Enrollment Parallels '54 Term

Registration Rush

Lines were forming to right and left this week as summer session registration moved steadily ahead. Above is the "front end" of one of the most important lines—in the Registrar's office. Shown registering, from left to right, are Walter Johnson, Shirley Jones, Lloyd Holsinger and Robert Giles. Assisting them are staff members, Connie Auran and Mary Butler.

Peanuts, Ice Cream Too!

Coffee Hour Big Event Monday

Peanuts, colored ice cream for the youngsters; tea and coffee for the oldsters—plus all the trimmings—have been lined up for the opening social affair of the summer session.

The event is the annual "get acquainted" coffee hour, scheduled from 4 to 5 p. m. Monday in the Student Union.

Students and faculty members, their wives and children (of any and all ages) are invited and urged to attend. The event scored a "big hit" last year, the Recreation staff recalls.

Baby sitters in specially assigned rooms of the Union will be on hand to take care of smaller youngsters, with special entertainment for older children.

Hostesses for the party will be members of the University Wives and Women Associates.

624 Total Includes 300 Grad Students; More Still Coming

Summer session enrollment had reached 624 students as classes for the eight-weeks term opened Thursday.

This total was almost exactly the same as last year, when registration stood at 623 at the same time.

Of the students enrolling Wednesday and Thursday this year, 484 were men and 140 were women. Thus, the usual 4 to 1 ratio of other years was being continued.

Graduate enrollment again topped the 300 mark, Miss McKenzie stated.

Summer Session Director Daryle E. Keefer termed the registration picture "highly encouraging" in the face of family housing problems encountered this year due to the dismantling of a substantial proportion of Park Village.

Late registration is continuing.

Total enrollment at the 1954 summer session topped 900.

Classes to Meet Twice on Saturdays

To properly round out the coursework of the summer term, Saturday classes are scheduled tomorrow and June 25, the session director announces. All other Saturdays are free of regular class meetings.

AT CAMP CARSON

Eight members of the Army ROTC instructional staff, headed by Lt. Col. J. C. Cougil, as well as many of the junior cadets, are in training this summer at Camp Carson, Colo.

Editorial:

It's All Here for You

Welcome to the "air conditioned" campus of the University of North Dakota!

Well, maybe it isn't 70 degrees cool ALL of the time, but the record of the past few years has been definitely on the comfortable side.

Planners of the summer session will tell you, of course, that the weather is just one of the minor details that they take care of in mapping this intensive eight weeks of study.

And there are hundreds of details—for nothing is left to chance in making UND's summer semester the important part of the educational picture that has come to be.

Care is taken to see that all of the most vital courses are included in the curriculum in order to make the session of top value to the busy students who come here to further their education.

But the planners know that the classroom isn't the whole answer—so a full recreation schedule, meetings of cultural and educational merit and many other activities are planned as well.

It's all here for you, the student, take it all in the proper amounts and a highly successful summer is guaranteed for you all.

Over on the Coulee bank, they're going to furnish equipment for every sport except one. For sun bathing, you have to bring your own equipment!

Causing quite a bit of comment was the family of toadstools (do toadstools come in families? or maybe they were muchrooms!) which was growing directly east of the southeast entrance to Merrifield. Buildings and Grounds however, unmercifully, cut 'em down.

Missed any meals lately? Play Director Andy Kochman is looking for a HUNGRY looking hombre to play the WOLF in the forthcoming production of Little Red Riding Hood. So, if you're feeling lean and mean, apply at Room 19, Merrifield, Monday.

Early arrivals at summer session were wondering a bit about all the girls around Hancock Hall, a MEN's dorm. But it was nothing to worry about—the gals were "leftovers" from Girls State. The men now have taken over again.

What every summer session should have is—a swimming pool. And this year, for the first time, we've got one. So don't pass up the chance to use it. It's open to everyone, male and female, big and small, from 4:30 to 6 p. m. daily.

Summer students have nearly every Saturday off. But not tomorrow—there's school as usual that day and again the next Saturday. And, when you're getting up for those 7:30 a. m. (yawn!) classes—remember that Monday, July 4, is a HOLIDAY (even if it is the ONLY one of the session!)

You might clip this out and paste it up somewhere: final exams are scheduled August 5 and 6.

Ed Building, Swimming Pool in Use:

New Features Added to Session

Adding "something new" to the facilities available for summer session students is getting to be a habit with UND.

A few years ago the Memorial Student Union opened its doors; a couple of years later came the Gynasium-Fieldhouse. Both added greatly to the recreational aspect of the summer term.

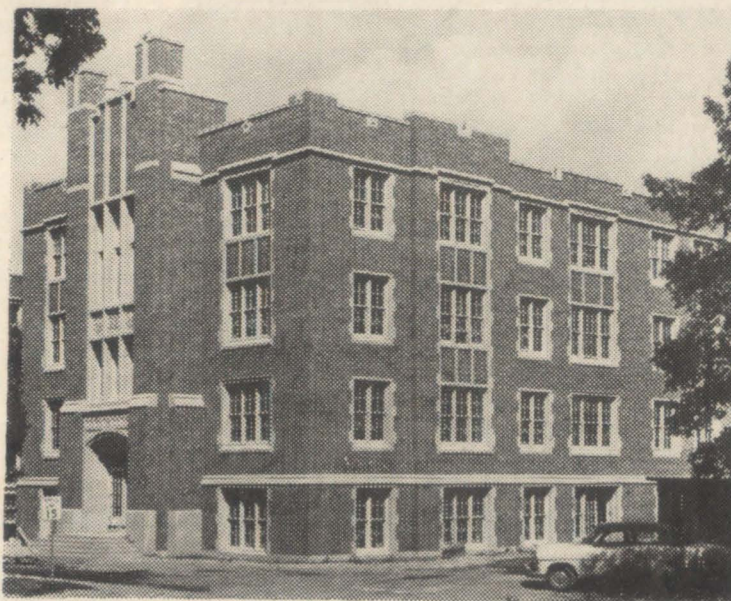

This year it's a "double feature" with the 1955 summer session scoring two big firsts—

One in the new $600,000 Education Building, due for dedication in July but fully in use in the meantime.

The other is the $80,000 swimming pool in the Fieldhouse.

Construction on the Education Building, which replaces Woodworth hall, was started in May, 1953. The work was well under way during the 1953 and 1954 summer terms, and the Education College moved into the structure last winter. Thus, the University's Education branch has its own home with all departments under one head for the first time since 1949, when Woodworth burned.

Housing the music, psychology, business education and art, as well as the Education departments, the building stresses latest developments in school building design.

School administrators and teachers are invited to inspect its latest ideas in chalkboard and seating arrangements, its natural and artificial lighting departures. Many summer school functions will take place in its auditorium seating 300 in comfortable opera chairs.

The swimming pool is certain to add greatly to the attractiveness of the summer term. For the first time, swim classes can be held right on the campus, Phy Ed staff members point out.

The pool measures 36 by 70 feet and has a maximum depth of 12 feet. It has a capacity of 144,000 gallons of water and takes about 12 hours to fill. It has a diving board and tower, guard rails and a special women's dressing room.

Ready to Open Speech Clinic

With Jay Melrose, head of the University Speech Clinic in charge, the annual summer remedial clinic for speech and hearing will get under way Monday.

An enrollment of approximately 20 is expected, advance applications indicate. Closing date for the clinic is August 3.

Assisting Melrose this summer will be Rita Roach, Fargo, a 1951 University graduate with a master's degree from Purdue University. She has been working on speech and hearing in children in the Fargo area.

All types of cases, such as delayed speech, stuttering, cleft palate and hearing loss, are accepted. The clinic will run from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily with periods of therapy, rest and recreation with counseling in groups and individually. Parent counseling for better understanding of children's defects also is scheduled.

REA MEET SATURDAY

One of the biggest meetings to be held on the campus each year comes Saturday, when 5,000 members and guests of the Nodak Rural Electric Co-operative gather in the fieldhouse for an all-day business meeting and entertainment program.

'Red Riding Hood' Selected as Play

"Little Red Riding Hood" has been selected for the summer dramatic production by A. J. Kochman, Dakota Playmaker director.

Tryouts for the roles in the play will be conducted in Room 19, Merrifield, Monday and Tuesday, starting at 4 p.m. Students and faculty members are invited to participate.

The play will be presented at all of the Grand Forks city park playgrounds later in the summer, as well as outdoors on the campus the nights of July 21 and 22.

Good News for Someone!

4 Apartment Units Available

Because of last-minute cancellations, apartment housing units for four more families are available, Housing Director Loren Swanson announced Thursday.

He urged interested summer session students to contact him at once at the Housing Office in Old Main.

While the situation has been "tight" due to heavy demand and fewer campus family dwelling units this year, the situation has been fairly well solved, Swanson said.

All housing applicants were contacted, some were placed in downtown apartments and others took dormitory rooms and left their families at home.

Dormitories open for the term are Davis, Hancock, Macnie and Johnstone on the University campus and Sayre hall, Wesley college.

Park Village Due To Move to Site West of Coulee

Park Village is scheduled to take flight—from its present site in the vicinity of Fifth avenue North and Twentieth street to an area west of the campus near the district called the Fairlawn.

First 16 of the two-family hutments will be moved this summer to make room for grounds around the new Valley Junior High School, now under construction at the Twentieth street site owned by the Grand Forks school district.

The remaining 36 units will be moved later. Cost of moving each unit, including concrete foundations, preparations of streets, light and water, is $2,000.

Initial dismantling of the Park Village units came late last summer when the actual site for the new school was cleared. Twenty units were sold by the University on bids and moved away by the purchasers.

TO MAKE STUDY

The University has been designated by the Legislative Research Committee to make a technical and actuarial study of the state old-age and survivors insurance system.

TOURNEYS PLANNED

Tourneys in tennis, golf, horse-shoes, table tennis, badminton, croquet, handball, bowling and billiards are planned for campus dwellers this summer.

55th in '55:

University First Started Summer Sessions in 1895

It's 55 in '55!

This is the fifty-fifth summer session to be held on the UND campus since the first one was conducted back in 1895.

In addition, six "winter schools"—extra sessions for teachers—were held between 1899 and 1905.

Summer enrollment has zoomed in the past decade, soaring from 373 students in 1945, immediately after World War II, to beyond the 900 mark.

All-time record was set in 1947 when 978 summer sessionites enrolled. This was approached last summer when 960 enrolled. Other "highs" were in 1949 with 947 and in 1951 with 919. Registration was well over the 800 mark four times—in '48, '50, '52 and '53.

405 GRADUATE

The University granted degrees to 405 members of the Class of '55 at its June commencement, Dr. John C. Baker, president of Ohio University, delivered the commencement address.

ALUMNUS DIES

Howard Huston, 62, a 1917 UND graduate, died recently in Truro, Mass. A former League of Nations secretariat member, he retired recently as vice president and director of American Cyanamid Co.

Drive Under Way For U Athletic Scholarship Fund

A $30,000 scholarship fund, designed to assist worthy young men who participate in the University athletic program, has been established on the campus.

Named the Clem W. Letich Memorial fund, in honor of the late, noted Sioux basketball coach, first gifts already are in and a drive is on to meet the $30,000 goal.

Sponsoring the fund is the Lettermen's club with the hope, among other things, of keeping qualified North Dakota high school athletes at their home university.

In accepting first gifts to the fund, President George W. Starcher stressed the importance of a strong athletic program in the overall University picture.

Call Off Swimming Session This Saturday

There will be NO swimming in the Fieldhouse Pool this Saturday, the Recreation staff announces. Ordinarily the pool will be open each Saturday from 2 to 3:30 p.m. However, because of the REA annual meeting Saturday in the Fieldhouse, the Saturday swimming schedule will not start until June 25. The pool will be open for family and co-recreational swimming from 4:30 to 6 p.m. daily Monday through Friday.

5 Home Games on U '55 Grid Schedule

Five home games are on the University football schedule next fall—Hamline, Sept. 17; Augustana, Sept. 24; South Dakota State, Oct. 1; Morningside, Oct. 8, and Moorhead Teachers, Oct. 22. Games away from home are Iowa Teachers, Oct. 16; NDAC, Oct. 29; Superior Teachers, Nov. 4, and South Dakota U, Nov. 12. The Morningside game Oct. 8 will be Homecoming and Dads' Day combined.

FOUNDED IN 1883

The University's founding dates back to 1883.

Visiting Members Added to Staff For '55 Session

An impressive array of visiting talent has been added to the 63 regular University staff members who make up the summer faculty.

Visiting staff members include:

Carroll D. Clark, chairman of the Sociology Department, Kansas University.

Robert Figenshaw, East Grand Forks, professional square dance expert.

Fred Hein, assistant director of health education of the American Medical Association.

Margaret Penn, former UND staff member who returns as physical education instructor.

Sigrid Rasmussen, art consultant for the Bineny Smith Co.

Perry Sandal, health education director, American Dental Society.

Opera Selected For July Showing

For the second consecutive year, a Victor Herbert light opera will be presented as the annual open-air operatic production.

The selection this year is Herbert's "Babes in Toyland," scheduled for July 28 and 29 in Riverside Park.

The University Music Department is co-operating with the city park recreational program in arranging for the production. Students and faculty members interested in participating should see Hywel C. Rowland, music department head.

The summer session orchestra, directed by John E. Howard, will play for the opera.

Art Exhibition On Display Daily

A permanent art exhibit is on display in the Art Department on the third floor of the new Education building. Summer session students, faculty members, their families and friends are invited to view the exhibit at any time during the day.

In addition, three courses are offered in Wesley College's department of religion.

Two special courses on the list this summer are the Geological field course, offered the first two weeks in September, and the Law School review course, which started June 7 and will close July 8.

Four special convocations have been booked for the entertainment of University students, faculty members and the public this summer, according to Convocation Chairman John E. Howard.

Michael Polivitz, member of the University music faculty, will present a woodwind recital July 14.

The series will be concluded July 22 with a survey of dance as an art, to be presented by Marta Becket, noted Broadway dancer of such shows as "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," "Wonderful Town" and the revival of "Showboat." She will dance to her own music and perform in costume during the program.

Convocations are slated for 10:15 a. m., with a special class schedule in effect for convo days.

Softball League Holds Organizing Session Thursday

Any group planning to form a softball team for entry in the Summer Session League should do so before next Thursday June 23, according to Arnold Bakke, summer recreation director.

The league's organizational meeting will be held at 4 p. m. in the Fieldhouse Clubroom, and representatives of organized teams as well as unattached softball players should be at that meeting, Bakke said.

Houses, dormitories or independent groups may sponsor teams in the league. All summer session students and faculty members, as well as students who attended the University during the spring semester are eligible to play.

Playing schedules and rules will be arranged at Thursday's session.

Launch Linguistic Institute Monday

The Summer Institute of Linguistics will offer courses on the University campus for the fourth year, with the term opening Monday and continuing through September 2.

Students from many parts of the United States and Canada annually attend the institute, designed to implement unwritten languages and dialects of numerous native peoples.

Special housing is being provided for the linguistic students.

VA Education Official Visits on Campus

Dr. O. Myking Mehus, who received his Ph.D. from the University in 1931, visited on the campus a week ago. He now is Veterans Administration regional vocational rehabilitation and education chief, with headquarters in Kansas City. Last summer he visited Norway, and noted great progress there.

Summer Term Has New Director of Recreation

For the first time in eight years, the campus summer recreation program has a new director.

Taking charge this year is Arnold Bakke, who replaces the veteran director, Leonard Marti.

Marti is spending the summer at the University of Iowa, working toward his doctor's degree.

But Bakke is no stranger to summer recreation activities at the U, having acted as Marti's assistant for the past three years. The program he has lined up is an extensive one, based on the "something for everyone" concept.

During the regular school year, Bakke is a member of the Grand Forks public schools' instructional staff. Next fall he becomes assistant principal of the new Lewis and Clark grade school. He received his bachelors degree in 1950 and his masters in 1952, both from the University.

Assisting Bakke with the program this summer are two graduate students, Joel McDonald, in charge of softball and other sports; and Marvin Scarr, in charge of the swimming pool. Scarr will become graduate assistant to Marti in the physical education department this fall.

Summer Student To Be Published Every Thursday

This is the first of eight editions of the Dakota Student to be published weekly during the summer term.

While the paper appears today on Friday, regular publication day for future issues will be Thursday.

The paper will be distributed each week at three places on the campus: at the Bulletin Board in the basement of Old Main, in the new Education building, and in the Student Union.

Written and edited by summer students in journalism, the Student is under the direction of A. E. Austin, Journalism department head. It is conducted as a laboratory project in school journalism, and high school publication advisers on the campus are invited to inspect the program at any time.

Contributions, in the form of news or letters to the editor, always are welcomed. They can be brought to the Journalism Office, Room 6, Merrifield, or to the University Press. Organizations and individuals are invited to make use of the semi-official "Bulletin" column for notices.

Co-editors of next week's paper will be Walter Johnson of Wahpeton and Richard Youngblood of Bowbells.

Radio Station to Move Later in Summer

A scheduled moving date for KFJM has not yet been set. S. Donald Robertson, faculty director of the UND radio station, says this decision will be reached later in the summer. According to Robertson the only current student assistant in radio is Janet Englerth. However, two brothers, Richard and Robert Lord, will be on the station announcing staff later during the summer.

STEAK FRY COMING

Save Wednesday, June 29, for the annual summer session steak-fry picnic.

Economics Staff Member Gets Research Grant

Theodore Levitt, assistant professor of economics here since 1952, has been granted a Fulbright Research Fellowship starting next October. He will do industrial research work in Germany, with headquarters at Bonn.

*Greetings from the President:Students Welcomed to U

Welcoming both new and old students to the campus for the University's fifty-fifth summer session, UND President George W. Starcher wished them a "highly profitable eight weeks of study, research and recreation."

President Starcher, himself, was starting his first summer term, although he arrived from Ohio University to succeed President West July 1 last year in time to get a good insight into the routine of the 1954 session.

He was highly impressed, he said, by the well-planned program, excellent facilities and friendly atmosphere which all contributed to the success of the summer term here.

"I hope all of you have a good summer, in an academic and every other way," the president told the students.

DR. GEORGE W. STARCHER
President Welcomes Sessionites.

Phi Delta Kappa Holds 1st Meeting
Monday Evening

Phi Delta Kappa, men's professional education fraternity, will hold its first meeting of the summer session in the auditorium of the Education building at 6 p. m. Monday.

A. J. Bjork, faculty adviser, has scheduled the meeting for the evening and announced it will be preceded by an informal dinner in the cafeteria of the Memorial Student Union at 5 p. m.

Dr. Robert Skaife, visiting professor and field secretary for the National Commission for the Defense of Democracy through the Education of the National Education Association, will be the speaker at the first meeting. He will speak on the general topic, "Pressures on Public Education."

Building Program
Due to Continue

Building progress, much in evidence on the campus since World War II, is scheduled to continue this year.

Next on the building agenda are a men's dormitory, a women's dormitory and units for married students at a total cost of $1,347,000.

The structures are to be financed by self-liquidating bonds purchased by the Bank of North Dakota at 3 per cent interest and to be paid off over a 25-year period.

Other structures built in the past eight years include two dormitories, the Student Union, the fieldhouse, engineering, education and medical buildings.

VISITS ON CAMPUS

Joseph H. Mader, former head of the University Journalism Department, was a visit on the campus. Mader, who left here in 1936, now is on the Duquesne University Journalism faculty in Pittsburgh.

Session Gets New Director

Acting as director of summer sessions for the first time this year is Dr. Daryle E. Keefer, dean of the Graduate School. He has been a member of the University faculty since 1949.

Receiving his B.A. and M.A. degrees from Ball State Teachers College, Indiana, and his Ph.D. from Northwestern, Dean Keefer has been on the staffs of Drake and New Mexico Universities and Arizona State College. He also has taught in rural and secondary schools and has had industrial vocational consultant experience.

He came to UND as dean of the Junior College and in 1951 became dean of the Graduate School.

He was on leave of absence in 1950-51 when he acted as a State Department education adviser to the government of Peru. He and Mrs. Keefer resided that year in Lima, Peru.

GRADUATION SET

This may be a bit early to be thinking about it, but Commencement exercises on Saturday, August 6, will end the summer session.

DR. DARYLE E. KEEFER
Co-ordinates session.

ICE SHOW COMING

An ice show, "Holiday on Ice," is scheduled to be staged on the artificial ice sheet in the Winter Sports building July 24 to 28.

TOURS AVAILABLE

Tours to Winnipeg, Bemidji or other points of interest will be arranged by the Recreational staff if interest is shown.
