Clifford Named 8th President of UND

20 U Alumni Serve in N. D. Legislature

Twenty members of the North Dakota State Legislature are either graduates or former students of the University of North Dakota, according to the UND Office of University Relations. The list is as complete as is currently possible on the basis of University records.

UND graduates or former students who are legislators, followed by their home town, legislative district and the highest UND degree received or dates attended UND, follow:

Senate

Francis J. Butler of Fargo, part of Cass County, attended UND 1929-30 and fall 1931; Robert Chesrown of Linton, Kidder and Emmons counties, J.D., 1931; Donald Holand of Fargo, part of Cass County, B.S. in Education, 1947; Evan Lips of Bismarck, Burleigh County, B.S. in Education, 1941.

George Longmire of Grand Forks, part of Grand Forks County, J.D., 1947; David E. Nothing of Jamestown, Stutsman County, J.D., 1963; Elton Ringsak of Grafton, part of Walsh County, B.S.C., 1937; Wayne G. Sanstead of Minot, part of Ward County, attended UND summers of 1968 and 1970; George Unruh of Grand Forks, part of Grand Forks County, J.D., 1951.

House

Myron Atkinson of Bismarck, Burleigh County, J.D., 1951; Arne Boyum of Carrington, Eddy, Foster and part of Benson counties, Ph.B., 1940; Don Halcrow of Drayton, Pembina County, attended UND 1931-32; Richard Hentges of Fargo, part of Cass County, B.S. in Business Administration, 1958.

DEAN THOMAS J. CLIFFORD will become the eighth president of the University of North Dakota on July 1, 1971, succeeding Dr. George W. Starcher. Clifford, a native of Langdon, becomes the first North Dakotan to head UND.

Alumni Days Scheduled for May 27-28

Two busy days are looming up on the spring calendar at UND, with Alumni Days scheduled on May 27-28. Special activities are planned for the 40-year and 50-year ago classes.

Activities begin at 3 p.m. on May 27, with registration and coffee with new UND President Thomas Clifford at the University Center. It will be followed with a social hour, and an Alumni Dinner for Old Timers, Sioux Award winners and Alumni Board members at Westward Ho Motel.

Friday morning opens with a meeting of the Alumni Board of Directors in Gamble Hall, while Old Timers will gather for breakfast and picture taking at 9 a.m. at University Center. At 11 a.m. Old Timers will have a bus tour of the campus.

Highlight of the day will be Alumni Awards Luncheon and Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association in Wilkerson Hall.

Members of the classes of 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924 and 1925 are urged to attend for the 50-year anniversary class, along with members of the classes of 1929, 1930, 1931 and 1932, representing the 40-year ago classes. Alan Gray is chairman for the 50-year classes, while Ruth Fletcher Legvold heads arrangements for the 40-year classes. Reservations can be made by writing the Alumni Office.

Native of State To Succeed Dr. Starcher

Dr. Thomas J. Clifford, vice president for finance at the University of North Dakota, will become the eighth president of UND on July 1, 1971, succeeding Dr. George W. Starcher, who retires this year after 17 years as president.

The selection of Dr. Clifford was made by the State Board of Higher Education in January and is unique in that he is the first native North Dakotan ever to be named president of the state's largest educational institution. Other final candidates for the position were from out-of-state.

Dr. Starcher, who was present when the selection was announced, called Dean Clifford "uniquely equipped for the tasks that lie ahead. He will find the challenge of these next few years as great and as exciting as any ever faced by this University."

As president, Clifford will receive a beginning annual salary of $30,500. Fred Orth of Grand Forks, a long-time member of the Board of Higher Education, urged Clifford's selection, with Albert Haas, board member from New Rockford, seconding the motion. Orth described Clifford as a very able administrator, while Haas expressed confidence that the newly named president would join the other able leaders of state institutions of higher learning and added, "I pray the Lord will help him get the job done, that he get it done right, and that he have a little fun doing it."

The search for a new president of UND began a year ago, immediately after Dr. Starcher announced his plans to retire. A 13-member committee was chosen by faculty,

UND COMPUTER AIDS
STATE EDUCATORS

The University of North Dakota has obtained the "Query" computer program which will enable educators in the region to scan educational documents available at UND on microfilm.

Installed by the Computer Resources Corp. of Virginia, the "Query" system uses the indexing system of the Educational Resources Information center which is located in the Chester Fritz Library on the UND campus.

REPORT from the CAMPUS

By J. LLOYD STONE

This issue of the Alumni Review will probably reach your mail box about the time that a group of Nodaks will be getting ready to embark on a 21-day tour of the Orient.

A flurry of late reservations has swelled the group total to near capacity, and all are eagerly awaiting a Bon Voyage party on March 19 in Seattle.

You'll be getting a play-by-play about the events of the tour in a future issue.

—UND—

At this writing the North Dakota Legislature is still in session, facing some real problems in securing adequate funding for higher education, as well as other vital areas.

Several members of the Alumni Association have been working long and hard at this session, and we all owe a tribute to those who serve.

—UND—

We were saddened by the death of State Senator Kenneth Lowe, a long-time member of the Legislature, who died early in February. He has been a loyal supporter of Grand Forks and the University, and this community will miss him.

—UND—

May 7 has been designated as the "official day" to recognize and pay tribute to retiring President George W. Starcher, and plans are now being made to show appreciation to George for his great leadership of UND.

If you can return to the campus on that day, you are invited to share in the tribute. There will be more details as plans are formulated.

—UND—

One of the major reunions of the New Year was held January 30 at the Palladium in Los Angeles, with more than 400 UND alumni gathering for the second annual get-together.

The Alumni program began at 6 p.m. with Judge Ed O'Connor presiding.

He introduced Miss Nancy Tangen, a sophomore at UND who is the reigning Miss North Dakota, who entertained the group with two vocal numbers. She was accompanied by Mrs. James R. Stone.

Lawrence Welk paid high praise to both young ladies and complimented them on their musical talents. Later in the evening Miss Tangen sang with the Welk Champagne Music Makers, to the delight of a crowd of several hundred visitors at the Palladium.

Judge O'Connor substituted for Welk as director of the orchestra and took a session at the drums, demonstrating his considerable abilities beyond the field of law.

I had the honor to present a book to Mr. Welk with the compliments of the Alumni Association. It was written by a Hollywood author on the subject of free enterprise and gave me the opportunity to point out that both Lawrence Welk and Jack Stewart, Sr. were prime examples of men who have succeeded under that system.

During the program Dr. Lafe Ludwig introduced members of his family, including Tish Shane of Grand Forks, while the E. E. Simmons and Ralph Rohdes of Grand Forks were introduced as having "driven a long way for dinner" in Los Angeles.

The Los Angeles reunion seems to be gathering momentum with each year and may well become the largest of any alumni session outside of Grand Forks.

Plans are now being formulated for the 1972 reunion at the Palladium, and with Ed O'Connor and his daughter, Mary as chairmen, it will be a great success.

Along with the Palladium party, there is a ground swell for an alumni reunion in January at the Hotel Del Coronado in California, that might partially replace the former Camelback Inn reunion. A UND alumni Mexican cruise is also under consideration for January, 1972.

Snow Storm Reduces Denver Crowd

A major snow storm hit Denver on the evening of the UND reunion in that city, but 100 hardy Nodaks were on hand for a post-game get-together on January 2 at the Holiday Inn, with Mrs. Peter McGraw (Jackie Byers, '59) as chairman.

Earl Strinden, assistant alumni director, and Pres. and Mrs. George Starcher were in attendance at the reunion, and at the Denver-UND hockey series. The Denver alumni presented Jim Kack with a special gift in recognition of his generous alumni support, while Tom Smith won the door prize.

Among those attending were: President and Mrs. George W. Starcher, UND; Earl Strinden, '58, UND; Coach Rube Bjorkman, UND; Trainer Tom Waugh, UND; Doug Tegtmeier, ex '48, Grand Forks; Keith Common, '57, Littleton, Colo.; Thomas J. Risan, '58, Nederland, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin M. Myhre, '60 (Loydine Gullickson, '61), Denver, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. John Councilman, '61 (Diane Ingridson, '61), Carrollton, Texas; Lowell Hegg, '65, Northglenn, Colo.; Earl D. Chaney, '59, Denver, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Gregoire, '65 (Michelle Gregorie, '71), Carrington, N.D.

Ronald Keeley, '68, Bismarck, N.D.; Reuben Reiser, ex '51, Arvada, Colo.; Marnita Cushman Oliver, ex '60, Denver, Colo.; Ben Cherski, '55, Denver, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Neil Severinson, '65 (Mary Engelstad, '65), Littleton, Colo.; William M. Buckman, '57, Denver, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kraus, '70 (Diane Pavek, '68), Denver, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Niles, '69 (Peggy Lee Bender, ex '69), Denver, Colo.; C. Daniel Breding, '65, Aurora, Colo.; Robert Torbenonson, '61, Denver, Colo.; Mrs. J. W. Nelson (Betty Hurtt, '62), Lakewood, Colo.; Allen J. Bodmer, '65, Smyrna, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Dockter, '59, '69, (E. Karen Lo, '68), Laramie, Wyo.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert E. Nicholls (Mary Ann Holte, '53), Denver, Colo.; Keith Magnusson, '68, Rollette, N.D.; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hendrickson, '65 (Karen Skarperud, '67), Arvada, Colo.; Steve Ross, '69, Golden, Colo.; Dr. Robert Ellis, '50, '52, Fort Collins, Colo.; Bob Hartman, '51, Arvada, Colo.

Don Mercy, '58, Denver, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kack, '63 (Joanne Schafer, '63), Boulder, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zimmerman, '60 (Glenda Gausen, '60); Mr. and Mrs. Peter McGraw (Jackie Beyers, '59), Arvada, Colo.; Wes Sando, '50, Englewood, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stromberg, '59 (Judy Tillett, ex '60), Denver, Colo.; Fred Gerszewski; Jack Gardner, '52, Englewood, Colo.; Tom Smith, '48, Littleton, Colo.; and Jim Carrigan, '53, Boulder, Colo.

students, alumni and administrators to screen candidates in the 163 original nominations.

A native of Langdon, N.D., Clifford is 49 years of age. He attended elementary and high schools in Langdon and entered UND receiving a bachelor of science degree in 1942 and a juris doctor degree in 1948.

He also has a masters degree in business administration from Stanford University, where he was a Stanford Executive Fellow in 1957-58. Clifford joined the UND faculty in 1945 as an instructor in accounting and business law. In 1948 he became an associate professor and assumed the rank of professor in 1949. Clifford was appointed Dean of the College of Business and Public Administration in 1950, and was elevated to vice president for finance in 1959.

Clifford is a member of the American Bar Association, the North Dakota Bar Association, the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the American Management Association, and is a past president of the North Dakota Society of CPA's. Since 1964 he has been a member of the UND Alumni Association Board of Directors and has been on the Board of Directors of the Red River National Bank in Grand Forks since 1958.

A recognition dinner on May 7 will honor Dr. George W. Starcher, who will retire June 30 as UND president. The reception and dinner will be the principal event at which the University, alumni, and community will recognize Dr. Starcher's 17 years of service. Members of the committee planning the event are Mrs. Mabel Curry, chairman; Pat Larson, assistant to the president; D. J. Robertson, dean of the University College; Dr. Henry J. Tomasek, chairman of the political science department; Dr. D. Jerome Tweton, chairman of the history department; Mark Joraanstad of Noonan, student body representative; and Gordon Caldis, alumni and community representative.

Clifford served in the U.S. Marine Corps from 1942 to 1946, moving from private to the rank of major; he participated in the campaigns in the Solomon Islands, Saipan, Tinian and Iwo Jima in the Pacific Theater, earning the Bronze Star, Purple Heart and Silver Star.

The Twin Forks Chapter of the National Secretaries Association honored him as "boss of the year" in Greater Grand Forks in 1964. He is also a former campaign manager and chairman of the United Fund of Grand Forks, a director of St. Michael's hospital, a member of the state board of trustees of Blue Cross; a director of the Northeast Mental Health and Retardation Center, chairman of the Grand Forks County Selective Service Board, a member of the North Dakota Governor's Commission on Status of Women, and a member of the Upper Midwest Research and Development Council for North Dakota.

An enthusiastic sports fan, Clifford has worked more than 1,000 basketball games as time-keeper at the UND Fieldhouse; he is an excellent handball player and is co-holder of the doubles title in North Dakota for 1970. He played football at UND as a freshman in 1938, until a knee injury ended his gridiron career.

Mrs. Clifford, the former Florence Schmidt of Ashley, N.D., met her husband-to-be while at a fraternity party at UND, and they graduated together from the University. This summer, they will move from their home on Harvard Street to the low, contemporary style President's home on the banks of the English Coulee.

A fine musician, Mrs. Clifford has studied piano extensively and has given numerous recitals. Interior decorating is one of her hobbies, along with antiquing and furniture refinishing, copper enameling, mosaic tiling, creative embroidery and cooking German dishes.

Mrs. Clifford is a member of the St. Michael's Altar Guild, North Dakota Dames Club, North Dakota Music Teachers Association, the Thursday Music Club and Sigma Alpha Iota, music honorary. She is a part-time instructor on the University music faculty.

The Cliffords have two sons, both married, and two grandsons. The family consists of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clifford, Jr., and son, Gregory Paul, of Laramie, Wyo. He is working for his Ph.D. in biology at the University of Wyoming. Stephen Clifford is a medical student at UND and has one son, Scott Stephen; Tom Clifford, Jr. received his bachelors degree from UND and masters degree from South Dakota State University. His wife is the former Linda Petrich, '66; Mrs. Stephen Clifford is the former Debby Alger (ex '68).

The naming of Clifford as the eighth president of UND drew favorable reaction from throughout North Dakota. The Fargo Forum editorial said "the elevation of Thomas J. Clifford to the presidency of the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks is indeed welcome news to those of us who think that North Dakotans are as capable as any outsider of handling the important jobs this state has to offer."

The Dakota Student, in its concluding paragraph of an editorial on Clifford, stated, "The Dakota Student has not often been considered an accurate barometer of student opinion on this campus, nor have we tried to be; that is not in keeping with our concept of what a student newspaper should be, for reasons that need not be explained here at this time. But we believe we speak today with a certain unanimity of student opinion behind us when we say this university will continue to receive in Tom Clifford the high quality leadership it has enjoyed for the past 17 years."

The Minot Daily News, noting that Clifford was the first native of North Dakota to head the University, wrote in part "Certainly the need for restraints, financial soundness and judicious planning will call for stability and common sense in the president's office. We wish for the president-elect all the acumen and strength that will be required."

The Grand Forks Herald, in an editorial headed "Hail To New Chief," said in part, "Dean Clifford will immediately be aware of the needs, problems and opportunities of the school. He will not have to be meeting a new faculty and a new governing board. As Dr. Starcher said after the announcement of his successor's selection, 'he is in many ways uniquely equipped for the tasks that lie ahead.'"

As Dr. Thomas J. Clifford received word of his appointment, he said he was "thrilled, honored, surprised, incoherent and deeply appreciative." When congratulated by Dr. Starcher, he said, "you're a tough act to follow." Clifford intends to visit with all segments of the University before taking office on July 1, and to determine a short term and long term planning process of priorities. UND has an enrollment topping 8200 (first semester), a faculty of 600 and 2,000 other employees.

When President Starcher retires on June 30, he will have served as UND president for 17 years, the third longest tenure of any UND president. His predecessor, John C. West, holds the record for longest tenure (21 years) from 1933 to 1954. Webster Merrifield also topped the Starcher tenure, heading the institution for 18 years from 1891 to 1909.

The first president of UND was William M. Maxwell, an ordained minister, who served during the first academic year, 1884-1885. He was succeeded on an acting basis by Henry Montgomery, who served for two years before Homer B. Sprague became the second UND president with a regular appointment, serving from 1887 to 1891.

Merrifield succeeded Sprague and headed the University until he resigned in 1909; Merrifield Hall is named in his honor. Frank L. McVey succeeded Merrifield, and was the first president to hold a doctorate except for Maxwell who was a doctor of divinity. In 1917, McVey resigned to become president of the University of Kentucky, holding that position for 23 years.

A member of the UND faculty for 36 years, Earle J. Babcock was named acting president after McVey, until the appointment of Thomas F. Kane, who served as UND president for 15 years, from 1919 to 1933, retiring at the age of 70.

John C. West succeeded Kane, having served as Superintendent of Schools in Grand Forks; he retired in 1954, when Dr. Starcher took over the reins of UND. During his tenure the University has made its greatest growth.

SEARCH BEGINS

The search for a new Dean of the UND College of Business and Public Administration has begun to select a successor to Dean Thomas J. Clifford, who will become president of UND on July 1. The committee is headed by R. D. Koppenhaver, chairman of the UND accounting department, who hopes to have a replacement by July 1.

LOS ANGELES REUNION

A crowd of more than 400 UND alumni and friends assembled at the Palladium in Los Angeles on January 30 for the Southern California reunion, highlighted with a program featuring Lawrence Welk, famed orchestra leader.

Ed O'Connor, Federal judge in California, was chairman of the event and master of ceremonies for a program that included a presentation to Welk by J. Lloyd Stone, executive vice president of the Alumni Association, introduction of several guests and two musical numbers by Miss North Dakota Nancy Tangen, a student at UND.

The success of the Palladium Party has caused an expansion of plans for the reunion, which includes a four-day relaxation and refreshment at the Hotel Del Coronado, Coronado, California. Sixty guest rooms have been assigned for January 13-16, 1972, with an anticipated capacity of 120 persons.

Preliminary plans include a Thursday night dinner, a Saturday evening banquet and an alumni golf tournament on Saturday at Coronado Golf Course.

Also anticipated is an Alumni tour of Mexico, between the California events. The details will be announced in future issues of the Alumni Review.

Among those attending the Los Angeles reunion were:

30,484 IN COLLEGE

A total of 30,484 students were enrolled last fall in North Dakota colleges and universities, placing North Dakota 43rd among the states in total enrollment. The total enrollment is more than 8.5 million for all states and U.S. possessions and service schools. Largest institution of higher learning in the state, UND enrollment was 8,129 students last fall.

SANTA BARBARA REUNION

An enthusiastic group of UND alumni and friends joined for an enjoyable evening in Santa Barbara in February, with Mrs. Margaret Remde (Margaret Durmin '24) as chairman.

J. Lloyd Stone, executive vice president of the Alumni Association, brought the group an up-date on progress at UND, while the alumni present made several talks.

Among those attending were:

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Baldner, '51; Alexander I. Heltne, ex '21; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stone; Ted Toggstad, '44; Mr. and Mrs. Thompson E. West (Joan Gillanders, '46); Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Johnson, '36; Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Olson, '57 (Ann James, '57), and J. Lloyd Stone, '30.

COMBINE PARENTS, HONOR AND GOVERNORS DAYS AT UND

An activity-filled week-end for students, parents and visitors is slated April 2-3 at UND with three traditional events combined for the two-day schedule.

Parents Day, Governor's Day and Honors Day are all annual events that have been scheduled on separate dates; however, they are being combined on April 2-3 to make it more convenient for participants and parents in a compact schedule.

The Governor's Luncheon will be held at noon, April 2, followed by the ROTC Review and Award ceremony, with Gov. William Guy as reviewing officer. The Honors Day convocation will be held at 8 p.m. on that day.

Parents Day is April 3, and includes receptions, campus tours, the Women's Sing and the Parents Day luncheon.

ALUMNUS RETURNS

Dr. Gordon Haiberg, a psychiatrist in Sacramento and a 1952 UND graduate, returned to the campus in December for a lecture on transactional analysis.

Virginia, Delaware Lead States in Fund Drive

Spring and the UND Development Fund seem to go hand-in-hand.

A bright sun is melting the snow banks on the campus, helping make the transition from winter to spring, even to the expectations of a possible flood of the Red River Valley.

A steady stream of contributors to the UND Development Fund is helping achieve a record goal of support for scholarships, faculty grants and other University assistance. And while the threat of a flood of the Red River is causing concern, there is optimism that an equal flood of late spring contributors will assure the complete success of the 1970-1971 Development Fund.

State Captains have been busy throughout the nation, and many are in the midst of winding up individual state campaigns. Ed Franta, '27, National Chairman, expressed appreciation at the wonderful cooperation of the state chairmen, indicating that they were the "key-men" in the success of the campaign.

Virginia is heading the 25 states with 200 or more UND alumni residents, while Delaware is in front of the 28 states and foreign countries with fewer than 200 UND alumni residents. Maryland, Pennsylvania, Missouri and Arizona are close behind Virginia. Alabama, Arkansas, Hawaii Georgia and Nevada are pushing Delaware for the first position. A final report will be published in the summer Alumni Review showing the state winners in the two divisions.

A special competition is underway in North Dakota among the major cities of the state, under the chairmanship of Jim Ferguson, '49. Art Robertson, who is chairman for Maryland, has augmented his team with some co-chairmen, including Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hale, '53 (Elaine Behl, '53); Edmund Grady, '34; Donald Squires, '35; Dave L. Anderson, '49; Mrs. Yensen (Lucille Simpson, '38); John Disher,

'43; Laurin Knutson, '43; Clarence Slater, '21; Col. Gilbert Check, '34; Fred O'Berg, '42; Louise Gillette (Louise Page, '25); Wilbur Fast, ex '51; Kay Litterall (Kay Olsen, '37); Fritz Pollard, '39; and Victor Rykken, '41.
