Edna Twamley Dies in New York

Miss Edna Twamley, daughter of one of the founders of the University of North Dakota, died December 20 at Newburgh, N. Y., following an illness of several weeks. In memory of Miss Twamley, the 305-bell carillon, mounted in Twamley Hall, was played during the time of her funeral services. The carillon was a gift from her.

Miss Twamley's father was one of the founders of UND and a member of the University's first board of regents. Twamley Hall, the UND administration building, is named in honor of him.

Miss Twamley entered UND in 1898, later receiving degrees from the University of Minnesota and Columbia University. She taught at Grand Forks Central High School, had been supervisor of practice teaching in University High School, and later supervised English teaching in a New York high school before her retirement.

On June 8, 1958, the University of North Dakota awarded Miss Twamley a B.A. degree as a member of the class of 1902. She had directed funds of $200,000 from the estate of her brother, Frederick Twamley, to be presented to UND for the erection of the fourth floor of Twamley Hall.

Dr. Hamre to Retire As Graduate Dean

Dr. Christopher J. Hamre plans to retire as dean of the UND Graduate School at the end of the current academic year. Dean of the graduate school since 1958, Dr. Hamre has also been professor of anatomy and chairman of that department.

Pres. George W. Starcher praised Dean Hamre's long service as teacher and dean. "He has given generously in advancing the University. He has brought graduate work at the University to new levels, and given a new stature to our graduate program."

BRUNSDALE, JUDGE, STURTEVANT

Three Nodaks Win Sioux Awards

Development Fund Makes Fine Start

The month of January marks the approximate half-way point in the 1966-67 UND Development Fund Campaign, with the results showing an excellent start, according to E. E. Simmons, national chairman.

"Contributions in November and December were ahead of last year for the same period, so far as the number of individual contributors," he stated, "and the mid-way report indicates that we should make our $101,000 budget goal with continued support during the next few months."

An honor roll of contributors will be published in the ALUMNI REVIEW at the conclusion of the campaign. The Development Fund has made possible many scholarships for students, faculty grants, University promotion efforts, and the publishing and mailing of the ALUMNI REVIEW to more than 32,000 Ex-Nodaks.

Much credit for the excellent start of the 1966-67 fund campaign is attributed to the efforts of the state captains in the 50 states, according to Simmons.

U RESEARCH TO STUDY BETTER HIGHWAY SAFETY

A $26,350 research contract has been awarded to the UND civil engineering department by the North Dakota State Highway Department and the Bureau of Public Roads.

The study will research the possibility of using pit-run gravel instead of washed and processed concrete aggregates to develop a useable low strength concrete. Results of the research may enable the Highway Department to design pavements utilizing low strength concrete and eventually result in lower costs of maintenance and construction.

Presentation To Be Made at Camelback Inn

The UND Alumni Citations Committee has approved the awarding of three Sioux Awards to be given at the University Alumni Reunion on January 20 at Camelback Inn, according to Dr. Otis Simenstad, Alumni Association President.

The awards will be presented to C. Norman Brunsdale, Mayville, former governor of North Dakota and U.S. Senator; J. Emmet Judge, vice president of Westinghouse Electric, Pittsburgh, Pa., a 1935 UND graduate; and Richard Sturtevant, vice president of Jewel Tea Corporation, Barrington, Ill., and a 1928 UND graduate.

Dr. Simenstad said that the awards are given on the basis of success in their chosen profession, interest in higher education, and support of the University of North Dakota.

The award to Brunsdale will be made by Thomas Whelan of Grand Forks, former ambassador to Nicaragua. Judge will receive his award from E. E. Simmons, vice president of the UND Alumni Association. The award to Sturtevant will be presented by C. Fred Davidson, vice president of Gamble-Skogmo and a member of the UND Alumni Board of Directors.

Weston Christopherson, executive vice president of Osco Drug and a director and vice president of Jewel Tea Corporation of Chicago, will be master of ceremonies at the Camelback Alumni banquet, which will be held in the new Sunshine Room of the Inn. He is a 1949 UND graduate.

UND ALUMNI MEET AT SIOUX FALLS

UND alumni in the Sioux Falls area gathered together on Nov. 4th, with Marv Hell-ing, UND football coach, as main speaker.

F. A. Peterson was chairman of the event and there is strong sentiment building for a large turnout for the next reunion in 1967.

A native of Lakota, Peterson received his degree from UND in 1938 and has been with the Standard Oil Division of American Oil Co. since his graduation. He has been in sales work for over 28 years with the firm, working in North Dakota, Minnesota and South Dakota.

He and his wife have three children, including a son who is a senior in engineering at UND. Other UND alumni in the Peterson family include Mrs. H. A. Bakken (Edith Peterson, '23), Long Beach, Calif.; T. C. Peterson, '27, San Jose, Calif. Miss Olive R. Peterson, '30, is deceased, while Mrs. Stanley Larson of Thief River Falls also attended UND.

Among those attending the Sioux Falls reunion were:

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Arnold, '33; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cockle, '53; Miss Doris Everson; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Felland, '60; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harkison (Mildred McIntosh, '16); Mr. and Mrs. Chet Matteson, '26 (Beatrice Wellentine, ex-'26); Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Miller, '50 (Shirley Stenson, '49); Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Montague, '39; Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Peterson, '38; Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Sander, Dr. and Mrs. Howard R. Wold, '30; Miss Phyllis Worthington, '65; Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Zelenka, '50.

REPORT from the CAMPUS

By J. LLOYD STONE

Open Letter

A Communication from a Constituent to a Newly Elected Legislator

Dear Legislator:

I find it difficult to determine the proper salutation for this letter. I don't know if it is proper to use the word "dear," and "legislator" may denote the feminine gender, but there probably is no such word. I could say "Grace Dear," but I like to reserve that salutation for our personal life.

But, this is somewhat of a personal letter, so I'll write it on that basis.

Grace, Dear, I am so proud that you have been elected to serve in the North Dakota State Legislature, as one of the six representatives from the 18th legislative district in Grand Forks County.

Your election has created new responsibilities for you, as your "family" has now grown into the thousands who voted for you in the November 8 general election.

Since that Tuesday, things have changed around our house. The phone rings about every 20 minutes, and most of the calls are for you. In fact, things were changing during the campaign period. During one week in October, I noted that you had 11 meals away from home and 10 meals at home. (I'm getting pretty handy around the kitchen!)

And I notice that our mail is much heavier than usual. Most of the letters are for you, and luckily, require no reply. I say "luckily" as you have no secretary, and my shorthand, like my cooking, leaves something to be desired.

I know how hard you worked to win your election, and the extra mail, extra phone calls and meals away certainly are part of the responsibility that you assumed on election day.

Now, as you become a "freshman" at the North Dakota Legislature, I have some advice to give you—both as a husband and as a constituent.

Keep an open mind on all subjects. Find the source of any statement to make sure it is authentic. Be objective, and do your best to separate facts from opinion.

I know you recognize the value of education, with your college background, and teaming with me in working with our alumni. I don't have to list such outstanding men as Maxwell Anderson, Chester Fritz, Paul Yoder, Frank Lunding, Fred Aandahl, and the thousands of other graduates who are eloquent evidence that the state's investment in higher education was sound. Their education brought them great success in many fields, and reflects glory on our state.

I know that the field of education will be one of major importance in this session of the legislature. The future of our young people will be determined by your decisions.

Be careful to avoid duplication in our institutions of higher learning. For example, there should be only one law school, just as there should be only one school of forestry and one medical school. Each should be the best.

As a legislator, Grace, you will have to consider the best interests of all people from all parts of North Dakota. You hold a position of trust, and must exercise your judgment and leadership. At the same time, you must encourage people to accept responsibility, for active participation of the individual is basic to our American tradition.

Don't jump to conclusions. Study the facts; evaluate them. Recognize the importance of our two-party system, with proper checks and balances.

Look for new and better ways of doing things for our state. But, don't overlook the fundamentals! Don't make changes just for the sake of change.

Be a good listener. You will be serving with experienced legislators, and their counsel is important. Get advice from people who know.

Ask questions. Seek out the facts. Be firm in your convictions.

Most of all, remember that you have a sacred trust. Your "yes" or "no" vote may not seem significant at the time, but it will be a voice in charting the future of our state—even our nation.

So, Grace Dear, I congratulate you on your election. I admire you for shouldering this new responsibility. And even though our home will be lonely during the legislative session, I feel that we will be closer together and you will be constantly in my thoughts.

I am proud of you!

From a loving constituent,

Lloyd

—UND—

I'm delighted to report that the UND Development Fund is off to a record-breaking pace, with the total number of contributions ahead of those at this same time last year.

Much of the credit for this excellent record must be given to our loyal, hard-working state chairmen. Every year one of them comes up with a new approach, and the latest idea comes from E. W. Sullivan, '24, of Wichita, who is state chairman for Kansas.

He has written a letter to each of the 117 UND alumni who reside in Kansas. With his letter, he attached a dollar bill and asked each alumnus to add an amount from $1 to $100 with this original dollar and send it on to the Development Fund.

Kansas ranked 19th in the nation last year in the state competition of the drive and I am confident that Mr. Sullivan's idea will shoot them up much higher in the percentage ratings this year.

—UND—

Robert Cory, '26, who writes a feature column for the "Minot Daily News," told a bit about his keen interest in music in one of his recent columns. He relates his early experiences and recalls his four years in the UND glee club.

On one occasion, he recalls that his fraternity brother, John Hutcheson, '26, accused him of singing too loudly. Hutcheson, who has had an outstanding career with Westinghouse, did mention that Cory, while too loud, was right on pitch.

Cory did perform a solo part for Hywel Rowland at a Christmas convocation, and was a member of Mrs. J. H. Ruttells' choir, and later of Rowland's choir, when Mrs. Alberta Harrington was organist.

He was a member of a chorus directed by Carol Miles Humpstone. Cory states that he did take a course in voice from Professor Rowland which was "most rewarding," and that he had the benefit of Rowland's wide and scholarly interest in musical literature stating that "North Dakota has not had another musicologist of his equal."

—UND—

There is a new booklet being distributed throughout North Dakota by the Association of Higher Education of the North Dakota Education Association.

It is illustrated with an owl, as the symbol of wisdom, and points up the "wise investment" of supporting the nine colleges and universities of our state.

The booklet emphasizes the soaring enrollments. For instance, in 1960 55 percent of all students graduating from North Dakota high schools continued their education. In 1965 (just five short years) this figure has risen to 69 percent.

Drop a note to the Alumni Office if you would like a free copy.

—UND—

There is a highly interesting story in the "Press-Enterprise" of Riverside, Calif., which relates the experiences of the Tom Faceys, who are new residents of Grand Forks.

Mr. Facey is conductor of the Greater Grand Forks Symphony and is also on the UND music department staff of 18. His wife is also teaching in the drawing department of the UND Engineering School.

The story tells how much the Faceys enjoy their new location in Grand Forks, experiencing their first snow of the season, and in getting settled in their "new" home (one of the first built in Grand Forks, but redecorated and remodeled).

—UND—

Jack Stewart, '29, may have retired from active management of the Camelback Inn, but he is leading a mighty active life. There are two notes that have come across my desk, and they both give another insight about this wonderful man.

One note is from Mrs. Katharine B. Tiffany, '02, who wishes Mr. Stewart the best on his retirement, and also congratulates him on his efforts to promote the UND football stadium. Mrs. Tiffany recalls that while she was attending UND, Lynn Frazier (later Governor) and other members of the football team constructed a temporary fence around the football field. They not only put up the fence but also did their own coaching.

Jack recalls that Paul Samuelson was head of a drive for the stadium from 1926 to 1928, with Jack serving as his publicity man and then taking over the drive when Samuelson resigned in 1928.

The dedication of the stadium, as Jack recollects, was on October 8, 1926, with several inches of snow on the field, when the Sioux played Creighton University. Jack noted the crowd of 13,500 at the 1966 Homecoming Game, and remarks that "football is growing at UND, along with everything else!"

There was a recent column in a Phoenix newspaper which tells of another facet of Jack Stewart. In 1965, a group of fifty veterans from Viet Nam were entertained by Jack as guests of the Camelback Inn. Among the 50 was Stevan Smith of Phoenix. On his return from Viet Nam, Smith married his childhood sweetheart, and both were given a week's honeymoon at the Camelback resort, with all expenses paid.

A baby boy was born to Mrs. Smith a few months ago and was named Jack for the hospitality he had extended to the newlyweds.

Jack again invited 50 veterans from Viet Nam last month for a one-week, all-expense paid vacation at Camelback Inn. Who knows, there may be some more babies named Jack!

CHEMISTRY LABORATORY NAMED FOR ALUMNUS

New chemistry laboratories in the Gilbert Science Center at Augustana College have been named in honor of John A. Froemke, who served on the Augustana faculty for 34 years.

Dr. Froemke, who is 73 years old, earned his bachelor's, master's, and Ph.D. degrees in chemistry from UND in 1924, 1927, and 1931. He retired from active teaching in 1964, and was former chairman of the chemistry department at Augustana. He and his wife now reside in Tuscaloosa, Ala., where he assists with the chemistry program at Stillman College.

WINS MEMORIAL PRIZE

William B. Skinner, a UND engineering student from Grand Forks, has been granted the Ormiston Kermott Memorial prize in engineering for 1966-67. The prize, established by Dr. and Mrs. Ormiston Kermott of Towner in memory of their son, is awarded annually to a junior electrical engineering student. Ormiston Kermott was a junior in electrical engineering at UND when he died in 1939.

Linda McSparron, '66, is teaching at Ainsworth High School, Flint, Mich.

Alumni Review Gains High Recognition

The ALUMNI REVIEW won a second place certificate in competition at the annual meeting of the mid-America district of the American Alumni Council and American College Public Relations Association late this fall in Des Moines.

Edited by J. Lloyd Stone, executive vice-president of the UND Alumni Association, the ALUMNI REVIEW was recognized as the second best entry in the alumni newspaper division of the competition.

It is printed at the UND Press, under the supervision of Joe Hughes, manager.

The award gains greater significance when evaluated in terms of the competition. The mid-America district includes alumni publications in Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Montana and the Dakotas.

Ben G. Gustafson, M.S. '46, dean of the General Extension Division of UND, has received one of the highest professional recognitions in college extension work. He has been named chairman-elect of the Council on Extension of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges at the 80th annual convention of the group in Washington, D. C. His election marks the second time in three years that a UND official has been elected to a top position in the association. Pres. George W. Starcher was named president of the Council of Presidents in 1964.

HURRY — FILLING UP FAST UND Alumni Tour of South America Starts March 12, 1967

There's a wonderful tour of South America waiting for UND alumni and friends. It will be a leisurely three-week vacation, starting March 12 from Miami, Fla., and ending March 31. The tour is jointly sponsored by the UND Alumni Association and the Champeau Travel Agency and is planned at the request of many who have enjoyed previous Alumni tours of other parts of the world. It is important that reservations be made promptly so that proper arrangements can be made. If you are interested in more details, write to: UND Alumni Office, University of North Dakota, Grand Forks, N. Dak. 58201

Sioux Award Winners

C. N. BRUNSDALE

Clarence Norman Brunsdale was born at Sherbrooke, N. Dak., and resided on a farm near Hatton, N. Dak., until the death of his father in 1899.

The family moved to Portland, N. Dak., where he completed his grade and high school education. In 1913 he was graduated from Luther College of Decorah, Iowa. In 1951 he was given an honorary degree from Luther College.

After teaching business for one year, Brunsdale managed the family farms from 1914 to 1920. He married the former Carrie Lajord of Minneapolis in 1924 and they have two daughters, Margaret Marie Larson of Mayville and Helen Lucille Williams of Houston.

Brunsdale was a member of the North Dakota State Senate for 18 years, being first elected in 1926. He was governor of North Dakota from 1951 to 1957, and was appointed to the United States Senate by Governor John E. Davis in 1959 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Senator William Langer.

Still actively engaged in farming, Brunsdale makes his home at Mayville. He is a member of the Lutheran Church.

Ordean Hagen, reference and documents librarian at Chester Fritz Library, is compiling what promises to be the first definitive bibliography of mystery, suspense and detective fiction. A 1939 UND graduate, Hagen has received preliminary acceptance of his book for publication in the summer of 1967.

The University faculty and staff have been given praise for their "unprecedented support" of the 1966 United Fund drive in Grand Forks. University personnel contributed more than $14,000 to the United Fund. The 1966 total of slightly more than $14,000 was donated by 702 University employees at an average of almost $20 per person.

William E. Gustafson, '60, formerly of Hoople, has joined the engineering firm of Nelson, Haley, Patterson and Quirk in Greeley, Colo. He is married and has two sons.

J. EMMET JUDGE

J. Emmet Judge is a native of North Dakota and was graduated from UND in 1935 with a degree in electrical engineering.

For four years he served on the staff of Wallace, Clark and Co., where his work covered the installing of management methods in both industrial and governmental organizations. Judge was vice president of manufacturing for a southern furniture company and then joined the Lincoln-Mercury division of Ford Motor Co. in 1949. He held many key positions, including manager of financial analysis, assistant general purchasing agent, product planning manager and marketing manager for the Mercury car line.

Judge is currently vice president of marketing services of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation in Pittsburgh. He is in charge of the Corporate Marketing Services, including market analysis, product planning, sales planning, marketing communications and marketing personnel development.

His activity assists the six product groups, comprised of 70 divisions of the company, in the development of market objectives, planning of future products, preparation of field sales plans, establishment of distribution channels, execution of the advertising programs and the coordination of all communications to the markets and customers.

Dr. Ralph H. Kolstoe, '50, UND professor of psychology, has been selected as a Visiting Scientist in the American Psychological Association program for 1967. He is one of about 75 psychologists from throughout the nation to be named to the program. Dr. Kolstoe joined the UND faculty in 1957 and was one of nine UND faculty members awarded scholarships by the student body in recognition of outstanding teachers.

Paul Eddy of Jamestown, ex-'30, has been elected president of the National Funeral Directors Association at the annual meeting of the group in Miami Beach. The association has more than 14,000 members.

RICHARD D. STURTEVANT

Richard Sturtevant is a native of Grand Forks, earning his law degree from the University of North Dakota in 1930. He began the practice of law in Fargo after graduation and was associated with Eli Weston and Franklin J. Van Osdel, also UND graduates.

After a brief practice of law in Grand Forks with the firm of MacIntyre and Burtness, he joined the legal staff of the Jewel Tea Co., Inc., in Barrington, Ill.

Since 1932 Sturtevant has held many executive positions with the Jewel Tea Company and is presently vice president of Corporate Real Estate Planning.

Active in civic affairs, he has held many important corporate posts, serving on the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, Chicago Tax Club, and the Chicago Bar Association. He is a former president of the Barrington Board of Education and a member of the University of Illinois Citizens Committee, the Barrington Methodist Church trustees, and the Illinois Bar Association.

He and his wife have three sons, two of whom are married, while the third is a senior at Notre Dame. His eldest son is practicing law in New York City, while his second son is in the graduate school at the University of California, completing his work on his Ph.D. The youngest son plans to go on to law school after his graduation in June.

RECEIVES $2,500 GRANT

The UND geology department has received an unrestricted grant of $2,500 from the Humble Oil Education Foundation of Houston, Tex., to be used as a travel fund for geology staff and student use to attend scientific meetings.

Dr. Wilson M. Laird, UND professor of geology, has been selected for the fourth time as a Visiting Geo-Scientist in the American Geological Institute program for 1967. He has been chairman of the UND geology department since 1942.

Educational TV Advances in North Dakota

A big step towards educational television in North Dakota was made on December 8 in Grand Forks when the title to the broadcasting tower of KTHI-TV, Grand Forks and Fargo, was formally transferred to the State Board of Higher Education.

The presentation was made by Thomas J. Hennessy, president of NATCO Communications, Inc., operators of KTHI-TV, with acceptance by Allan Hausauer for the State Board of Higher Education.

The presentation was witnessed by more than 60 representatives of UND, NDSU, legislators, representatives of the State Board of Higher Education, and other citizens.

An application has been pending with the U. S. Health, Education and Welfare Department for a grant to finance transmitting equipment. Approval of the grant could mean the start of educational programming in 1967 in North Dakota, with eventual statewide coverage.

The tower, tallest in the world at 2,069 feet, is located approximately midway between Grand Forks and Fargo.

PLAN REUNION

An Old Timers' Reunion is scheduled for June 2-3-4, 1967, on the UND campus during the Commencement Weekend, with Mrs. Milton Kelly, '18, as chairman.

The reunion is for all old timers this year, with special honors to the 50-year class. Members of the classes of 1916, 1917, 1918 and 1919 are especially urged to return for this occasion.

At a meeting of the planning committee on December 13, it was decided to begin the reunion with a coffee hour in Twamley Hall on the morning of June 2, followed by a Board of Directors' luncheon. There will be campus tours during the afternoon, followed by an Alumni Banquet that evening. The banquet will be open to all alumni.

Serving on the planning committee are Senator and Mrs. Milton Kelly, Mrs. Armin Rohde, Mike Miller and J. Lloyd Stone.

NEWS NOTES

Richard Homiston, '66, is a personnel assistant for the Kohler Co., Kohler, Wis. He is married and has one son.

Dr. John T. Norton, '51, is practicing medicine in Denver, where he has his own new office building. He is married and has two girls.

Roger S. Stensland, '60, is program coordinator and supervisor of vocational evaluation and training with the Minneapolis Rehabilitation Center.

Mae Skjoiten, '66, of Hatton has been named a social worker in the Thief River Falls school system, along with schools in Goodrich and St. Hilaire.

Howard A. Olson, '64, has been appointed as U. S. Commissioner in a joint appointment by U. S. District Judges R. N. Davis and George S. Register. A part-time position, the new post will not interfere with Olson's duties as County Judge in Benson County.

Phyllis A. Ratcliffe, '58, is the only woman states attorney in North Dakota, having been elected as states attorney in McKenzie County. A native of Fordville, she has been in the practice of law in Watford City. In addition to law duties, she has a family to look after. She is married to Ernest F. Senne, who is attending the UND Engineer School. Professionally, she uses her maiden name.

Conrad J. Ziegler, '52, has been elected president of North Dakota States Attorney Association. He is states attorney for Pierce County, is married and has ten children.

Ted Weisenburger, '56, and Larry Kraft, '64, have been named as assistant states attorney by Dale H. Jensen, '55, Burleigh county states attorney.

M. F. Peterson, '55, North Dakota's superintendent of public instruction, is the president-elect of the Council of Chief State School Officers. He will be elevated to the presidency next November when the 1967 convention will be held in Puerto Rico. The council includes the commissioners and superintendents of the 50 states and territories who are in charge of elementary and secondary school systems.

Vernon D. Hauck, '27, has been transferred from the Kennedy Space Center to Fort Lauderdale, where he will be in charge of a multi-million dollar construction project for the Avionics Products department of Bendix Radio Division. Hauck has been with Bendix since 1937, is married and has three children.

Edwin O. Bookwalter, '26, has retired after more than 30 years service with the Internal Revenue Service. He was director of the St. Louis district, where he began his IRS service in 1935. He is married and has two daughters.

Jerome Opland, '65, is a programmer for Control Data in St. Paul and makes his home in Coon Rapids, Minn. His wife, the former Jane Laske, '64, and he have one son.

Sioux Windup Great Grid Season

The 1966 football season is now in the record books as one of the greatest in University athletic history, capped with a Sioux win over Parsons College of Iowa in the Pecan Bowl game.

The Sioux had a 7-2 regular season record and were consistently ranked high in the nation among the small colleges. The 32-24 win over Parsons College was televised from Abilene, Tex., to 17 television stations in the midwest and brought excellent publicity to the University and to North Dakota.

Corey Colehour, Sioux quarterback, broke NCC records like fragile china and rewrote the record book for the Pecan Bowl classic.

Roger Bonk, Sioux stellar defensive performer, was selected as a Little All-American. The entire squad was praised for their performances and Coach Marv Helling says that they are one of the finest collections of young men on any team.

UND alumni everywhere can take great pride in the Sioux football team. Several of the players have been receiving attention from the professional football scouts and it appears that you'll be watching some Sioux alumni in pro games next fall.

The UND basketball and hockey teams are now in full-swing and both have made impressive starts. The hockey team won five consecutive league games before losing a close contest to Denver. Coach Bill Selman has a young fast-skating team that has captivated the fans, while Bill Fitch's high-flying basketball team has been performing well against major opponents, including a 93-92 defeat of previously unbeaten, nationally rated Loyola of Chicago.

Seek Sioux Award Nominations

Each year the UND Alumni Association honors a limited number of outstanding alumni with the Sioux Award Presentation. The final selection of the alumni being so honored is made by the UND Alumni Citations Committee.

Three outstanding alumni are being honored with Sioux Awards at the Camelback Inn Reunion. The next presentation will be made at the UND Homecoming in the fall.

The Citations Committee is seeking nominations for these awards. A form for that purpose is included in this issue of the ALUMNI REVIEW. It should be mailed to: UND CITATIONS COMMITTEE, c/o UND Alumni Office, University of North Dakota, Grand Forks, N. Dak. 58201.

Library Seeks Past Issues

The Chester Fritz Library at the University of North Dakota is seeking certain past issues of the Dakota Student to complete its files in preparation for microfilming the campus newspaper, announced Donald J. Pearce, head librarian.

"The microfilming will be done to preserve the campus newspaper for future readers since the Library's file is beginning to deteriorate to the point that it may be a complete loss before long," Pearce explained. "In preparing for this project, we find that some of the earlier issues of the Dakota Student are either missing or damaged and we would be pleased to know of anyone who may have the issues we need." He noted that they could be donated to the library or loaned for the period of the microfilming project.

Issues of the Student which are needed are: Jan. 1892; Oct. 1, 1908; Oct. 8, 1915; Feb. 18, 1916; June 9, 1916; Oct. 19, 1917 through June 7, 1918; Sept. 26, 1919; Oct. 3, 1919; March 12, 1920; June 15, 1920; Oct. 1, 1920; Oct. 8, 1920; Feb. 2, 1921; Feb. 22, 1922; March 1, 1922, Dec. 6, 1922; March 21, 1923; Dec. 7, 1928; Dec. 3, 1937; March 11, 1938; March 25, 1938; and April 22, 1938.
