current co-editor and colleague. Bev Solseng will continue her work as copy editor from her post at the Bureau of Educational Services. Manuscript review is completed by our newly selected Manuscript Review Board whose names are printed below.

Lastly, we are pleased to welcome back George Hein to active status as our Book Review Editor. George was absent following his retirement from Leslie College while he explored England and pursued other projects. Welcome home!
