Steak Fry Next Big U Event

160 Educators at Conference

These were scenes at this week's Business Education Conference, attended by 160 persons. Shown registering in the top picture are, left to right: V. A. Musselman, University of Kentucky; Marilyn Johnson, Hallock; Mrs. Lillian Anderson, Fargo; and B. F. Addy, Winnipeg. Helping with registration were Alice Boen and Marianne Knudsen, both of Grand Forks. In the lower pictures, Miss Ethel Heller of Grand Forks pours coffee for Sister Laurentia and Sister Emmanuel, both of Crookston, at the beginning of the conference.

Schedule Family Buffet Supper In Union Tonight

The summer recreation schedule goes into its "main phase" during the coming week, with two big events scheduled.

First on the schedule is a family buffet supper this evening, to be followed Wednesday by the annual all-University steak fry.

University students and faculty members and their families are urged to attend both the supper to be served from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. today in the Student Union and the steak fry Wednesday on the University picnic grounds, across the English Coulee.

Prices for the buffet are a dollar for adults and 50 cents for children. Entertainment and background music will be presented.

Charcoal-broiled steaks will be served with all the trimmings by the Student Union staff at the steak fry—long a tradition of UND summer terms.

Tickets for the picnic will go on sale Friday at the Student Union Information desk, the Business Office, or Room 118 in the Fieldhouse. Prices are $1.10 for adults and 60 cents for children. In case of rain the affair will be held in the Fieldhouse.

Education Group Discusses Research Project Topics

Educational research was the topic when Alpha Theta chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, men's professional education fraternity, held its first meeting of the summer Wednesday. The group outlined several types of research it would like to see done in education.

The next session is scheduled at 6 p.m. Monday in the Union.

16 Resign from Faculty:

Add 11 to University Staff

Eleven new instructors have accepted positions on the University faculty for the fall of 1956. Sixteen present staff members have resigned to accept other positions. The list was released by the President's Office.

Supplemental additions to departments are: Michael Abrahams, Engineering Drawing, M.A. from Michigan State; Edward F. Calahan, Instructor in English, A.B. and M.A. from Boston College; and Walter Pearson, Instructor in Philosophy, B.A. from Harvard and M.A. from Cornell.

Replacements are: Roger Brandt, Instructor in Electrical Engineering, B.S.E.E. from UND; for Maurice Stoughton; Arthur A. Done, Instructor in Marketing, M.B.A. from the University of Utah, for Frank Johnson; William E. Stiles, Assistant in Chemistry, B.A. from UND, for Shirley Kazeck; Milton E. Winger, Instructor in Mathematics, # Hit Those Books Now!

There is a rather general misconception prevalent among many summer session students, particularly those who are attending the "extra semester" for the first time. The fallacious assumption accepted by these students, who have never experienced the rigors of summer school, is simply that educational methods and motives are expedited to the point where, employing the college vernacular, summer school is "a snap", when compared with the lengthier regular semesters.

Comparatively short registration lines, eight weeks of classes, a couple of days for finals and it's all over. That's just it—it's all over. Too soon for comfort, the yellow slips with those little round holes in the wrong places are mailed, and before you can say, "I go Pogo", you've flunked a "snap" course.

How can anyone possibly conceive summer school to be easy, when subject matter ordinarily devoted to a period exceeding four months is allocated to less than half that time? And don't kid yourself; the majority of instructors cover the material just as thoroughly and, consequently, much more intensively than is done during regular semesters.

The predominant factor explaining summer school study difficulties is the student's laxity during the first few weeks of classes. The realization that the first few weeks constitute half of the course program does not dawn until the whole situation has gotten out of hand. Add to this the torrid summer temperatures uncondusive to late "cramming" and the situation is poignantly evident.

The solution to the problem seems rather obvious. Bear down at the very start, keep pace with the course schedule and the summer will terminate smoothly. Unless early procrastination is avoided, disillusionment may rear its ugly head.—J.K.C.

Campus Banter

By the Staff

A University professor tells this one on himself: In the process of receiving a penicillin shot at the infirmary, he felt that the girl went to excessive lengths to make the project unnecessarily painful. Deciding that he'd seen her somewhere before and inquiring about it, she replied, "Yes, you flunked me in a course last semester."

x x x

For anyone wondering what that "I'm for Me First" button circulating the campus means, an explanation. It is the slogan of the ME FIRST PARTY, a grass roots movement of greed, corruption and subversiveness which will sweep the country in November.

x x x

Observing the lack of femininity on campus (in numbers, that is), we have come to the sad conclusion that the summer school sex-ratio is even more deplorable than that encountered during regular semesters. Sache la femme is an optimistic project here.

x x x

Another big group of "outsiders" is meeting on the campus today. Red River Valley Potato Growers swarmed into the Fieldhouse for their annual meeting this morning, and are eating their meals in the Union.

x x x

Secretarial slip:

A gal in the Alumni Office made a slight error in typing. She had planned to write "North Dakota ALUMS"—but it came out: "North Dakota SLUMS."

x x x

Happy note — only 30 days of classes before finals.

Enrollment is still open for the night classes in painting and water coloring, according to Miss Isabel Snelgrove, head of the University Art Department. Classes meet nightly from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

Mrs. Harrington, Former U Staff Member, Dies

Mrs. Alberta A. Harrington, 71, who joined the University staff as assistant professor in the Wesley College music department, died in a Grand Forks hospital Saturday after a brief illness. Funeral services were held Tuesday.

Mrs. Harrington was the widow of the late Dean L. C. Harrington of the University College of Engineering who died in 1951. She was a leader in Grand Forks music circles, both as an organist and as a teacher of organ music.

She was born February 23, 1885, in Shelburne Falls, Mass. She was married to Dean Harrington in 1912, and they came to Grand Forks from Boston in 1917. She was a graduate of New England conservatory of music in Boston.

She belonged to the Zonta Club, PEO, North Dakota Dames, University Faculty Wives, Sigma Alpha Iota, Community Music Assn., Franklin Club, Thursday Music Club and the Grand Forks Country Club.

'Jazz Singer' Second Film On Tuesday Night Schedule

"Jazz Singer" will be the second movie of the motion picture program presented in the Union ballroom Tuesday evening. The production which stars Danny Thomas and Peggy Lee will begin at 7:30 p.m. and the admission charge is 20 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. The son of a Jewish cantor, Danny Thomas leaves home against his father's wish for a singing career on Broadway where he meets Peggy Lee. Highlighting the musical are such songs as "Lullaby" and "Lover."

Doctoral Degree Candidates Should Take Examination

All students who plan to work toward a doctoral degree and who have taken the diagnostic examinations should contact the Graduate School office immediately.

International Music Camp Scheduled at Peace Garden

An International High School Music Camp, the first of its kind in the upper mid-west, will be held July 1-8 at the International Peace Garden, 13 miles north of Dunseith, North Dakota.

Affiliated with the University of North Dakota, the music camp was organized to provide an opportunity for music students and directors of the upper-midwestern states and the provinces of Canada to participate in a fully accredited music camp and receive instruction from some of the leading educators in the country.

The music group will be headed by camp director Dr. Merton Utgaard, Ball State College, Indiana, and program director Marvin W. Field of Indiana University. Professor John E. Howard, University of North Dakota music director, will supervise graduate work.

Other staff members include: Bert Skakoon, personnel director from Carrington, North Dakota; and guest directors — Prof. Al G. Wright, Purdue University, Prof. William A. Euren, North Dakota Agricultural College, Prof. Lawrence M. Hahn, Minot State Teachers College, and Prof. A. L. Froemke, Valley City State Teachers College.

Twirling instructor will be twirling coach Miss Marilyn Shock of Ball State Teachers College. Ernest Broox will have charge of the brass instruction while William Zesiger of Devils Lake will offer instructions on percussion instruments.

Camp registration will begin on Sunday, July 1, followed by a full week of activities and instructional services for band students, twirlers and instrumental directors.

Activities scheduled for high school students include concert band, small ensembles, private lessons, basic theory classes, twirling classes, trips and excursions, recreation and fellowship.

For the band directors there are seminar discussions, reading of new material, conducting classes, private lessons, graduate credit, marching band clinics and recreation and fellowship. In addition, two semester hours of graduate or undergraduate credit, granted by the University of North Dakota, may be earned by directors attending these lessons.

The camp will also feature a good will tour into Canada sometime during the week as well as a patriotic band concert July 4 and a final grand concert Sunday, July 8. Both concerts will be open to the public.

Invite Faculty Men To Smoker Monday

All men faculty members are invited to a smoker Monday at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Lounge, according to Prof. Raymond P. Harris of the education department, who is in charge of the event. Dale M. Reipe of the philosophy department is assisting Harris with the arrangements.

The smoker, which was held for the first time last year, is an informal affair with free cigars and cigarettes. Card playing and discussions will be the evening's entertainment.

238 Vets Register For Summer Session

A total of 238 veterans have registered thus far for the 1956 summer session, according to Miss Lessel Abbott, supervisor of the University Veteran's Office.

These figures, which compare to a total of 327 last year, are not complete, as yet.

Of the total, 208 are Public Law No. 550 (Korean) and 30 Public Law No. 346 (World War II) veterans.

Miss Abbott said that this will be the last educational subsistence granted to World War II veterans, since benefits are scheduled to cease July 25 this year under provisions of the original GI Bill.

Geologist Lectures On Israel Resources To UND Audience

Asher S. Braunfeld, noted geologist and head of the quarries' section of the Israel Ministry of development, visited the University campus Wednesday.

Braunfeld delivered three lectures, speaking on "Desert Life in Israel," Israel — Story of eight Years of Development" and "King Solomon's Mines."

Born in Amsterdam, Netherlands, Braunfeld is a graduate of Kings College of the University of London, where he obtained a degree in geology. He then specialized in oil geology, geophysics and mineral prospecting at Imperial College, London, and at the Royal School of Mines, London.

Braunfeld settled in Israel in 1950 and has spent most of his time in the Negev Desert as a geologist supervising water drilling, exploring for minerals and doing kaolin research.

He was appointed to his present position in 1954. He has been employed by the United Nations.

Former U Staffer Gets National Post

Mrs. M. Adeline Olson, former assistant professor of business education, has been elected national treasurer of Pi Lambda Theta, honorary education association for women.

Mrs. Olson has been active in Pi Lambda Theta since 1954. She was chairman of the advisory board for the University chapter from 1949 to 1952 and again is adviser for 1955 to 1958.

She is a life member of the Grand Forks alumnae chapter of Pi Lambda Theta and has served for two years on the national loan fund board. She resigned this spring after nine years on the University faculty.

Her two-year term as national treasurer will begin July 1 and she will attend a national board meeting August 21 to 25 in Washington, D. C.

Aspiring Thespians

Baudette, Minn.; and director Henry G. Lee. Performances of the farce-comedy, which will be done in arena style, are scheduled for July 18 and 19 in the Student Union ballroom.

11 Added to University Staff

M.S. from UND, for Duane Wentworth.

James O. Whittaker, Assistant Professor of Psychology, M.A. from the University of Pennsylvania, for Dr. Homer Reed, who is leaving to accept a post at Florida State University; Dorothy Lucker, Assistant Professor of English, M.A. from Columbia and Ph.D. from the University of Texas, replacing Dr. Donald Murray, who goes to Northern Illinois State Teachers College.

Robert S. Hill, Assistant Professor of Political Science, M.A. from the University of Chicago, for Dr. Ross Talbot, who will be on leave; and Roy H. Jorgenson, Assistant Professor of Education and Director of the Teacher Placement Office, M.A. from Northwestern and Ed.D. from Wyoming, replaces Dr. Erich Selke, who retires in August.

Additional faculty members who are leaving, but for whom replacements have not as yet been employed, are: Mildred Davis, Associate Professor of Home Economics, who has accepted the position as Food Service Director at Downer College in Milwaukee; A. L. Lincoln, Professor of Social Work, to become Director of the Kent School of Social Work at Louisville.

Jay Melrose, Assistant Professor of Speech, for Queens College, New York; M. Adeline Olson, Assistant Professor of Business Education, who has accepted position as Head of the Business Education Department at Mayville Teachers College; Harlan L. Papenfuss, Assistant Professor of Pathology, for University of Nebraska.

John A. Staples, Associate Professor of Accounting, to enter private industry; Abbas Youstri, Instructor in Economics, who will join his family in Egypt; and F. P. Kroeger, Instructor in English, for Flint Junior College in Michigan.

Girls State Award Winners Select UND

Two members of the Girls State Alumnae Assn. who won $100 advanced scholarships both plan to use the awards to further their education at the University of North Dakota. The girls are Arlayne Helen Larson, who will be a junior at UND next fall, and Gayle Audrey Becker, who will enter as a freshman. Both are from Grand Forks and were on the staff of Flickertales, the Girls State paper, during the recent session on campus.

BIKES AVAILABLE

Students and staff members interested in bicycling may make arrangements for checking out bikes at the Fieldhouse.

160 from 14 States, Canada At Business Ed Conference

With 160 delegates from fourteen states, Alaska, and Canada attending, the eighth annual International Business Education Conference was brought to a successful conclusion on the campus Tuesday.

Conference registrants came from North and South Dakota, Montana, Minnesota, Oklahoma, Illinois, Iowa, Oregon, California, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Wyoming, Connecticut, Alaska and Manitoba.

Improvement of instruction was the general theme of the two-day conference discussions, with Dr. D. D. Lessenberry of the University of Pittsburg and Dr. Vernon Musselman of the University of Kentucky as principal speakers. The former lectured and led discussions on skill subject instruction, and the latter on business subject teaching.

Speaking at general sessions were Mr. John Beaumont, Supervisor of Business Education, State of Illinois, on recent trends in distributive education and Miss Grace Phelan, former world's amateur champion typist, on newer techniques in the development of speed and accuracy in typewriting.

In charge of the conference were John L. Rowe, chairman of the University business education department, and Dorothy L. Travis, O.M. Hager and Margaret L. Barr of the department faculty. Marvin Devin of Grafton handled banquet tickets and Alice Boen of Grand Forks was in charge of registration. Others assisting in registration were Marianne Knudsen, Mrs. Gene Tang, and Duane Lokken.

Establish 3 Special Follies Scholarships

Allocating of profits of the 1956 Flickertail Follies was completed this week with the establishment of three $100 special Follies scholarships.

The scholarships will be awarded to high ranking North Dakota high school seniors who elect to enroll at the University next fall as freshmen. The University Scholarship Committee, of which Prof. Walter E. Kaloupek is chairman, will select the recipients.

Other allocations from the Follies Worthy Cause Fund this year included $1,000 to the Student Union Hob Nob fund for use in financing recreational projects; $472.96 to the Union maintenance fund; $200 to the University Development fund; and $325 for the Follies film, used in University public relations.

This year's contribution brings the total given to the Union by the Follies in the past ten years to more than $15,000. The Development Fund donation now stands at $1,000.

Dr. Kelley to Deliver Faculty Lecture July 11

There will be one lecture of the Faculty Lecture Series during the summer session.

Dr. Samuel C. Kelly, Jr. will present a paper on "Science and Welfare" on Wednesday, July 11 at 8 p.m. in the Auditorium of the Education building.

44 Children Enroll For Swim Classes

Forty-four children of University students and staff members had enrolled in swimming classes when instruction started Wednesday morning at the Fieldhouse pool.

More enrollees still can be handled in the four classes, said Marvin Skaar, in charge of the program. Age limits are from 7 to 15 years.

Two classes for beginners have been organized, one from 9 to 9:45 a.m., the second from 9:45 to 10:30 a.m. Instruction for intermediates and swimmers is given from 11:15 to noon.

A $5 charge for 20 lessons has been set, and those enrolling should pay the fee at the University business Office and bring the receipt in reporting to the pool.

Allow Use of Rent Money to Pay Loan

The University of North Dakota can use money gained from rent of its hutments to pay off a loan to move the hutments from Park Village to West Green, according to a ruling by Atty. Gen. Burgum.

The State Board of Higher Education requested the option. $54,000 will be borrowed from the Bank of North Dakota and will be paid back with future revenue from the hutments, said UND business manager E. W. Olson.

There are 74 family units to be moved from Park Village, which is property of the Grand Forks school board and is needed for Valley Junior High School recreation space, Olson said. The huts will be moved to West Green, a new veterans housing development west of the University campus, where slabs already have been poured and roads graded.

42 ACCEPT POSITIONS

Forty-two 1956 University graduates have been placed in teaching jobs, according to Dr. Erich Selke, teacher placement director.

U Freshman Granted Operatic Interview

Robert Mack Miller of Grand Forks, University Freshman, has been granted an interview this summer with Dr. Elmer Nagy, New York expert in operatic production. The interview is to take place in Central City, Colo., where Nagy will be staging productions as part of the annual Opera Festival this summer. The audition was arranged for Miller by Miss Sylvia Bagley, his voice instructor, because of the knowledge displayed by Miller in the area of operatic stage-design and costuming. Miller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller, Grand Forks.

FIELDHOUSE AVAILABLE

The Fieldhouse is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily for sports activities.

'Good Time Had by All'

Annual Coffee Hour Termed Big Success With 100 Attending

With 50 adults and nearly that many children attending, the sixth annual "get-acquainted" coffee hour Monday was once more a huge success.

Held in the Red River Valley Room of the Student Union, the event had University wives and women associates presiding with Mrs. Peter Munch, president of the group in charge. L. R. Marti, director of the summer session, arranged the get-together.

The Ridge Room was the scene of a program for the children of the students and faculty members. Under the supervision of baby sitters, the children saw a movie and received ice cream and other refreshments.

Graduate Club Sets June 28 Meeting

The University Graduate Club will hold its first meeting of the summer session June 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Red River Room of the Student Union, announced Dean Daryle E. Keefer, advisor of the club.

Dr. Robert Chapman of the Rand Corporation, Santa Monica, Calif., will give a general talk on psychology and a film will be shown on the various types of research now being developed.

Chapman is the director of psychological research at the Rand Corporation. The purpose of the corporation is to furnish money for any psychological or team research benefiting humanity.

Dean Keefer said that anyone interested, including faculty members, students, wives and friends, is invited.

IN MINNEAPOLIS

Dr. Walter E. Kaloupek, head of the political science department, is attending Minnesota Girls State in Minneapolis.

Registration Reaches 792

Dean Keefer's office reported that 792 students had been processed through the third day of registration as compared with 770 at the same time last summer. Graduate enrollment has already surpassed last year's total with 405 registered so far.

Total enrollment is expected to parallel last year's enrollment of 919, when sessionites to the Summer Institute of Linguistics and returnees from the National Guard camp register, according to Dean Keefer.

The Graduate Division maintained the highest enrollment. Totals for other schools are: Science Literature and Arts, 14; University College, 20; Education, 93; Business-Administration, 88; Engineering, 16; School of Nursing, 26; unclassified, 29; and special, 1.

Dean Keefer, director of the summer session, termed the enrollment

"highly encouraging in view of the good employment conditions prevalent in the immediate vicinity."

Complete summer session registration figures will be released as soon as they are available.

Seminar Held on Campus For Music Educators

A seminar for music educators was held on the University campus Tuesday with Dr. John C. Kendel, vice president of the American Music Conference, in charge.

Dr. Kendel is past president of the Music Educators National Conference. He has been state supervisor of Michigan and head of the music department of Colorado State Teachers College.

The topic of his address was "Long Hair, Short Hair, It Still is Music."

Middle Eastern Expert to Speak At Next Convo

"The Boiling Caldron of the Middle East" will be the topic of a lecture by Dr. Emil Lengyel, noted educator, author, and authority on Middle Eastern culture and politics, Thursday, June 28, at the Student Union Ballroom.

A leading interpreter of world affairs for more than a quarter of a century, Dr. Lengyel is a prolific writer and has written many books on the Middle East as well as translating several books from French, German and Hungarian into English.

Born in Budapest, Hungary, Lengyel served in the Austro-Hungarian Army during the first war and was taken prisoner by the Russians. Following repatriation by a medical mission, Lengyel resumed his education culminating with the degree of Doctor Juris Universis at the Royal Hungarian University.

In 1921 he came to the United States to cover the disarmament conference and in his own words, "It was love at first sight." He stayed, and in the past twenty years he has been a teacher, a foreign correspondent for the New York Times, This Week Magazine, the Toronto Star Weekly and many others. At present he is at New York University.

The class schedule the morning of convocation will be as follows:

Period I: 7:30 to 8:15

Period II: 8:25 to 9:10

Period III: 9:20 to 10:05

Convocation: 10:15 to 11:05

Period IV: 11:15 to 12:00

July 11 Exams Slated For M. Ed. Candidates

Candidates for Master's Degrees in Education are required to take the English Proficiency test at 3:20 p.m., July 11 in the auditorium of the Education Building. The test will be given by Dr. Herman Buegel of the Psychology Department and Dr. A. J. Bjork of the Education Department.

Summer Softball League To Be Organized Today

Softball activity will get under way this afternoon at an organization meeting of team representatives at 4 p.m. at the Fieldhouse-Gymnasium Clubroom, according to L. R. Marti, director of summer school recreation.

Teams may be sponsored by any house, dormitory, or independent group with summer school students, faculty members and students who attended the University in the spring of 1956 eligible to participate. Any person interested in playing who has no team affiliation should attend today's meeting.

In past years four to six teams have participated in the sport and a double round robin schedule operated. Winners were determined on a percentage basis.

Registration Open In Drivers Course

Students wishing to take a course in Driver's Education may register Saturday at 8 p.m. at Dean Cushman's office in the education building, according to A. B. Holm, instructor from Mayville State Teacher's College, who will be in charge.

Classes will meet all day on June 23, July 11 and 14. Upon completion of the three-credit course, students will receive certificates enabling them to teach Driver's Education in secondary schools.

Art Department Now Showing Travel Posters

A display of travel posters from all over the world are now on exhibit on the third floor of the Education Building. The collection has been loaned to the Art Department by Harvey Jacobson, a graduate student. Two new oil paintings given to the University by Lawrence R. McCoy, who appeared on the campus during Fine Arts Week also are on display.

Campus Poll:

What Students Are Thinking

QUESTION: In view of his illnesses, do you think President Eisenhower SHOULD run for re-election and WHY?

Helge Buen, Junior in SLA: "As a Republican, I think he should run because, if he doesn't, the Democrats will win. However, it will probably leave him little time for golf, which will be a big disappointment to me."

Quentin Haraldson, Sophomore in SLA: "I don't think his health should alter his decision to run, as this illness is obviously separate from his heart condition. Eisenhower is an ethical man and would not conceal facts from the public."

Jan Englerth, Senior in SLA: "I think he should run. His health should have no bearing on the campaign, but it will because of the adverse publicity, which has been and will continue to be used by the Democrats as an election weapon."

Ann James, junior in SLA: "I think Eisenhower, will run again. There just isn't any other Republican candidate who could win the election."

Allen Ketterling, senior in Commerce: "Eisenhower will definitely run. He has too much pressure on him to make him reverse his previous decision."

Joyce Torgeson, sophomore in physical therapy: "Yes, I think Eisenhower will run. He realizes his party wants and needs him."

Raymond Heid, Social Science Major, Graduate School: "Yes. He seems to be recovered from his recent illness."

Duane Kohoutek, Junior in SLA: "Yes. I understand that his recent illness wasn't too serious and I think he'll keep us out of war."

Monty Levitt, Sophomore in SLA: "No. A machine that has had two major breakdowns in a year is showing signs of wearing out."

Linguistics Institute Enrolls 78 Students from 22 States

Students from 22 states and two foreign countries were among the registrants at the Summer Institute of Linguistics Monday. A total of 78 had enrolled with five or six more expected.

First instruction at the Institute, which is under the direction of Howard McKaughan, got under way Tuesday. McKaughan is the associate director of the Philippine branch of the Wycliffe Bible Translators, under the auspices of which the Summer Institute is held.

Students and faculty of the Institute were officially welcomed to the University campus Tuesday by Daryle E. Keefer, dean of the graduate school and director of the summer session, and R. B. Witmer, dean of the school of Science, Literature and Arts.

Assisting McKaughan in his duties are Dr. Philip Clapp, dean-registrar at Cascade College, Portland, Ore., Ed Moser, who is assistant director; Dave Fox, registrar; and Joe Grimes, head of the grammar department.

A familiar face which is missing from the Institute faculty roster this summer is that of Dr. Robert Stone, who served as registrar and assistant director last year. Dr. Stone is presently engaged as an English instructor in Afghanistan.

The primary work of the Institute is the training of persons who will go into the field and translate various unwritten languages, with the ultimate goal being the reduction to writing of these unwritten languages.

The first step of this work is the production and symbolization of different sounds.

Once this is completed, the next step is to take these sounds and turn them into a scientific alphabet. Under this system, the sounds are put to a "one sound to one letter" basis, instead of the several letters to each sound method which is used in the English language.

The forming of words and phrases from the scientific alphabet is the next step, with the final work being the production of primers to enable the natives to learn to read their language.

Among the states represented are North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Maryland, California, Illinois, Ohio, Maine, Minnesota, Washington, D. C., Texas, Wisconsin, Washington, Kansas, Alabama, Louisiana, Oregon, New Jersey, Nebraska, Massachusetts, Missouri, Michigan and South Dakota.

A student from India and one from Alberta, Canada, also enrolled in the 11-week course.

18 Applicants Seek Speech Clinic Help

Enrollment applications for the summer remedial clinic for speech and hearing have reached 18, with more expected, said Jay Melrose, director of the clinic.

The clinic handles all types of speech and hearing defects, such as delayed speech, stuttering, cleft palate and hearing loss.

Twenty cases were handled last year.

DAYS OF RECKONING

You might paste this up some place: Final examinations are scheduled August 3 and 4. And don't forget those pesky midterms in another three or four weeks.

150 Hear 'Concert On Literature' At 1st Convocation

"I am a teacher who acts, rather than an actor that teaches" said Charles Carshon by way of an introduction before launching into an evening of platform reading attended by 150 persons at the Union Ballroom Tuesday night.

Carshon, who was introduced by Prof. John Penn, head of the University's Speech department, presented a number of oral interpretations entitled "A Concert On American Literature." The collection included works by American poets Robert Frost, Emily Dickenson, Edward Arlington Robinson, Ogden Nash, William Butler Yates, Robert Burns and T. S. Eliott.

Before each interpretation, Carshon described briefly the setting, circumstances or attitude surrounding the work and showed how accent could be incorporated as a means of attaining greater imagery.

He stated that "nobody, not even the great masters, has been able to define poetry" and that it must be "felt" or "reacted to" rather than defined or analyzed. In defense of poetry Carshon said that "even those who would consider poetry synonymous with boredom would have to admit that it sells a lot of milk and bread in commercials."

Carshon concluded his address with excerpts from T. S. Eliott and returned for an encore with a poem by Ogden Nash.

Currently on a five-state tour of the midwest, Carshon received his speech training, primarily in oral interpretation, at Northwestern. He has appeared in Broadway's "Billy Budd" and has performed in major television drama productions. When not on tour, Carshon is a teacher at Sarah Lawrence College.
