ATTENTION . . .
MEMBERS OF CLASS
OF 1915

The class of 1915 will hold their 50-year class reunion at UND on April 22, 23, 24, 1965. This date is in connection with Mothers and Fathers Day on the campus, and will give the "old timers" an opportunity to visit buildings, classes and see the University in action. In past years, the "Old Timers' Reunion" has been scheduled during Commencement; the event has been re-scheduled so that the returning Class of 1915 will be able to view the University in full activity during the spring semester.

UND President Named to Head 1965 National Educator Council

RECEIVES SCIENCE GRANT

The University of North Dakota has received a grant of $260,200 from the National Science Foundation to conduct a 1965-66 Academic Year Institute in Broad Study of Science for Secondary School Teachers.

The grant will enable 40 selected high school science teachers to spend an entire year on the campus starting next year, in which they are provided an opportunity to improve their subject matter competence. This is the sixth grant received by UND for an Academic Year Institute for science teachers.

VIOLIN VETERAN IN ACTION AGAIN

John E. Howard, retired UND professor of music, who suffered a fractured hip in May, 1963, made his first appearance since that time when he played his violin and led a small orchestra at the annual Veterans Day dinner at East Grand Forks American Legion.

DR. GEORGE W. STARCHER

Dr. Starcher Elected to Important Post

Dr. George W. Starcher, president of UND, has been elected president of the Council of Presidents of the Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges.

Dr. Starcher replaces Dr. Paul Miller, president of the University of West Virginia. President D. W. Colvard of Kansas State University is the new secretary, replacing Dr. Starcher.

The council consists of 97 presidents from 97 state and land-grant institutions in 50 states and Puerto Rico. The council is a forum and workshop in which presidents exchange ideas, suggestions and queries.

The 97 members of the association enroll 27 per cent of all college and university students and 36 per cent of all graduate students in the nation. As a group, the 97 schools are the chief suppliers of the nation's intellectual talent, granting more than half of all Ph.D. degrees, educating more than half of all living Nobel Prize winners and just under half of all National Academy of Science members.

Dr. Starcher, UND's seventh president, is in his eleventh year at the helm of North Dakota's oldest and largest institution of higher education. Before beginning his UND duties July 1, 1954 he was dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Ohio University.

N. D. LEGISLATORS MEET AT U NOV. 27-28

The third Legislators School for North Dakota legislators and legislators-elect will be held on the University of North Dakota campus Nov. 27-28. State officials and college faculty members will provide legislators with current information on national, state and local interrelationships and basic techniques of legislation.

Sponsored by the University and the UND Bureau of Governmental Research, the School is supported by the Robert D. Campbell Foundation, set up by the First National Bank of Grand Forks in honor of the late Dr. Campbell. Dr. Henry Tomasek, chairman of the UND political science department, is chairman of program planning for the Legislators School.

Subjects to be considered include North Dakota tax problems, including a summary of major tax legislation to be introduced; budget; state governmental problems including apportionment and elementary, secondary and higher education, with a summary of major legislation concerning education.

UNIVERSITY HOLDS MEET ON AGING

The third annual Conference on Aging at UND Nov. 18-19 concerned management of homes for the aged and nursing homes. North Dakota has 82 such homes. Ben G. Gustafson, director of the UND General Extension Division, sponsored the conference. Others assisting in the presentation of the conference were the Governor's Citizens Committee on Aging and the College of Business and Public Administration at UND.

University Graduate Honored for Titan II Missile Work Achievement

PAUL LARSON

Paul Larson, '50, was recognized for his meritorious service and contributions to the United States Inter-Continental Ballistic Missile Program with the presentation last July of the Commander's Award.

Larson served as Program Manager of the Titan II Inertial Guidance system of the A. C. Spark Plug Division of the General Motors Corporation, where he directed the successful design of a complex malfunction isolation system that permitted rapid location and replacement of failed guidance components, without undue downtime to the weapon system.

UND GETS GE GRANT

UND was recently awarded a $2,500 Engineering Grant by the General Electric Foundation. Purpose of the grant is to help encourage and upgrade undergraduate instruction in engineering.

NEWS NOTES

Mary Ann Hunt Snow, '52, recently took over one of the leading roles in Broadway's currently most popular hit, "Hello Dolly." She appears in the chorus for the musical and understudies one of the leading roles. She has an extensive background of theatrical experience and has appeared in cities throughout America as well as in Europe.

Dr. Roberta C. Eikema, '59, is the student health physician at UND and also serves as part-time instructor in the UND School of Medicine. He replaces Dr. Eugene Carpenter, '36, who is now practicing in Valley City as student health physician.

John A. Goodes, '55, was recently appointed supervisor of Small Business Management Training for the province of Manitoba, with headquarters in Winnipeg.

Dr. Walter H. Moran, Jr., '52, is assistant professor at the West Virginia University School of Medicine and recently authored a chapter in a book "Research Methods in Surgery," a new textbook used as a guide for teaching ways to perform medical research. Dr. Moran has made important contributions to the nation's knowledge about hormone reactions as the result of surgical stress. His father was a professor in the UND Chemistry Department from 1930 to 1960.

Report From the Campus

By J. Lloyd Stone

Well, the 1964 edition of Homecoming is now in the memory pages, but it must be recorded as one of the finest. There was an excellent influx of alumni, and the events were well attended. Of course, the fact that we made it 12 victories in a row over the Bison added a little frosting to a most wonderful weekend.

Each year, Homecoming is growing in attendance, as more and more of our alumni find it possible to attend. Maybe next year you can join in the reunion—we guarantee that you will enjoy renewing friendships, and that you will marvel at the changes on the campus.

—UND—

The year of 1964 is speeding to a close, and the UND Development Fund office is a very busy place. The state chairmen are doing an excellent job in their areas, and our national chairman, Bill Micklin, is a dynamo of energy.

Bill stopped in our office yesterday and said: "I expect a big increase in alumni contributions during the next few weeks before the year ends. A Christmas Card to the Development Fund, with a check, will make it a happier future for our Alma Mater."

—UND—

There are several reunions scheduled this winter, and you'll find them listed on the back page. Check the areas—perhaps you can find one that is close to your home.

Of course, the one that tops them all will be in Camelback Inn this January 3-10. We expect well over 200 Alumni and friends to enjoy the hospitality of Jack Stewart at this fabulous center of fun and relaxation. Those who have attended these reunions in Phoenix in former years need no encouragement—they'll be returning. If you'd like a mid-winter break and a chance to enjoy some sun and relaxing after the holidays, you'll find it a real "bargain" to spend a few days at this fabulous reunion. Time is drawing short, so you should drop a note to Jack Stewart at Camelback Inn, Phoenix, and make your reservations.

ATTEND NURSING CONFERENCE

More than 75 persons attended a conference on associate degree programs in nursing at UND during November. The program is designed to prepare nurses for functioning in direct care of patients through two years of carefully controlled training.

—UND—

The final enrollment figures have been totaled for the first semester at UND, and the total is a record 5,726—an increase of 525 over last year's first semester.

The increase is more than anticipated, and will put some strain on the physical facilities and faculty.

—UND—

Campus Visitors: Sir Bernard Lovell, world famous scientist and director of Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory, was the speaker at our first convocation of the academic year. He spoke on "Life, Space and the Moon." Bernard S. Meyer, a justice of the New York State Supreme Court, spoke at a forum at the UND School of Law. His appearance was made possible by the S & H Foundation grant to the Law School to bring in prominent speakers for legal institutes.

—UND—

The third generation of Aloys Wartners of Harvey began training in law this fall when Aloys Wartner III was among 184 students admitted to the law school. His grandfather received his law degree at the University of Wisconsin in 1895, was president of the North Dakota Bar in 1938. Aloys Wartner II obtained his UND degree in 1934, and is

6 MORE NDEA FELLOWSHIPS AT UND

Six more National Defense Graduate Fellowships are available for study at UND next year, according to Dr. C. J. Hamre, dean of the UND Graduate School. Two are for study in biology and four in chemistry. They bring to 19 the number of NDEA fellowships for graduate study.

now state senator of the 33rd district. He is also a colonel in the Judge Advocate General's corps of the Army Reserves and a veteran of World War II and the Korean conflict.

Susan Sweet, a senior at UND and a native of Pembina, has been awarded the 1964 Hanson Honor Scholarship. The scholarship was established in 1961 by Lawrence W. Hanson, principal of Grand Forks Central High School, and is awarded to a senior student majoring in secondary education in the College of Education.

—UND—

For the past few years, we have had reunions during commencement week end for members of the classes of fifty years ago. This year, there has been a change made, so that the classes of 50 years ago—in this case, the class of 1915—can have their reunion when the University is in session.

The reunion will be held next spring on April 22, 23, 24. Many "old timers" had requested that their reunions be held while the UND was in full swing, and we believe this is a worthwhile change.

We hope you have a bountiful Thanksgiving, and that this has been a year of happiness for you and yours.

Saturday, May 15

GOTHENBURG - KARLSTAD.
Morning at disposal for shopping in Gothenburg. (Remember that Sweden's stainless steel and glassware are unsurpassed!) In the afternoon, go by private coach along lovely Lake Vanern to Karlstad, capital of the province of Varmland.

Sunday, May 16

"VARMLAND THE BEAUTI-FUL". For generations, Swedish writers have sung and celebrated the beauty of Varmland. From Karlstad we drive north to Rottneros Manor with its impressive sculpture park —expressing, to some extent, the romanticism with which the poetess Selma Lagerlof imbued the area. Near Rottneros a stop is made to see a unique memorial to emigrants from Varmland to America.

Lunch at Torsby. In the afternoon, continue to Oslo via Kongsvinger.

NORWAY

Monday, May 17

OSLO. The seventeenth of May is Norway's Constitution Day and is undoubtedly the most colorful and exciting day of the year in Norway. It is celebrated with song, music, fiags, national costumes and processions all over the country—and especially in Oslo! In the forenoon, watch the famous children's procession file past the Royal Palace greeted by the Royal Family! The sight-seeing in Oslo will also include the University, the Parliament, the Cathedral and the City Hall. Afternoon excursion to Bygdoy, visiting the Viking Ships, the Polar Ship Fram, and the Kon-Tiki. On the return trip to Oslo, visit the famous Vigeland Sculpture Park.

Tuesday, May 18

OSLO, FLAM. Forenoon at disposal in Oslo. Leave Oslo at 1:50 p.m. by rail for Flam.
From the train window one can enjoy an ever changing panorama of farms, forests, lakes, and mountains! Going westward, the railway climbs steadily, and at its highest point near Finse it is 4300 foot above the sea level. Change train at Myrdal to descend the spectacular Flam Valley to the Sogne Fjord. Arrive at Fretheim hotel about 8:53 p.m.

Wednesday, May 19

FLAM, AURLAND. Forenoon
at leisure by the Sogne Fjord, and the surrounding mountains. Afternoon excursion to Aurland and to a nearby mountain lookout point about 3000 foot above the sea level.
Unsurpassed view of the Sogne Fjord and the surrounding mountains.

Thursday, May 20

FLAM, STALHEIM, VOSS.
After breakfast, go by fjord steamer out the beautiful Sog-ne Fjord to Gudvangen. This is the longest and the deepest fjord in the world. The branch of it leading to Gudvangen is especially narrow and spectacular. From Gudvangen, continue by bus up a zig-zag road to the new Stalheim hotel. The is superb! Lunch. In the afternoon, continue to Voss, a charming town in the heart of a prosperous agricultural district.

Friday, May 21
HARANGER FJORD, BERGEN. Leave Voss in the morning and motor along the beautiful Hardanger Fjord to Norheimsund. During this apple- and cherry-blossom period the Hardanger Fjord area is especially spectacular. After lunch, continue to Bergen over the Tokajel Pass.

Saturday, May 22
BERGEN. Bergen is Norway's second largest city, scenically situated between seven mountains on the west coast. A forenoon sightseeing tour will include a visit to the Fish Market, the German Wharves (Tyskebryggen), St. Mary's Church, Troldhaugen — the home of the famous composer Edward Grieg, and Fantoft Stave Church—a unique wooden structure from the early Middle Ages. Lunch at Mt. Floyen, which is reached by a spectacular funicular railway. Magnificent view of the city, the surrounding country, and the sea. Afternoon at disposal in Bergen.

Sunday, May 23
BERGEN, STAVANGER, LONDON. Leave Bergen at 8:40 a.m. via SAS flight 545 for Stavanger. For about forty minutes you will enjoy a magnificent view of the southwestern Norwegian coast with its skerries, islands and fjords! At 9:20 a.m. the plane will touch down in Stavanger where you will change to SAS flight 513 for London.

ENGLAND

Arrive at London Airport at 10:40 a.m. Lunch at Windsor. In the afternoon, visit Windsor Castle—chief residence of the British sovereign, Eton College, and Stoke Poges—where Thomas Gray wrote his Elegy Written in Country Churchyard. Proceed to London hotel.

Monday, May 24
LONDON. Whole-day sight-seeing of the City of London and the West End, including the Changing of the Guard, Buckingham Palace, Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral and the Tower of London.

Notre Dame Cathedral, on the Ile de la Cite in the Seine, is the Cathedral church of Paris and the finest example of Gothic architecture in France. Building of it was begun on the site of a Roman temple in 1163 and completed in 1230. The twin spires originally intended are still incomplete. This photo was made from the garden of Et-Julien-le-Pauvre on the Left Bank. This latter church, one of the oldest in Paris, is often overlooked by tourists because of its more imposing neighbor.

Houses of Parliament—famous landmark in London. The clock is known as Big Ben, although this name is more properly given to the great bell which strikes the hours.
