UND to Begin New Humanities Course This Fall

A multi-department humanities program will be initiated by UND this fall to give freshmen a broad introduction to humanistic thought. The course will be a survey of the development of western culture, with a theme of individual freedom in a social order.

The eight-hour course will cover both semesters of the academic year, and will be required for most freshmen. The program will utilize one or more faculty members of history, philosophy, English literature, music, art and theatre arts.

Dr. Jackson Hershbell, presently an Episcopal minister at Hingham, Mass., will be co-ordinator of the humanities program, joining the UND faculty in June.

A major reason for formulation of the program was the recognition that the humanities background of entering students was less adequate than other areas. Despite general test scores higher than national averages, UND freshmen ranked low in humanities background.

SEMESTER ENROLLMENT SETS RECORD

Another record was broken this academic year at UND, with the enrollment for the second semester topping the 5800 mark. Last second semester total was 5,337. The first semester enrollment, which also set an all-time high, was 6,042. There are 3,907 men and 1,908 women in the second semester registration.

FREEDOM SHRINE

William L. Guy dedicated a Freedom Shrine at UND in February. The Shrine is a permanent exhibit of reproductions of historically famous American documents and is housed in the east basement corridor of the University Center.

Needs More Space

Medical School Grows Fast

Space at the University of North Dakota Medical School has become a prime factor.

This was part of a recent report by Dr. T. H. Harwood, dean of the school and director of the Medical Center, to the State Advisory Council at UND.

"It certainly is getting crowded at the Medical School," Dean Harwood said. "Eight years ago we had 54 people in this building. Today we have 120." The 120 includes faculty, staff, technicians, research people and graduate students but does not include 91 medical students. The Advisory Council, meeting in semi-annual session, heard this and other reports.

Telling of the growth in numbers and in impact of the Medical School, Dr. Harwood reviewed the strengths and the needs of the Medical Center. The number of graduates returning to the state to practice medicine is on the increase—both in numbers and percentages. One hundred ninety-five graduates now are practicing in the state. This compared with the last survey, which showed 135 UND Medical School graduates in the state.

Medical Center loans to medical and dental students now total $485,958.48, Dr. Harwood told the council. He pointed out that 17 doctors are practicing in small North Dakota towns—taking advantage of the forgiveness clause in Medical Center loans. This clause forgives loans to medical students if they return to the state and practice in small towns.

The Rehabilitation Unit is full. Its census showed, for example, that during one eight-day period in October a new high was reached five times. Today there are 34 in-patients at the unit. While the in-patient load has reached its capacity, the out-patient count has reflected a similar increase.

Sioux Cagers Repeat As Champions

FLASH FINAL — The Sioux basketball team proved its superiority over the N. D. State five by a score of 86-58 in the return game played at UND February 26. Meanwhile the Sioux hockey team tied the University of Minnesota for second place in the WCHA final standings by sizzling past Denver University 9-1 in the final home game of the regular season February 26. Denver had defeated the on-again, off-again Sioux skaters in the Friday contest 7-2 to keep UND from solo possession of the second spot in the standings.

The superb Sioux basketball team has won its second straight North Central Conference championship and at this writing has a 21-3 overall record. Coach Bill Fitch's Jolly Green Giants won the title by smashing arch rival N. D. State at Fargo, 81-62, to lock up the title.

The NCAA recently awarded the college division mid-west regional tournament to UND for the second straight year. Seldom does the NCAA award such events to a school two years in a row. UND won the regional event last season and advanced to the national finals at Evansville, Ind., where it placed third in an eight-team field. The dates of the regional are March 4-5.

UND captured the title in the North Central Conference holiday tournament, winning three games by margins of 20 points.

Two of the biggest victories since January 1 have been home court wins over powerful DePaul of Chicago, 85-74, and the great Phillips 66 Oilers, 77-71. The Oilers had a 29-1 record before they met the Sioux.

WORKERS LISTED FOR N. Y. DRIVE

William L. Boyce, state chairman for New York, has asked the following UND Alumni to assist with the Development Fund campaign in that area. The workers include Carl Altman, ex'62; Alice K. Banker, ex'64; Ada E. Bagley, '52; Mrs. Alton Blanchard (Glenna M. Travis, '23), John Boeing, ex'14; Elroy Bollinger, ex'27; Gwendolyn Nymers, Kenneth Crawford, ex'32; Agdar Flaten, '28; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hunger, '28 (Ruth Hancock, '27); Althea Markusen, '48; Donald Nydam, ex'23; Alice Olson, '64; Gilbert Record, '58, '60; George Kellogg, ex'64; William McBride Jr., ex'64; Laura Christianson, '32; and Edna Twamley.

VARSITY BARDS NAMED GOVERNOR'S CHORUS

For the third time in their 14-year history the Varsity Bards, male chorus at UND, has been honored by the governor of North Dakota. Gov. William L. Guy has selected the group as his official Governor's Chorus for 1966. Previously, Gov. John E. Davis designated the Bards as his official chorus in 1957, and Governor Guy named them the Governor's Ambassadors several years later.

The Bards began in 1952 when a small group of students formed a men's glee club under the direction of Professor Carol Miles Humpstone.

Former Sioux Gridders Picked for Key Posts at North Dakota State

Seventeen years ago two outstanding athletes were rivals for the quarterback job on the UND freshman football squad. One was Dick Koppenhaver from Grand Forks. The other was Ron Earhardt from Mandan.

Today these two men are newly appointed to key positions in the athletic department of North Dakota State at Fargo. Dr. Richard G. "Dick" Koppenhaver is the NDSU director of athletics and physical education, while Ronald P. "Ron" Earhardt is varsity football coach.

The appointments are novel in that both are North Dakota natives, and it is believed to be the first time that men born in the state have occupied two key athletic positions in either of the two state universities.

Both men are 34 years of age. Earhardt left UND after one semester and was graduated from Jamestown College. Koppenhaver continued his education at UND, where he was varsity quarterback and co-captain before getting his master's and his doctorate in education.

The appointments were triggered by the resignation of Darrell Mudra, NDSU athletic director and head football coach, who has moved into the Canadian professional football circles as head of the Montreal Alouettes. Mudra led the Bison to a number one national rating in football last fall, including a razor-thin victory over the Sioux at the NDSU homecoming.

Koppenhaver, whose home was at Grand Forks, is married to the former Donna Gilbertson of East Grand Forks. They have two daughters. Another proud member of the family is R. D. Koppenhaver, a long-time faculty member of UND.

When the announcement of the new appointments was made, two of the first congratulatory phone calls came from UND athletic coaches. One was Frank Zazula, now Sioux track coach, who was varsity football coach in 1949. The other was Harold Pedersen, UND freshman football and varsity wrestling coach at UND, who was coaching at Williston when Koppenhaver and Earhardt were assistant high school football coaches.

The appointment of these two former Sioux (and alumni) to the Bison top echelon will add extra interest when the football squads tangle in Grand Forks next October 22 in the annual Homecoming clash. It's still several months away, but it might be wise to make your reservations now. It will be a jam-packed stadium.

● Medical School

Dr. Harwood reported the hopes of Dr. Donald F. Barcome, medical director of the Medical Centers' Rehabilitation Unit, to start a cardiopulmonary study center. Dr. Harwood said "liberal matching funds" are available from the Vocational Rehabilitation Association.

Purpose of such a center is to aid in the rehabilitation of patients suffering heart and chest disabilities. If this should come about, it would put a space squeeze on the Student Health Services center, now housed in the same building as the Rehab unit.

Under a program envisioned by Dr. Barcome an evaluation of patients with heart-lung conditions and their work potential would be made. This would enable a patient to know if he could go back to a job and what kind of job he could go back to.

The Medical Center's psychiatric training program is bearing fruit, Dr. Harwood said. Five doctors have trained under this program, of whom four will practice in the state. Two social workers and one psychologist now are in training and will return to practice in North Dakota.

The College of Nursing of the Medical Center continues to grow. It has an enrollment of about 100 freshmen. It is anticipated, Dr. Harwood said, that in three years that number will increase to about 120.

Illustrating the growth of the Medical School, Dr. Harwood pointed out that 12 years ago the entire budget for the school was $288,000. "Today the research and fellowship budget of just one department alone is $231,000."

● Champions

81 and 105-86; University of South Dakota by 80-62 and 81-67; Morningside by 97-63 and 85-77; Bemidji State by 91-76; Parsons of Iowa, 97-75; Augustana 71-70. The lone loss during this period was at State College of Iowa, 69-61. Please understand we aren't alibiing, but in fairness to the team we should point out that the game came on the last day of semester exams, and the team hadn't had a practice for eight days.

Phil Jackson, 6-8 junior forward from Williston, is our leading scorer, averaging more than 20 points a game. In beating S. D. State, 105-86, Jackson tied our school record by pouring through 40 points, a standard he now holds with two other Sioux cage greats—Jon Haaven and Don Augustin.

The hockey Sioux currently are in third place in the WC-HA standings and are gearing for the March 3 post-season showdown here against Minnesota. The winner of the Sioux-Gopher game advances to meet the winner of the Denver - Colorado College game in Colorado March 5. The winner of the March 5 game earns a ticket to the NCAA tournament, in which the Sioux placed third last season at Providence.

Since Jan. 1, Sioux hockey scores: lost to league-leading Michigan Tech, 2-1 and 4-3 here, won 5-4 and lost 4-1 at Tech; beat Colorado here twice, 6-4 and 8-1; beat University of Michigan here 6-4 and 7-4; lost to Minnesota here twice, 3-1 and 5-4, and beat the Gophers 5-2 and lost 6-1 at Minneapolis.

Coach Bob Peters has done a fine job with the team, which now has a 15-10-1 overall record and a 12-8-0 league mark. (We have two league games to play here against Denver Feb. 25-26 to wind up the schedule.)

North Dakota Sportswriters and Sportscasters associations have picked the 1964-65 Sioux basketball champs as its "Team of the Year," and Dave (Butch) Lince, a star end-tackle on the football team (which had a 9-1 season record), and who is a starting forward on the basketball team and has also been drafted by the Philadelphia Eagles and Houston Oilers, was selected "Player of the Year."

Prominent Alum Dies in Texas

Herbert E. Treichler, one of the early graduates of the University who went on to great success in the field of engineering, died at the age of 78 in Richmond, Texas, with burial at Matagorda, Texas.

Mr. Treichler served for many years on the UND Alumni Association Board of Directors and had been very generous in his support of his Alma Mater.

"It was a real privilege to have known and worked closely with Mr. Treichler," said Dr. Otis Simenstad, Alumni board president, "and he has made a great contribution in his efforts for higher education and his University. He will be truly missed."

Mr. Treichler, retired vice president and general manager of Texas Gulf Sulphur Co., was a native of Niagara, N. D. He received degrees in Mechanical engineering and mining engineering in 1908 and 1909. He prospected for lignite deposits in North Dakota; copper in Santa Rita, N. Mex., Morenci, Ariz., and Chuquicamata, Chile; for copper-nickel in the Sudbury district of Ontario, and sulphur with the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co., from which he retired in 1953.

Mr. Treichler was awarded a Distinguished Service citation at commencement exercises at UND in June of 1958. He joined the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. in 1918 and managed operations at Galveston, Newgulf, Moss Bluff and Spindletop, Texas; he directed Texas solicitation for the UND Development Fund from 1960 to 1963.

Mr. Treichler is survived by his widow, two sons, a daughter and a sister.

Students' Parents Invited To Annual Mothers Day

Letters have been sent to mothers and fathers of UND students, inviting the parents to the annual University Mothers Day on Friday, March 26.

Mrs. Margaret L. Barr, assistant professor of business education and chairman of the Mothers Day planning committee, stresses that parents of married students and students over 21 are welcome to the event, as well as parents of other students.

"Every parent of every University student is welcome, whether or not they receive a letter of invitation," she said. "Circumstances make it impossible to contact parents of all students, and those who did not receive the invitation may make reservations through the Dean of Women's Office at UND."

The one-day event will include several features in addition to those of previous years, including many activities for the fathers. It provides a fine opportunity for UND parents to visit the campus, partake of a full schedule of tours, luncheon, banquet and entertainment.

Plan 'Old Timers' Reunion

Members of the Class of 1916 and other "old timers" will celebrate their 50th graduation anniversary June 3, 1966, at the spring commencement exercises.

A tentative schedule for Friday, June 3, includes a tour of the campus, luncheon in the University Center as guests of the UND Alumni Board of Directors, visits to campus points and the President's office, and a special program that will be announced later. A social hour and dinner in the Ryan Hotel completes the day.

Reservations for the 50th reunion can be made by contacting the UND Alumni Office.

UND COOPERATES

The University of North Dakota has notified the Office of Education in Washington, D. C., that UND and other public and private colleges of the state intend to enter into a cooperative plan to help strengthen developing institutions of higher learning in the state.

The project is a result of Title III of the Higher Education Act of 1965, according to Dr. William E. Koenker, UND vice-president for academic affairs, who is chairman of the state committee. The act provides assistance in raising academic quality of colleges which have the desire and potential to make substantial contribution to the higher education resources of the nation.

NEW DEPARTMENT

A department of library science will be established next fall at UND which will offer both a major and a minor in library science, it has been announced by President George W. Starcher.

Instructor to Study Car Safety This Summer

Highway improvement and licensing of only qualified drivers has gone about as far as possible, said Dr. Harold L. Dowell Jr. of the University of North Dakota mechanical engineering department. "Now it's time to design a collision-safe automobile body," he said. Dowell, who just last fall completed work on his Ph.D. degree, will begin study this summer using a $2,200 grant from E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company.

"We are forced to assume that cars will continue to crash into each other," said Dr. Dowell, "so we should build a car safe enough to eliminate fatalities." He said this can be done through the use of impact-absorbing materials, rigid body frame construction, retaining belts and probably some features which haven't been developed yet.

Dr. Milton B. Larson, dean of the College of Engineering, said the DuPont grant is given to a young faculty member who shows above average ability and promise as a teacher.

The grant is equivalent to about two months' salary and provides a nine-month appointed teacher the opportunity for research or other scholarly activity during the summer. The money is a part of Du Pont's aid to education program, this year giving $2,200,000 to colleges and universities.

HOLD ROUNDUP

Several outstanding entertainers were featured at the annual "Dakota Roundup" in California held on January 29-30, with Harold Shafer of Bismarck as chairman.

Lawrence Welk and his orchestra performed at a dinner-dance, while Myron J. Bennet, radio personality in North Dakota in the early 1930's, was master of ceremonies. Bennett is now a popular performer with the ABC radio network in Los Angeles. Committee members making arrangements included Dr. and Mrs. Paul Cook and Bob Finnegan, former UND basketball star.

NEWS NOTES

The Alumni Office received an interesting Christmas card from C. V. S. Ratnam, who lives in Neyveli, India. Dr. Ratnam finished the University in 1950 and is now an engineer in charge of a briquetting plant in India. The fuel manufactured by his company is widely used, and their plant is one of the most modern briquetting plants in the world.

Major Donald D. Christofferson, '51, has been awarded the U. S. Air Force Commendation medal at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio. Major Christofferson holds a degree in mining engineering from UND and is married to the former Shirley Holm of Valley City.

Harold D. Michelson, who received his master's degree in school administration from UND in 1960, has been appointed assistant director of secondary education in North Dakota. A native of Martin, Michelson had been teaching at Minot. He is married and has four children.

UND CURLERS FEATURED IN NATIONAL MAGAZINE

The December 1965 issue of NORTH AMERICAN CURLING NEWS carries a feature article on the curling program that is part of the regular physical education classes at UND.

Written by Louis Bogan, director of physical education services at UND and former head basketball coach, the article states that nearly 200 students are enrolled in the curling classes. UND is one of the few colleges in the country that offers such a program.

In addition to regular classes, there is an intramural curling league of eight teams. A bonspiel of 24 to 32 teams winds up the season.

SIoux BASKETBALL CLUB NAMED TEAM OF YEAR

The UND basketball team was named the 1965 North Dakota "Team of the Year," while Dave Lince of Mott, a UND student and versatile athlete, was named North Dakota's "Athlete of the Year." The award was made by the North Dakota Associated Press sportswriters and broadcasters. Other nominations for the team of the year award were the Sioux football and hockey clubs, both of whom compiled outstanding records in 1965.

NEWS NOTES

Lt. Paul E. Sjoldal, '63, recently completed an eight-week course in communications and public relations at the U. S. Air Force Information Center in Boston University. Following his graduation from UND, Lt. Sjoldal was assigned to duty in Japan.

David Carl Lund, '62, is living in Piscataway, N. J., where he is working on his doctorate in Economics at Rutgers University. He is married to the former Nancy Larson, '63.

Patrick Fitzsimmons, '48, is on the management staff of the Meyer Construction Co., Dickinson. Fitzsimmons is a graduate civil engineer, with 18 year's experience in construction, many of them as a resident engineer with the North Dakota Highway Department. He is married and has three children. The Meyer firm is one of the major asphalt contractors of the state and moved recently from Fargo to Dickinson.

Alumni Development Fund Gifts May Be Given in Many Forms

Most of the gifts received by the UND Alumni Association come in the form of checks, but it is not always the only way to support your Alma Mater.

Recently, a prominent UND graduate took out an ordinary life insurance policy in the face amount of $2,500, and he will make annual premium payments on it until his death. At that time, the $2,500 will go to the University for a Journalism Scholarship.

Several contributions have come in the form of stocks, bonds and property. There have been gifts of valuable objects d'art, jewelry, oil wells, and others.

Several UND alumni have designated the Development Fund in their wills for outright bequests, and also as secondary beneficiaries for their estates.

NEWS NOTES

Priscilla Schmidt, '63, had her original birth announcement published in the January, 1966, issue of REDBOOK magazine. She is the daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Lowell Schmidt of Huron, S. D., and is the wife of Ronald G. Schmidt, '61, '63, who was recently appointed Director of the Legislative Research Council in Pierre. Mrs. Schmidt has degrees in Art and French and was a commercial artist for Hallmark Cards in Kansas City before moving to Pierre last summer. She was UND Homecoming Queen in 1961.

Robert O. Heskin, '60, has been named an industrial development specialist for the North Dakota Economic Development Commission. He was an air force captain for more than five years, serving two tours of duty in Viet Nam. He is married to the former Haroldean Schafer, ex'58, and they have two children.

Dr. John H. Fadenrecht, M.S., '38, has been named chairman of the department of education of Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill., effective July 1, 1966. He has been on the Wheaton College faculty since 1946.

Mrs. Searles R. Boynton, '46, the former Marjorie Chase of Grand Forks, is serving as Chairman of the Republican Central Committee of Mendocino County in Northern California. She makes her home at Ukiah, Calif.

F. W. Hunter, '30, recently retired after 17 years as regional director of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare in San Francisco. A veteran of more than 35 years in public service, Hunter was awarded the Department's Superior Service Award in 1961 and was one of only ten Federal Employees given the National Service League Award for inspiring leadership and devotion to public service.

Miss Betty Brecto, '64, was elected president of the Northern Division Business Education Association at its recent convention. A commercial instructor at Red Lake Falls, Miss Brecto is a graduate of New Rockford high school and formerly taught at Battle Lake, Minn.

Arnold T. Barber, '37, a native of Grand Forks, has been promoted to the rank of army brigadier general. He commands the 205th Army Reserve Infantry Brigade, headquartered at Fort Snelling, Minn. He is a 28-year veteran of active and reserve army service.

Wayne A. Gibson, '58, who had been a printer on the Dickey County Leader for the past four years, has joined the Lystad Chemical firm and will make his headquarters in Lawton, Okla. He is married and has two children.

Mrs. I. E. Solberg, M.A., '63, recently had an exhibit of her art work on display in Jamestown. She is supervisor of art in the Bismarck high schools, a position she has held for 11 years. She has had "one-man" shows in all the major cities of North Dakota.

DEAN OUTLINES LAW SCHOOL NEEDS

Dean Jerrold L. Walden lists additional library space and decrease in faculty turnover among the goals of the UND Law School in his annual report for 1964-65.

The report points out that it is now necessary to keep thousands of books in Montgomery Hall, on the opposite side of the campus from the Law Building, which makes utilization of these materials difficult.

POWER CO. OFFICIAL COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Joseph A. Freeman, manager of the Communication Service of Northern States Power Co., was the main speaker at the mid-year commencement ceremonies at UND on January 30. Arrangements were made by Dr. M. L. Cushman, dean of the UND College of Education and commencement committee chairman.

Vern Schanilec, '56, is a pharmacist and manager of the Park Plaza White Drug Store in Jamestown. Herman Lucas Shanilec, '52, is vice president of the Minto State Bank in Minto, while Dr. Ernest F. Schanilec, '54, recently moved from Cavalier to open his dental practice in West Fargo.

Mrs. M. J. Borgerson, ex'10, (former Mabel Briggs) writes news of her children from her home in Phoenix. John Borgerson, '37, teaches at Humboldt College, Arcata, Calif. Mrs. M. S. Donovan (former Jean Borgerson ex'35), attended UND for three years before taking a five year course in nursing at the University of Minnesota. Dr. Robert J. Borgerson, '41, is Chief of Staff in Radiology at St. Joseph's Hospital in Chicago.

V. W. Wilson, '32, has been named manager of the Venture Analysis of Shell Chemical in their Ammonia Division in San Francisco. Wilson joined the Shell Chemical Co. in 1946 and is a native of Noonan, N. D.

TIME Magazine Features UND Alumnus

Dr. Elmer Ellis, president of the University of Missouri, is pictured and featured in the February 4 issue of TIME magazine for his record in guiding the great growth of the Missouri school.

Dr. Ellis earned his B.A. degree in 1924 and his M.A. in 1925 from UND; he was awarded an Honorary L.L.D. from UND in 1946. Dr. Ellis is at the mandatory retirement age and will retire from the presidency next August.

The TIME magazine article points up that the Missouri University began its vast expansion in 1954 when Dr. Ellis became president. The article states, "He turned into a tough administrator who managed to excite his faculty even while driving it hard, yet remained folksy enough to coax money out of a rural legislature."

Under his guidance the University of Missouri opened a new four-year medical center and has been recognized as a science-conscious institution, striving to break into the top rank of public universities.
