Development Fund Climaxes Great Year

Stars in 'Hello Dolly'

MISS MARY ANN SNOW
... "Hello Dolly" star

One of the most popular stage plays of all time is the "Hello Dolly" show on Broadway, and a major role in the performance is that of Mrs. Malloy, as played by Miss Mary Ann Snow (Mary Ann Hunt, '53), a University of North Dakota graduate who has really hit the "big time."

Miss Snow is currently playing in "Hello Dolly" with Ginger Rogers, and was in the original company from the start with Carol Channing. She recently appeared with Betty Grable in Tennessee and Las Vegas in the same play.

Miss Snow has performed in major cities of the United States, and appeared in Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev, Russia, with "My Fair Lady." Her B.A. degree from UND was with an English major and music minor. She was one of four chosen as UND 1965 outstanding young women candidate for alumnae nationally.

WAHPETON MAN NAMED TO BOARD OF HIGHER EDUCATION

Allen H. Hausauer, ex '47, has been appointed to a seven-year term on the North Dakota Board of Higher Education. He replaces Mrs. Vernon (Mildred) Johnson of Wahpeton, who has served 14 years on the Board. She and her husband practice law in Wahpeton. Hausauer is a Wahpeton businessman and has four children.

WINS FOURTH TITLE

1965-66 has been one of the greatest athletic years at UND, and was climaxed late in May when the UND Golf Team won its fourth consecutive North Central Conference Title.

MAKE YOUR PLANS NOW FOR UND HOMECOMING

Next October may seem in the distant future, but it will be here sooner than you think! So, take your pencil, go to the nearest calendar, and draw a circle around the dates of October 20-21-22. This is the Homecoming Week - end, with a full schedule of Alumni activities including banquets, dances, reunions and topped with the football game between the UND Sioux and the NDSU Bison. You would be wise to make your plans and reservations early—it will be a sellout!

FOX MEMORIAL BRIDGE DEDICATED JUNE 4TH

A highlight of the Commencement week-end on the campus was the dedication of the Fox Memorial Bridge, a walkway spanning the English Coulee, which replaces the 22-year-old wooden bridge that was removed in 1963. The bridge is named in memory of the late Alice C. Fox, wife of E. F. Fox of Billings, who donated $15,000 to cover the costs. The two Fox children, Mrs. L. A. (Alice) Rudh of Grand Forks, and Ernest Fox, Jr. of Billings, are both UND alumni.

The bridge was designed by Mark B. Foss of Fargo, a UND engineering graduate who is serving on the Alumni Board of Directors and who contributed the plans and specifications. The bridge was erected by the Swingen Construction Co., headed by Walter Swingen of Grand Forks, a UND alumnus. The bridge is constructed of white pre-stressed concrete and steel double-T beams, is 72 feet long, and has handrails and lights.

Contributions Reach $97,000

The final totals have been computed, the records have been audited, and the Development Fund Campaign for 1965-66 has ended with one of the most successful years in history, under the direction of William DePuy of Grafton who served as national chairman.

One year ago, the Alumni budget committee outlined a record-breaking goal of $88,616. It was an ambitious challenge, but loyal UND Alumni throughout the United States and foreign countries gave generously to their Alma Mater, with total contributions hitting the $97,177.85 figure. This is $8,561.85 over the budget goal.

Delaware won the state contest competition with a 40 percent percentage of contributors. Others in the top ten included New Hampshire, Virginia, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Hawaii, Connecticut, Maine, North Carolina and Arkansas.

Kentucky won the most improvement in percentage of contributors this year over last year, with an increase from 2.7 percent to 30.95 percent. Oregon beat Arizona, and Dr. Willis Shepard has received his case of Arizona grapefruit from Jack Stewart. Closer to the campus, Minnesota challenged North Dakota to a race in the final months to boost their percentage figures. The Gopher state, headed by John Stone, edged the Nodak state, under the guidance of Bob Eddy.

The generous response by UND alumni is making possible a strong program of student scholarships, faculty grants and many other areas of assistance that could not be possible without the Development Fund.

Omdahl Accepts New State Position

State Tax Commissioner Lloyd Omdahl has been appointed director of administration by Governor William L. Guy. In his new responsibility Omdahl will be in charge of state-federal relations in the federal programs in effect in North Dakota.

Omdahl worked as administrative assistant and director of administration for Governor Guy from 1961 to 1963. A native of Conway, N. Dak., he received his bachelor of arts degree from UND with honors in 1953 with majors in journalism and political science. He received the master of arts degree with a major in political science from UND in 1962.

ALUMNI REVIEW

University of North Dakota

RECEIVE HONORARY DOCTORATE DEGREES

An engineer, a publisher and a banker received honorary doctorate degrees from UND at Commencement Exercises June 5. Those honored include Robert E. Bradley, chief engineer of the North Dakota State Highway Department, Robert E. Slaughter, executive vice-president of McGraw-Hill, a New York publishing firm, and Herbert V. Prochnow, president of the First National Bank of Chicago. Mr. Prochnow was the commencement speaker.

DICKENS NAMED UND DEAN OF WOMEN

Nancy Marie Dickens, who was dean of women at Coe College in Iowa, has been appointed dean of women at UND, according to President George W. Starcher.

The appointment is effective July 1. Miss Dickens has been in student personnel work since 1953, serving at Michigan State, Wisconsin State and State University of Iowa. She holds a bachelor of arts with honors degree in sociology and a master of science in counseling and guidance.

NEW CHAIRMAN

Dr. Peter T. Hountras of Northwestern University has been named chairman of the UND counseling and guidance department, replacing Dr. W. Levi Cash, Jr., who accepted an appointment with the Office of Education, Washington, D. C.

REPORT from the CAMPUS

By J. LLOYD STONE

Sometimes I think that another word for Nodaks is Nomads!

During April, a trio of us made a four thousand mile trip to the east coast, where we represented the University at Alumni Meetings in New York City and Washington, D. C. The trio included my wife, Grace, Pat Larson, administrative assistant to President Starcher, and myself—mainly as chauffeur.

One of our first stops was at the UND Alumni Meeting in Washington, D. C., on April 23. There were 125 Nodaks in attendance at the meeting which was held at the Bolling Air Force Officer's Club.

Harry Lindberg did a marvelous job in arranging for the dinner, and in presiding as the Washington Alumni Club President for 1965-66. The alumni elected John E. Loomis as president, Mrs. Warren Bennett as vice-president, Ray Johnson as secretary, and Mrs. Dale Ness as treasurer.

We motored up north to New York City for their meeting on April 29 at the Delmonico Restaurant. Lambert Huppeler handled the arrangements as a master, and D. O. McGuire of Englewood, N. J., was named their new president.

—UND—

I had the privilege of meeting Mrs. Henry Hinds of Greenwich, Conn. She is the widow of Henry Hinds, who was graduated from UND in 1904.

Mr. Hinds finished as a geology student at UND, and won the first Rhodes Scholarship ever given a North Dakota student. He distinguished himself in athletics at Oxford and won a First in Geology.

After graduation from Oxford, Mr. Hinds served as a petroleum geologist and was actively associated with the petroleum industry for more than 35 years.

"Who's Who in America" listed him as one of America's foremost geologists. He was a member of the Fellow American Association of Rhodes Scholars, American Association of Petroleum Geologists, Gamma Alpha and Sigma Psi. Mr. Hinds was the author of many publications.

A scholarship in memory of Henry Hinds has been set up on the UND campus and will be awarded this spring to a deserving student in Geology.

—UND—

While in New York, we enjoyed an evening with Zdenek "Stan" Marek and his wife.

Stan was graduated from UND in 1951, coming to the United States from Czechoslovakia where he was a member of the Olympic Hockey team that won the world championship in 1948.

He had met Prince and Buzz Johnson, former Sioux hockey stars, when they were with the U.S. Hockey Team in Sweden. Stan was an outstanding student while at UND, and was a member of one of our good hockey teams. He joined Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, and was an honor student all of the time he attended the University.

While attending UND, he took one course in dress design which must have been of real help to him. Today, he is in the designing and manufacture of dresses, and has been very successful.

Stan sells his dresses to Saks, Peck and Peck, Lord and Taylor, Daytons, and many other leading stores. He married a New York model, a charming girl, they have three lovely daughters.

Stan told me several interesting stories and experiences he has had since leaving the campus. In July, 1951, he went to New York in an old broken-down car, arriving there with $40 in his pocket. Two weeks later, the money was gone and he owed $8 for rent.

Stan went into a church near the apartment he had rented, prayed and asked for guidance. On returning to his apartment, he found a check for $15 from Grand Forks and University friends. They said that they wanted to help tide him over until he found a job.

The next day Stan found a job earning $33 a week, working nights as an inspector in a mailing house. He looked for jobs in the daytime and finally found one with a dress designer.

He was soon on his own. On the day I was there, the buyer from Peck and Peck spent several hours with him and bought a large number of Marek dresses. Driving down Fifth Avenue in Stan's new Rolls Royce and having dinner with the Mareks at a fine Chinese restaurant was an interesting experience.

When Stan was at the University, he was like a fourth son to Grace and me. He used to spend the holidays with us, and it was wonderful to see another one of our sons succeed in such a big way.

—UND—

It was an interesting trip, and we were proud to represent the University. It was just as enjoyable to return to our beautiful campus and see the trees budding and the grass turning green after a long cold winter.

—UND—

Well! Our "fiscal" year has ended at UND, climaxing with the Commencement activities and the breather-period before the summer sessions activate. It would take a 100-page issue of the ALUMNI REVIEW to even touch on the highlights of the past 12 months. But, in a word, it was a wonderful year.

—UND—

We hope all of you have a most enjoyable summer. Spring arrived a little late this year in North Dakota, but the campus is in full bloom right now. We hope that your vacation trip could be routed to include a stop at UND. The Alumni Office will be open all summer, and the welcome mat is always out.

—UND—

One more thing in closing: we welcome the 761 new members of the UND Alumni Association. These are the latest model graduates who received their diplomas on June 5 and are now full-fledged members of the Alumni Association. We congratulate you, and welcome you to your new "club."

● More Report from the Campus

We had a nice note from Edward J. O'Connor, judge of the California Superior Court in Los Angeles. Golf is quite a hobby of Ed's, and he and a gang of Nodaks got together for a golfing week-end in Ojai, Calif., where Carl and Esther Samuelson make their home. Those attacking par were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hanson of Great Falls, Mont.; Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Aasland of Hereford, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Nelson of Little Rock, Ark.; Dr. and Mrs. Bill Harris of Walnut Creek, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Vic Brown of Newport Beach, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Martin of Costa Mesa, Calif.; Dr. and Mrs. J. Lefe Ludwig of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Smith of Chino, Calif.; and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Peterson of Palo Alto, Calif.

As Ed notes, "it seems that we can get a large North Dakota group together for any occasion."

—UND—

Lloyd Nelson writes from his temporary home in North Little Rock, Ark., and tells us that his company, Cal-Dak, is being integrated into the Household Products Division of Hamilton Cosco, Inc. Lloyd will be functioning as a consultant to the Hamilton Cosco firm.

After 20 years' experience in the housewares industry and having just completed nine years as director and one year as president of the National Housewares Manufacturers Association, Lloyd is certainly well qualified to advise the new merger.

Jay Pelham, a former executive with Cal-Dak, has left the firm and is on an extended tour of the southeastern United States. He and Lloyd expect to be associated together again and are planning a base of operations in Southern California. Lloyd and his family will be spending the summer in Florida, where they have leased a home on Indian Rocks Beach. It is located close to where his two sisters (both UND graduates) reside. He promises that both he and Jay will be at the Camelback reunion next January.

—UND—

Dennis A. Lee of Williston, a senior in marketing, has been presented the W. E. Davenport Memorial Award as the most promising senior in marketing.

Raymond Richards Golf Course Progresses

A long-awaited event is taking place near the UND campus as 7400 pounds of grass seed are being sown on the new UND - Richards Golf Course. It is anticipated that golf will be played on the new course next May.

All construction work, including building of greens, tees, earth grading and installation of irrigation lines on the new course for UND students, classes and faculty was completed last fall.

Richards, a retired Tulsa, Okla., petroleum engineer and a 1906 UND graduate, donated 70 acres of the family's former farm for the new course. It is located on a site south of the University's West Green married student housing area. For those who want to be guided by landmarks, you could locate the course by following the English Coulee "over the railroad tracks." The course could be expanded from nine to 18 holes to the south. Cost of building the course was handled by the UND Alumni Association.

"I am sure our present and future UND students and faculty will be grateful for Mr. Richard's interest in his alma mater and his generosity. It has given us an opportunity to provide not only a fine, but increasingly essential, recreation facility for the entire University family, but also a very valuable asset in our program of physical education for men and women," stated Len Marti, UND Athletic Director.

Richards, an avid golfer, visited the new UND links last summer while construction was under way and expressed satisfaction with plans and progress.

A two-story residence on the property, in which the Richards family once lived, will be remodeled into a club house in the future.

Plans also call for the planting of many trees on the course as soon as possible.

Golfers will find a par 36 layout, with yardage ranging from a minimum of 3000 up to 3500 yards depending on placement on tees. An average of two sand bunkers will trap each of the nine holes.

Three excellent facilities also will be featured, including a large practice putting green, a large practice chipping green and a driving range tee 150 yards long which could accommodate a class of 30 simultaneously.

The new Richards course will be the second in UND history. The school had a small course on campus before World War II, located east of Memorial Stadium, which was taken over for building expansion resulting from soaring enrollments. The old course

Snowball Reports

Set Camelback Dates

May 10, 1966

Dear NODAK Alums:

Due to capacity convention bookings which take all of our rooms from January 1 through January 14 we are unable to offer the early January dates in 1967 for the alumni party at Camelback Inn.

Consequently the dates of Sunday, January 15, to Sunday, January 22, have been scheduled for this 16th annual get-together which Lloyd Stone originated.

The rate this season will be $17 daily per person including all meals. For many years a lower rate was in vogue, but substantially higher prices for food and labor and all other commodities make it impossible for the Inn to continue the previous rate. Along this line the Inn charges a regular price of $13 daily for food alone. The $17 rate is for two persons in a twin-bedded room with bath. The single rate for single occupancy of a double room is $18 daily. Children would be accorded a rate of $16 daily. The special North Dakota rate would be extended past January 22 for anyone who might want to stay some extra days, providing the Inn has the space open. This would be determined later and would be known by December 15. Consequently if anyone wanted to make a longer winter vacation out of this trip if we had the space we would be glad to reserve an extra week at the special rate. In this way it would be possible to work out a fine regular winter holiday vacation.

● Richards Golf Course

was located on an area on which a dormitory, UND maintenance shops and the U. S. Bureau of Mines Robertson Lignite Research Center are now located.

Here are the vital statistics and features of each hole of the new UND layout:

Hole No. 1—par 4, 410 yards, straight approach, flat terrain trapped by two bunkers.

Hole No. 2—par 5, 490 yards, dog-legs left into a ravine, one trap.

Hole No. 3—par 4, 340 yards, another straight one with two traps around green.

January is a delightful month on the desert with marvelous golfing weather plus all of the relaxing qualities of Camelback Inn.

The Inn once again this summer is making interesting changes and improvements.

Since the Nodaks were here last January the front nine of the Quail Hollow Pitch & Putt course has been put in play and has made the course extremely popular with long-time guests. Now, with the 18 holes, everyone seems to like to play the Pitch & Putt course which is the only one in Arizona operated by a resort hotel. The Paradise Country Club course is in remarkable condition and of course is classified as perhaps the most interesting course in Arizona.

Jack Stewart III has taken over as general manager this summer and is keeping the home fires burning while Jack, Sr., and Louise are at their summer home in La Jolla, Calif. The Inn closed in late May after finishing the busiest season in its history. It will re-open October 1.

Some Nodaks have brought conventions which they attend to the Inn and thus have secured an additional vacation here. Those who wish to write early for reservation for next January's reunion will secure the best rooms and may do so by communicating with Jack Stewart, Jr. at Camelback.

Meanwhile, all best wishes to our many North Dakota friends throughout the country.

Cordially,
SNOWBALL

Hole No. 4—par 3, 150 yards, over a deep ditch, green has two traps.

Hole No. 5—par 4, 390 yards, straight approach, two bunkers.

Hole No. 6—par 5, 505 yards, longest hole, two traps.

Hole No. 7—par 4, 317 yards, straight through a deep ravine which will have water in it during spring and after heavy rains, two traps.

Hole No. 8—par 3, 174 yards, one big trap, an uphill approach.

Hole No. 9—par 4, slight dog-leg to right, may go over water in spring, cuts through deep ravine. This will be a tough hole.

Space Squeeze

Tightens On Campus

(Note: The following editorial appeared in the Grand Forks Herald April 29, 1966)

THE CHAIRMAN OF A MAJOR department at the University of North Dakota occupies an office which was converted from a closet. A dean's office once was the outer portion of a men's room.

Those examples of the office squeeze at UND were given a recent conference of alumni concerned with the expansion needs of the University.

While excellent projections of enrollment and the availability of loans to finance revenue-producing buildings has allowed UND to keep up with the housing needs for its expanding student body, other facilities haven't kept pace. There is an urgent need for more classrooms and more of the auxiliary facilities that go with teaching college students today.

In 1955 the University had 3,077 students; in 1965 6,098. It is preparing for at least 6,500 students next fall, with a possibility that registration may be considerably above that figure. At least 7,590 students will be on campus by 1970 according to conservative estimates.

To keep pace with the growth, the University is thinking in terms of one new 300 bed dormitory every year until 1970 or 1972.

While the enrollment was doubling, there has been only a 15 per cent gain in classroom and laboratories.

Just as the student body has grown, so necessarily has the faculty. In 1957 there were 200 faculty members, in 1965 343 plus graduate assistants. Twenty six additional faculty positions must be filled for the next academic year.

All of this poses problems which the next legislature must solve.

The University has had great success in obtaining financial help for new facilities from sources other than state funds. There are indications that more gifts from alumni and money from other sources will continue to help build a bigger and better university. But the primary source of new facilities must remain with the taxpayers of the state. They can make no better investment than in the education of their children.

OFFER FELLOWSHIPS

Four two-year fellowships are now available for prospective high school biology teachers to earn a master of science degree in biology at UND. The fellowships, provided under the Higher Education Act, will allow the recipients $2,000 the first year, $2,200 for the second, plus $400 per year for each dependent. Additional funds may be awarded for summer study.

Spring Reunions From Coast to Coast

IOWA

The Iowa brand of the UND Alumni Association met in Iowa City May 7 and elected George Bang president for the coming year, with Mrs. Kathryn Burkholder as vice-president and Mrs. Marlene Bang as secretary-treasurer.

The 1967 reunion will be held in Newton, Iowa. At the May meeting the group saw slides of campus scenes. The doorprize was won by the oldest alum present, who had also traveled the longest distance to attend, Benjamin Scroggs, a 1923 graduate from Clear Lake, Iowa.

Those in attendance included:

Mr. and Mrs. George Bang, '50. (Marlene Thompson, '52); Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Burkholder, '54. (Kathryn Mott, '54); Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harris, '53; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hovet, '51. (Elaine Kval, '56); Mr. and Mrs. Dick Jackson, ex '60; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Johnson, '50. (Dorothy Fregard, '41); Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Kozisek, ex '60; Joe Meidt, '54; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Orchard, ex '48;

Mrs. Carol Okupok (Carol Christensen, '56); Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peskey, '46; Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Rask, '60; Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Rolph, '65; Benjamin Scroggs, '23; Mr. and Mrs. James Seifert, '50. (Nancy Dunlevy, '51); Dr. and Mrs. Frank Stone; Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Sundby, '30. (Marion Johnston, ex '31); David Teslow, '59; and Mrs. Carrie Wise (Carrie Hanson, '26).

NEW YORK

D. O. McGuire was elected president of the UND Alumni chapter in New York City at their spring session April 29 at the Delmonico Hotel.

Those in attendance included:

David Barabino, '63; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Blinn; Mr. and Mrs. William L. Boyce, '17. (Jennie Gale, '17); Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Carrough, '58; Mr. and Mrs. Mel A. Gores, '64; Robert C. Hesenflow, '65; Harold A. Holmes, '27; Mr. and Mrs. John D. Holmes, '60. (Betty J. Sonderland, '63); John Hopley, '58; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hunger, '28. (Ruth Hancock, '27); Mr. and Mrs. Lambert M. Huppeler, '32; Mrs. Dorothy Hupper (Dorothy W. Healy, '21); Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Johnson, '13; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kishpaugh, '12; Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Kuta, '64; Miss Pat Larson; D. O. McGuire, '13; Mr. and Mrs. Leon H. Moore, '18; Miss Lilian S. Munn; Mrs. Marion A. Read (Marion Wilder, '22); Mrs. James Robertson; Thomas J. Robertson, '59; Miss Lyndon J. Rustad; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas D. Schindele, '37. (Naomi Erickson, '39); Mary Ann Snow (Mary Ann Hunt, '53); Ruth Snow, '16; Mr. and Mrs. J. Lloyd Stone, '30; Dr. George Talbert, '41; Lois E. Wilde, '44; and Mrs. Emily Doak Wolff, ex '35.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

More than 125 UND alumni gathered in Washington, D. C. on April 23 for their annual reunion, and named John Loomis as their new president.

Among those in attendance were:

Miss Sandra E. Askelson, '65; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Baker, '27; Patricia Baker, ex '65; Mr. and Mrs. C. Barquin; Col. and Mrs. Warren Bennett, ex '40; Maj. and Mrs. Floyd Bergquist, '33 (Winifred Mulloy, '33); Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bernhoft, '56; Mr. and Mrs. William Block, '47; Paul Bridgeford, '64; Mrs. Harry Brumbaugh; Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Cash; Lt. Col. and Mrs. Charles V. Christianson, ex '38; Mr. and Mrs. A. Mel Christopher, '55; Mrs. Helen M. Dalness (Helen Stoffel, ex '34); Maude Dukins; Mr. and Mrs. James F. Dyre, '56; Mrs. Ruth Edick (Ruth Sorlie, '39); Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Ekren, '49 (Louann M. Kropp, '48); Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence B. Elsernd, '42 (Lucille Altermatt, '41); Miss Tony Etchepare; Mrs. Edward Fenig; Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Ghiglione (Alice G. Palmer, '31); Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Greeley, '37;
