

2022

Global Warming

Lucy Paschke

How does access to this work benefit you? Let us know!

Follow this and additional works at: <https://commons.und.edu/floodwall-magazine>

Part of the Fiction Commons, Nonfiction Commons, Photography Commons, and the Poetry Commons

Recommended Citation

Paschke, Lucy (2022) "Global Warming," Floodwall Magazine: Vol. 2: Iss. 7, Article 75.
Available at: <https://commons.und.edu/floodwall-magazine/vol2/iss7/75>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by UND Scholarly Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Floodwall Magazine by an authorized editor of UND Scholarly Commons. For more information, please contact und.common@library.und.edu.

Global Warming

Lucy Paschke

The world is perfect as it is.
So stop telling me that
The world is facing destruction.

I believe that
Nature is in balance.
So shut up about how

Air pollution is poisoning me.
I know that
Humans are not at fault.

You are wrong when you say
Glaciers are melting at an alarming rate.
My news sources say

Wildlife is flourishing.
You spew lies when you say
Droughts are becoming more common.

Because the truth is,
Climate change is a lie.
How dare you preach that

Ocean pollution is out of control.
Listen to me when I say that
Everything is fine.

Quit speaking about how
Ecosystems are dying.
You need to understand that

The world is not in danger.
So stop believing that
Global warming is a threat to humanity.

Now read from the bottom up

Lucy Paschke is a junior at UND from Faribault, MN. She writes a variety of poetry, mostly in free verse, but has written other types of poetry, as well. In her free time, she likes to read and play video games, which has inspired her own writing. In the future, Lucy would like to publish a book of the various poems she has written.