Larimore Scholarship Established

A half-million dollar scholarship trust fund has been established at UND from the estate of Mrs. Elizabeth J. Larimore.

Mrs. Larimore, one of the earliest settlers in the Larimore, N. D. area, died in 1964. Mrs. Larimore's sister, Sadie Post Mathews, is a 1900 graduate of UND. Two grandsons of Mrs. Larimore, Jamison Larimore III and Robert Larimore, are also UND alumni.

The trust fund at UND will provide funds in perpetuity for scholarships. The first scholarships will be awarded for the second semester of the 1965-66 academic year. This is the second scholarship fund established at UND by Mrs. Larimore, who donated $25,000 in 1964 to provide an annual scholarship of $1,000 for the valedictorian of Larimore High School.

Another donation to UND from Mrs. Larimore is a collection of Chinese furniture and household items valued at several thousands of dollars. They are on display in Twamley Hall.

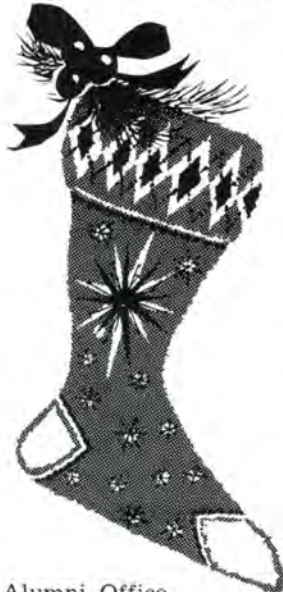

GUSTAFSON NAMED DEAN OF EXTENSION DIVISION

A busy man these days is Ben G. Gustafson, who was recently named Dean of the UND General Extension Division.

Last summer the State Board of Higher Education voted to make Ellendale College a UND extension center, and since August 1 the Ellendale school has been under the guidance of Dean Gustafson. In addition, he supervises the full time extension centers at Williston and the Grand Forks Air Force base.

Mrs. Willis A. Peterson, the former Marlene Mork, '58, of Petersburg has been named executive director of Pine to Prairie Girl Scout Council in Grand Forks.

UND Development Fund

"Show-You-Care Package"

This is the Christmas Season, and warm wishes go to you and yours from your UND Alumni Association. We hope that your Yuletide Stocking is filled to overflowing with happiness, good health and accomplishments. It's a perfect time to keep your "Alma Mater" in mind. Your contribution this December to the UND Development Fund will be one of the best gifts you can give!

There's Still Time to Hop Aboard

Camelback Bus Caravan to Depart December 30

Reservations are coming in briskly, but there is still time to join the UND Alumni Camelback Caravan which will leave Grand Forks by chartered bus Thursday, December 30.

The deluxe bus will take you from Grand Forks to Camelback Inn in Phoenix then return north via Las Vegas, Salt Lake City, Denver and other western cities, returning to UND January 16.

The cost per person of the 18-day round trip is $225. This includes transportation, enroute hotels and motels. (It does not include your costs at Camelback Inn which are $14.50 per day including meals, when two people occupy a twin-bedded room.)

If you would like to join this Camelback Caravan, the time to make your reservation is right now. The reservation deadline is December 10. Contact the UND Alumni Office in Grand Forks.

Nutrition Laboratory Set for UND

A new $633,000 nutrition research laboratory is expected to be constructed on the University of North Dakota campus following approval of $50,000 for planning of the facility.

This announcement was made during November by Senator Milton R. Young, who stated that the $633,000 laboratory will be approved by Congress as soon as all planning can be completed. He stated that the Senate-House Conference Committee on Agricultural appropriations, of which he is a member, had completed action on the measure.

Dr. W. D. Cornatzer, chairman of the UND biochemistry department, said that "the high quality of personnel and graduates in the Medical School was a major factor in the selection of UND as the site for the laboratory."

He further explained that "UND has a concentrated collection of excellent biochemists and physiologists and the quality of papers published has given the biochemistry department national recognition."

The laboratory, to be used for research on food and food products, will be staffed by Civil Service employees and UND graduate students.

NOTED SCULPTOR IS ON UND STAFF

Dr. Avard Fairbanks, one of America's most distinguished contemporary sculptors, is now sculptor in residence at UND. Dr. Fairbanks, whose works include the Hon. John Burke, North Dakota's representative in statutory hall, Washington, will lecture to UND students.

One of his tasks at UND will be to create and complete a four-sided statue which will convey the theme "Invitation to Learning" and which will be placed on the campus. Dr. Fairbanks is best noted for his works on Abraham Lincoln.

UND COEDS JOIN FRED WARING GROUP

Two former UND coeds from Bismarck are now touring the United States as members of Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians singing group. As there are only six girls in the Pennsylvanians, these UND gals make up one-third of the female contingent.

First to join the Waring organization was Miss Karen Kopseng, 'ex'64 who was accepted last summer. Miss Kopseng was Miss North Dakota in 1964 and invited her good friend, Miss Karen Klein of Bismarck, to try out for an opening with the vocal group.

Miss Klein was also accepted and is now traveling with Miss Kopseng on a 38-state, six-month tour. The two Karens are room-mates. Miss Klein earned her degree from UND last January in elementary education and was teaching in Minneapolis prior to being chosen for the musical group.

UND LIBRARY RECEIVES BOOK COLLECTION

The Chester Fritz Library at UND has received a valuable collection of 600 books, including first editions, from the estate of Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Stucke, formerly of Garrison.

Dr. Stucke, a state senator for many years, was instrumental in establishing the State Medical Center at UND in 1945. He and his wife were both medical doctors.

REPORT from the CAMPUS

By J. LLOYD STONE

The Alumni Board of Directors held its annual Minneapolis meeting with Northwestern National Bank officials on November 5. The following members were in attendance: Paul Bolton, Pompano Beach, Fla.; Evan Lips, Bismarck; Dean Thomas Clifford, UND; Mrs. Stella Mann, Bismarck; Dr. Otis Simenstad, Osceola, Wis.; B. Fred Davidson, Minneapolis; Gerald Skogley, UND; Gordon Caldis, Grand Forks; Mark Foss, Fargo; E. E. Simmons, Grand Forks; Robert Eddy, Jamestown; William Micklin, Grand Forks; Adrian McLellan, Great Falls, Mont.; William DePuy, Grafton; John Traynor, Devils Lake; J. Lloyd Stone, Grand Forks; and Alex Kraemer and Mr. Silverton, representing the Trust Department of the Northwestern National Bank, Minneapolis.

It is customary at these meetings to go over the portfolio of investments held by the University of North Dakota Development Fund. Several changes in the investment policy were recommended. Following the regular Board meeting a special committee headed by Mr. Bolton met with the Trust Officers of the Northwestern National Bank to consider future investments. Mr. Bolton pointed out the importance of investing in conservative stocks and bonds which will bring good returns for the Development Fund.

I might point out that the Alumni Association is fortunate to have a number of Board members who are authorities in the field of finance. Mr. Bolton, who is chairman of the Finance Committee, has had an abundance of experience with investments and in the field of finance and is the logical man to head up this important committee for the Alumni Association.

The Alumni Association, over the past years, has had a semiannual audit by a private accounting firm, the Brady Accounting Co. of Grand Forks. This report was given at our meeting in Minneapolis by Gerald Skogley, business manager of the University. The audit is carefully considered, and the budget is reviewed at each meeting.

Once every two years the University of North Dakota Alumni Advisory Committee meets at the University. I reported on plans for a meeting which will be scheduled for either March or April, 1966. Several changes in the membership of the Advisory Committee were recommended by Board Members.

Mr. Skogley reported on the progress of the Raymond Richards Golf Course, and stated that according to present plans, University students, faculty members, and alumni will be playing golf there in August or September of 1966.

—UND—

Sen. Wayne L. Morse (D-Cre.) was a recent visitor on our campus, opening a Conference on the Improvement of Undergraduate Education. In his speech he stated that, based on present statistics, if every person eligible to apply for college entrance in 1980 is to be admitted, the present colleges and universities must double, and 100 more, each with a capacity for 2000 students, must be established. The American public will have to face the problem of college expansion squarely, realistically, and soon, if we are to hold to our American dream of college education for the masses.

—UND—

I am happy to report that Dr. R. O. Goehl is recovering from injuries sustained in a car-truck collision late last summer. Mrs. Goehl was killed in the accident. Riney is a 1926 UND graduate and was a lecturer on the medical school faculty for many years. His two sons and their wives are also UND alumni. Riney, Jr. '57, is serving a residency at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore after returning earlier this year from an armed forces assignment in Germany. He is married to the former Joan Roller, '57, and they have two girls. Bob, '64, is in dental school in Chicago. He is married to the former Lois K. Weaver, ex'63, and they have one girl.

—UND—

Grace joins me in wishing all of you a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

Named to Federal Advisory Group

Dr. W. E. Cornatzer has been invited by U. S. Secretary of agriculture Orville L. Freeman to become a member of the human nutrition and consumer use advisory committee.

The committee is one of several authorized by Congress in 1946 and will review all the current research programs of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Dr. Cornatzer was chosen because of his extensive background of experience as a biochemist and nutritionist.

Receives Law Award

Glenn Dill of LaMoure, a 1965 graduate of the University of North Dakota Law School, is among about 90 outstanding law school graduates from throughout the nation who is a recipient of the Lawyers Title Awards Program. Dill is now practicing law at Kenmare. The award is given to a senior or graduate student of law who has achieved excellence in the field of real property law. Each of the 84 participating institutions determine the winner at their school.

New Footbridge To Span Coulee

A new footbridge will soon span the English Coulee which runs through the University of North Dakota campus. Since a condemned wooden structure—and all its 22 years of history—was pulled down in January of 1963, UND has been without a convenient coulee crossing.

The walkway is constructed of white pre-stressed concrete and a steel double-T beam, 72 feet long. It will rest in a saddle foundation on either side and have handrails and lights.

Dr. George W. Starcher, UND president, said it was not possible to have a new bridge until a few months ago when E. F. Fox of Billings, Mont., donated $15,000 to cover the construction cost. "The bridge, when finished, will be dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Fox, and a plaque will be placed on it to indicate this family's contribution to the campus," he said.

Two of the Fox children are UND alumni. Fox has been a farmer, a realtor, and now holds interests in oil properties.

Other alumni play a role in the bridge. Mark B. Foss of Foss, Engelstad, and Foss architects of Fargo contributed the architect's plans and engineering specifications for the structure. Construction for the bridge is by the Swingen Construction Co. The Swingens are also UND graduates and are erecting the footbridge at "near cost."

Secures Gifts

Ernest Tisdale, a 1937 graduate of UND with a major in geology, has been instrumental in arranging for four items of equipment and a money grant to the UND Geology Department.

The contributions come from the Humble Oil Co. of Houston, and the Cities Service Oil Co. of Bartlesville. The Humble grant is $2,500 in cash to be used as a travel fund to enable geology staff and students to attend scientific meetings.

The Cities Service gift consists of four mirror stereoscopes for three-dimensional study of aerial photographs.

IN MEMORIAM

Leslie F. Rice, ex'39, died at the age of 76 in Jamestown. Born in Kansas, he taught in Arkansas and Kansas before coming to North Dakota in 1926. He had a long career in education, then was employed by the North Dakota Hail Department.

Ralph J. Lynch, '16, died November 13 from injuries he received in a fall at his home early in November. Mr. Lynch attended schools in Grand Forks, entering UND in 1912 and was captain of the football team in 1915. He was very active in business and civic affairs in Grand Forks.

Mrs. Daniel Brennan (Eleanor Norton) died during November in Minneapolis, with interment at Devils Lake. A 1910 graduate of UND, Mrs. Brennan was married in 1913, and they moved to Bismarck where he was attorney general for the state of North Dakota. After his death in 1918, Mrs. Brennan taught in public schools for 33 years.

Hale O. Nelson, '13, died October 12, 1964, at McAllen, Tex. At the time of his death, he was a retired custom inspector, having been stationed in Montana, North Dakota, Texas and California. He was originally from Northwood, N. Dak.

UND Graduate Wins Recognition

Mrs. Jude Lamb of Grand Forks, a 1956 graduate of the University of North Dakota, has been named to the first edition of "Outstanding Young Women of America," a biographical publication sponsored by national women's organizations. Publication date for the book is February, 1966. A citation accompanying the notification of her selection said Mrs. Lamb had been chosen "In recognition of outstanding ability, accomplishments and service to her community, country and profession."

Employed by the North Dakota Division of Vocational Rehabilitation as a braille and communication instructor in special services for the blind and partially seeing, Mrs. Lamb is co-author of "Better Braille," a textbook describing Donald Barr, a former student at UND, passed away in May, 1965, at the age of 55 at Tipton, Ind.

Theodore O. Stutrud, '51, passed away September 17, 1965, at Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, Ohio, after a long illness. For the past 12 years, Mr. Stutrud had been an engineer for Frigidaire Corporation.
