Nomadic Alumni Return from Orient

The year of 1964 will remain one of very fond memories for 77 UND Alumni and friends who shared a 24-day tour of excitement, sight seeing and adventure as members of the UND Orient Tour.

It would take an entire issue of the ALUMNI REVIEW to share all the experiences of this long journey which started in Seattle on February 26, with a "bon voyage" party.

Seventy-seven UNDers gathered from the USA and Canada in Seattle, and the "bon voyage" party was a perfect send-off, with a crowd of 160 gathered to wish them a pleasant trip. Richard Rouzie, a brother of Grace Stone, is an engineer with the Boeing Company, and he briefed the travelers on the Boeing 707 plane that would soon start them on their Far Eastern adventure.

The first leg of the journey brought the group to Anchorage, and then on to Tokyo, with arrival in the early hours of the morning. The home base for the group was the famous Okura Hotel in Tokyo, considered one of the finest hotels in the world. Accommodations were superb, and the staff was extremely friendly, courteous and helpful.

Tour Tokyo

During the days in Tokyo, the UND Tour Group saw many wonders of this largest city in the world. There were exciting sights like the Imperial Palace Plaza, Meiji Shrine Outer Gardens, the Diet Building, Tokyo University, Asakusa Amusement Center with the popular Kannon Temple, and Nihonbashi, the heart of Tokyo's Shopping District.

The group took the electric express to visit Nikko, where some of the most beautiful scenery in Japan was viewed, including the Tochogu Shrine, the famed Yomeimon Gate, Lake Chuzenji, Kannon Temple and Kegon Falls.

It was quite evident that the people of Japan are eagerly awaiting the Olympics that will start next fall, and are already making extensive preparations including the building of a Mono-rail and other attractions for the thousands that are expected to visit the Olympics from all over the world.

From Tokyo, the Nomadic Nodaks visited Fuji-Hakone National Park, Atami, Yokohama, Kyoto, and Nara Osaka.

Ambassador Hosts Group

It was with regrets that the group said "farewell" to Japan, with the friendly atmosphere making everyone feel as truly honored guests. The U.S. Ambassador, Mr. Reischauer, invited the entire group of 77 to his home, and gave a "briefing" on many of the things that have happened in Japan since World War II.

(Upon returning home, the tour group learned of the stabbing of Ambassador Reischauer, and were saddened to hear of the incident, but pleased that his injury was not extremely serious).

Leaving Japan, the flying Sioux group went by jet to Hong Kong, the international cross-roads of the world, with a blending of oriental and western cultures. As in Tokyo, there were extensive tours of the city and its sights, high lighted with a trip to the border of Red China, where they viewed this Communist land.

NEWS NOTES

Dr. Robert G. McCurdy, '38, a native of Bismarck, has been elected chief of pediatrics at Monmouth Medical Center in New Jersey. He has been on the hospital staff since 1945, and resides in Atlantic Highlands, New Jersey. Dr. McCurdy was graduated from UND, and obtained his medical degree from Temple University.

Dr. Robert C. Gaebel, BA, '50, M.S. '51, has joined the Fargo-Moorhead Psychiatric Center in Fargo. He is the son of Dr. D. C. Gaebel of Bismarck, and was in general practice at Casselton, N. Dak., prior to his psychiatric training at the Veteran's Administration in Topeka. He interned at Deaconess Hospital in Grand Forks, and served his residency at the Bismarck Hospital.

Dave O'Brien '55, who was coach at St. Mary's high school in Bismarck for 17 years, has opened a real estate agency in that city. He began his coaching career as assistant to Evan Lips, head football coach who is now Mayor of Bismarck. O'Brien is married, and has seven children.

Dr. Delano M. Pfeifle, '56, a native of Wishek, has joined the staff of the Dakota Clinic in Fargo in the department of internal medicine. He has completed special training in the Mayo Clinic, and trained in the latest methods of cancer therapy.

Report From the Campus

By J. Lloyd Stone

Upcoming Events — It will be a busy spring on the UND campus for the final eight weeks of the second semester. Some of the events will include Mothers Day Weekend, April 11-12; Fine Arts Festival, April 17-May 16; Honors Day Convocation, April 21; Northern Interscholastic Press Assn., Convention, April 27-28; Baccalaureate and Commencement, May 31. We hope you will be able to return to the campus and enjoy any or all of these events.

Establish Historical Society—More than 40 persons from North Dakota, Minnesota and Manitoba attended an organizational meeting of the Red River Historical Society. Glenn Smith of the UND faculty is treasurer of the new group, which is organized to collect and preserve historical data on the Red River Valley.

Visiting Scholar Program—Morris Bishop, who is a poet, biographer and humorist, will be on the UND Campus on April 24, as part of the Visiting Scholar Program of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic society. Bishop, who retired in 1960 from Cornell University, will give a public lecture in Abbott Hall auditorium, and meet informally with students and faculty.

Plan New Fraternity House—Lambda Chi Alpha will be building a new fraternity house this year in the 500 block on Harvard Street, with completion slated by December. The University purchased the fraternity's present building on Oxford street, with the site to be used for a dormitory.

Chemists Probe Research Areas—UND chemists are exploring the frontiers of science at a rate unexcelled in the department history. With a record enrollment of 900 undergraduate and 20 graduate students, the Chemistry department boasts of a faculty made up entirely of Ph.D.'s. Perhaps one of the best barometers is the number of papers submitted for publication in professional journals. In the past year, 18 scientific papers contributed by UND chemistry faculty have been published or accepted for publication by reputable scientific journals. During the past year, research grants awarded UND chemists totaled about $100,000.

Among the Faculty—Robert A. Nelson, chairman of the UND art department, has received a Tamarind Lithography Workshop grant for a six-weeks seminar this summer in Indianapolis. The purpose of the workshop is to bring some of the nation's outstanding painters, printmakers and sculptors together where there can be a "collision between European techniques and American inventiveness". Nelson has had his work exhibited in New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, Denver, Washington, D. C., and Minneapolis, as well as in Spain and Canada.

Dr. Paul B. Kannowski chairman of the UND biology department, was in Washington, D. C., recently where he visited with officials of the National Science Foundation regarding teaching and research projects in biology at UND.

J. Donald Henderson, director of the Academic Year Institute for High School Teachers of Science and Mathematics at UND, attended the annual meeting of the Science and Mathematics association in Chicago.

Miss Valborg Oslund, assistant professor of English at UND, has been invited to serve on Governor William Guy's commission on the "Status of Women". The Governor recommended that the commission should help in focusing attention on women's achievements and problems.

Wins in National Competition

James W. Clarke of Ellendale, a senior music major at UND, has been accorded an Honorable Mention Award in the 1964-65 Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation competition. Clarke was nominated by UND faculty members and screened carefully by regional and national selection committees of college professors, deans and presidents.

To Travel Abroad

Three UND students have been chosen as community ambassadors to travel abroad this summer as part of the Experiment in International Living. They are Richard Barton, Valley City; Barbara Robertson, Grand Forks, and Patricia Gronowski, Mandan.

Honor UND Professors—O. M. Hager, state director of Business and Distributive Education and associate professor at UND, received a plaque at the associations recent conference in Williston. He was recognized for his leadership in the Distributive Education field. Others honored at the conference were Leonard Havig, Williston school superintendent, Thomas J. Clifford, dean of the UND College of Business and Public Administration, and Ben G. Gustafson, director of the UND General Extension Division.

NEWS NOTES

Leslie N. Strand, '38, has moved to St. Louis Park, a Minneapolis suburb, where he will be associated with a real estate firm. Strand earned a degree in journalism and English from UND in 1938, and after service in World War II, he was employed on several newspapers in North Dakota. Since 1954, Strand served as editor-publisher of the Farmers Press in Benson County, North Dakota.

John Von Rueden, '55, who was a 311 pound football tackle at UND, is chairman of Region 8 of the National Young Republican Federation for North Dakota Young Republicans. He resides in Fargo where he is a representative for a pharmaceutical corporation.

Gary Schreiner, '63, is associated with his father, Garland Schreiner, in the operation of Schreiners, Inc., successor to the Vinje Department Store in Bottineau. Gary is a native of Bottineau and a business graduate from UND.

Margery Franta, a 1964 graduate from UND, has accepted a position in the law offices of Whittlesey, Pancratz and Wold in Fargo. She is the daughter of Edward J. Franta of Langdon, a member of the UND Alumni Board of Directors.

Gene Grindeland, '62, who has a Juris Doctor degree from UND, is now associated with George A. Sorlie in the practice of law in Hillsboro. The newly-formed firm is called Sorlie and Grindeland.

Davidson Named Bank Director

B. Fred Davidson, '27, Corporate Administrator for Gamble-Skogmo, Inc., was elected a Director of the Third Northwestern National Bank, according to Earl Patch, Bank President.

Davidson, who has been with Gamble-Skogmo for thirty-five years, has served the company in various executive capacities. He was born in Milton, N. Dakota. Davidson began his career with Gambles shortly after his graduation from the University of North Dakota in 1927 with a degree in Business Administration.

He is Vice President, Treasurer and Director of Founders Incorporated; Secretary, Treasurer and Director of Filbert Corporation; a Director of Cussins & Fearn Co., Inc.; and Assistant Secretary and Director of Macleod's Limited, Gamble-Skogmo's subsidiary. He is Director of Marshall Wells of Canada; Stedman Bros., Ltd.; Wood Alexander in Canada, and serves on the board of a number of other Gamble affiliated companies. He also serves as a member of the B. C. Gamble Foundation, is Secretary, Treasurer and member of the Board of Trustees for the P. W. Skogmo Foundation, and Co-Trustee of the Gamble Skogmo Profit Sharing Trust.

Thomas J. Risan, '58 is now employed by the Dow Chemical Co., Rocky Flats Division near Denver, Colorado. The plant employs about 3,000 persons and is operated by Dow for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Carlton A. Pederson, '34, has received the Mead Johnson professorship award from the Mead Johnson & Co. Foundation. This 10-year grant from the foundation is a $5,000 a year annual award and is made to outstanding professors at schools of business. Pederson has been on the faculty of Stanford University since 1946, where he is associate dean of the Graduate School of business.

● Orient Tour

From Hong Kong, the UND Orient Tour started the long trip home, and basked for several days in the wonderful state of Hawaii. Dr. Min Hin Li and other Alumni of the Honolulu area entertained the visitors at many get-togethers, and it was there that we found hospitality at its finest.

All of the travelers were sad to see the 24 days of the tour end in Seattle, and they returned to their homes, bringing never-forgotten memories, sun-tans and experiences that will be unforgettable.

First Alumni Group

Mr. John Lacey, who is the U. S. Consulate General in Hong Kong, gave a briefing to the UND Tour Group, and stated that he thought this was the first university alumni group to ever visit the orient, and hoped that there would be other college and university alumni groups that would make similar tours. He stated that it would be a fine way to get better acquainted with the Orient and with their customs and people, and would do much to promote greater understanding.

Thomas E. Whelan, of St. Thomas, North Dakota, and former U. S. Ambassador to Nicaragua, was a tour member, and said as the journey ended, "I consider this to be an outstanding group of people and enjoyed being with them and in getting better acquainted. They have done much to spread good will for the University, for our state of North Dakota and the United States."

The tour was a financial success, and when all the bills are paid, the profits from the tour with contributions from the travel agents and tour members will result in a cash surplus of $3,000. This will allow the establishment of a UND Orient Scholarship Fund, keeping the memories of this trip alive for years to come.

Armin Rohde, past Alumni Association president, and Vaughan Champeau, Grand Forks Travel Agency director, were responsible for most of the planning of the trip. Both were presented with recognition plaques at the Alumni gathering in Honolulu for their fine efforts.

Previous UND Alumni promoted tours have been in Europe and Hawaii, and a growing interest may call for future alumni tours.

Allen Schatz, '64, who was graduated in January of this year from UND, has accepted a position with Haskins and Sell, an accounting firm located in Portland, Oregon.

Edwin P. Madson, '40, a native of Steele and a UND graduate, has been appointed comptroller of the General Fireproofing Co., in Youngstown, Ohio. A certified public accountant, he is married, has four children, and lives at Pepper Pike, Ohio. The General Fireproofing Co., is the nation's largest maker of office and institutional furniture.

Complete with Astronaut:

UND Engineers' Fair Scheduled May 8-9

The 1964 University of North Dakota Engineers Fair, featuring one of the nation's astronaut candidates and a variety of science exhibits will be May 8 and 9, announced Palmer J. Reiten, chairman of the UND mechanical engineering department.

Two addresses by Major Donald M. Sorlie, chief of Manned Spacecraft Operations Division, Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., will highlight the two days of exhibits, banquets, demonstrations and tours of the UND engineering laboratories and classrooms.

The purpose of the annual event is to acquaint the public with the field of engineering and to honor high aptitude engineering and science senior high school students who are contemplating an engineering or science career.

Exhibits will be in categories of professional engineering provided by industrial firms, top exhibits by North Dakota high school science students and displays built by the UND engineering departments.

This year's fair will be of special interest to high school students, said Reiten. Invitations are being extended to top high school science students in each county. They will receive recognition at a special banquet.

Sorlie will speak on the supersonic X-15 test plane at a Friday night banquet in the Student Union Ballroom. For a Saturday noon luncheon he will discuss "The Air Force Role in Current and Future Aerospace Testing." Both talks will include motion pictures.

Sorlie has a home in Fargo and is a graduate of North Dakota State University. He also is a graduate of the Aerospace Research Pilot School, Armed Forces Staff College and the Experimental Flight Test Pilot School.

During his career, Sorlie has logged some 5,000 flying hours with more than 2,200 in jet aircraft. His present job is the direction of 11 fighter test pilots.

He is married to the former Beatty M. Beaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley O. Beaton, Dunn Center, N. D. The Sorlies live at Edwards and have four sons.

Robert Arlen Bergquist, '60, received a Master of Arts degree in political science from the University of Michigan in June, 1961. At present he is in his third year of study at the Harvard Law School, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Gayle Bruhjell, '58, married George D. Clark in Phoenix in 1961. She is presently employed by Motorola Semiconductor Products Inc., as a copywriter in the Advertising Public Relations Department. They are residing in Scottsdale, Arizona, and have one daughter.
