Registration and coffee occupy the hour from 8:45 to 9:45 a.m., with assembly in the Lecture Bowl to follow from 9:45 to 10:30 a.m.

The committee will then separate into special groups and hold sessions in seven areas, beginning at 10:45 a.m. Luncheon is slated from noon to 1:30 p.m., when group meetings will be completed and summations prepared.

Gamble to be Presented With Roughrider Award

A special highlight of the 1972 Homecoming ceremonies will be the presentation of the Teddy Roosevelt Roughrider Award to Bertin C. Gamble, chairman of the board of Gamble-Skogmo, Inc. and a long-time UND benefactor. The presentation will be made by Gov. William L. Guy, who conceived the award in 1961, at a special Roughrider Luncheon on October 20 on the UND campus.

The award came into being during the Dakota Territory Centennial celebration and is designed to honor those North Dakotas, or former North Dakotans, who have achieved national or internationally recognized success in their chosen fields, and have been influenced by their life in North Dakota in achieving that success. The North Dakota State Legislature made the award official in 1963.

The award includes a wall plaque with the bust of Theodore Roosevelt and an inscribed steer hide that are given to the recipient. In addition, his portrait will be done in oil and hung in the State Capitol lobby.

Gamble becomes the 12th recipient of the award; previously honored have been Eric Sevareid, Dorothy Stickney,

Gamble was born in Hunter, N.D., where his father was a partner in a general store. When Gamble was seven years old, his family moved to Arthur, N.D., where he met his future partner, Phil Skogmo. After finishing high school, he went to Minneapolis where he worked for a dairy

Busy Oct. 20-21 Slated for UND Alumni

The stage is set on the UND campus for the 1972 Homecoming with everything "all put together" for one of the memorable events in alumni history on October 20-21.

There truly will be "something for everyone" if plans by the committees go as scheduled, with a wide range of activities for alumni and friends of all ages.

Football buffs will be more than eager to see the UND Sioux in action against the NDSU Bison. At this writing, the Sioux are ranked near the top in national small college ratings, having defeated the two Montana teams as well as overwhelming South Dakota.

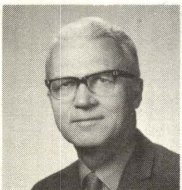

Both the Sioux and Bison will ignore records at 1:30 p.m. on October 21, as they make the ground shake at Memorial Stadium. It will be a sell-out crowd, from advance ticket requests and interest.

The UND students will begin celebrating early in the week, with pep rallies, queen selection and float construction, along with general open house preparations to greet returning alumni and friends.

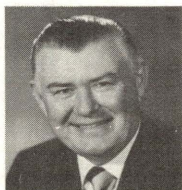

Friday, October 20, will find the major influx of alum-

Enrollment Levels Off At 8,282

Final enrollment for the fall semester at UND totals 8,282, a 1.35 percent decline from the enrollment of last fall. University officials indicate that the enrollment follows a national pattern and represents a leveling off of the state's college-age population. The UND enrollment decline is spread quite evenly through its classes and academic divisions. High interest in the health fields is reflected in a 13.8 percent gain for the College of Nursing, while the Graduate School enrollment rose 7.6 percent.

FUNDS ALLOCATED

Federal funds in the amount of $14,000 have been allocated to help finance a loan for purchase of the McCannel Hall building on the campus for use as a student health center. The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has allocated $14,000 to guarantee interest payments in excess of three per cent on a $500,000 loan. The interest subsidy will be applied to the purchase of McCannel Hall at a cost of $750,000.

REPORT from the CAMPUS

By J. LLOYD STONE

If ever a fall got off to a busy start, it is the autumn of 1972. The University momentum began in August and seems to be accelerating right along!

October will see the formal opening of the magnificent new Chester Fritz Auditorium, and I hope that many of you will be on hand at the dedication on October 12-14 to fill the 2350-seat facility. The dedication will open a new chapter in the cultural history of North Dakota, and years of planning have gone into the structure.

The Alumni Review will keep you informed on the schedule of programs and events at the Auditorium during this inaugural year of the facility.

As part of the busy week a Community Night on the Campus is slated for October 10, and is primarily intended for residents of Grand Forks, East Grand Forks and the Grand Forks Air Force Base.

The evening will begin with a dinner, with President Clifford and other UND spokesmen on the program, followed by tours of the Auditorium and the Winter Sports Center.

For many, the 1973 Homecoming will be the favorite time on the campus. It will include the annual Alumni Advisory Committee meeting, along with a special reunion and plans for World War II veterans who were at UND some quarter-century ago.

You can be sure that the football game between the Sioux and the Bison will be high spirited and part of the excitement of Homecoming. It's good to see the Homecoming Parade returned to the schedule of attractions this year.

—UND—

I was very happy to learn that Bert Gamble will be honored with the Roughrider Award during the Homecoming Week-end. This is the most prestigious recognition that North Dakota can offer, and those who receive the award are in a very select group. The award will be made at a Roughrider Luncheon at noon Friday, October 20, with the presentation by Gov. William L. Guy. An oil portrait of Bert Gamble will be commissioned and will hang in the halls at the State Capitol building.

Bert Gamble is one of our state's "greats" who has achieved farflung success, yet has always kept a close loyalty and affection for North Dakota and UND. It was through his generosity that Gamble Hall became a reality, while the Gamble Foundation has shown its support in many other ways of assistance to the University. I hope that you will be able to be in attendance when the Roughrider Award is made to Bert Gamble, as he joins the other award winners who have done so much for North Dakota.

—UND—

The annual fall meeting of the Alumni Board follows Homecoming and will be held in Minneapolis, with a full agenda of important business for our association. Former Board President Fred Davidson and his gracious wife, Lil, will be entertaining board members and their partners for an evening during the Minneapolis meeting.

—UND—

In addition to Homecoming and the Auditorium Dedication, the first game of the 1972-73 hockey schedule Nov. 10 will open the new Winter Sports Center to warm up a new era of Sioux hockey.

—UND—

Our campus is the new "home" for many new faculty members. It was my privilege to speak to the Newcomers Faculty Wives meeting in September on "History Highlights from UND." We hope that they will enjoy their first year on our campus and stay to become a part of our University family.

—UND—

There are some big strides being made in working out plans for the proposed degree-granting medical school, and you can expect progress reports as things develop. A plan now under consideration would combine training in the basic sciences at UND with clinical training in regional areas around Minot, Grand Forks, Fargo and Bismarck.

—UND—

A look ahead to 1973 reveals that Sioux Awards will be given to the five North Dakota Supreme Court Justices, all UND alumni. The ceremony will be on January 11 in Bismarck at the GP Hotel, with Wes Christopherson as main speaker and Evan Lips as master of ceremonies.

—UND—

We hope that you can return to the UND Campus sometime soon, to share in the events that are making 1972-73 one of the busier years at the University.

ni, with many participating in an all-day meeting on the campus as members of the Advisory Committee. Registration will begin at 8:45 a.m. at the University Center, with group meetings from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

For those who want to get a first-hand glimpse of the growing campus, there will be conducted tours of new buildings from 4 to 5 p.m. Friday.

The Sioux Lettermen will get together for breakfast at the Dacotah Hotel at 9 a.m. Saturday, with the Homecoming Parade starting at 10 a.m. The parade returns to the list of Homecoming attractions this year, and the route threads from East Grand Forks through downtown Grand Forks and out University Avenue.

President Thomas J. Clifford will be greeting alumni and friends at a Presidents Luncheon at 11:30 a.m., and all alumni are invited.

The football game will dominate the afternoon schedule, with a reception for Development Fund Chairmen to follow at 3:30 p.m. at the Faculty Club. At the same time there will be open house on the campus at the various fraternities, sororities and residence halls.

A special welcome is out to all World War II veterans who attended UND in the immediate post-war years, with a special Mixer planned for 4 p.m. at the DAV-VFW Club in downtown Grand Forks.

The week-end wraps up with an All-Alumni Party Saturday evening at the Westward Ho.

Members of Blue Key Fraternity invite their alumni to make a special effort to be on hand at the 1972 Homecoming, while graduates of 1962 are encouraged to be back on their ten-year anniversary.

If you're looking for a week-end of enjoyment, excitement and a break in the routine, be back for the 1972 Homecoming.

Sioux Awards to

JUDGE PAUL BENSON

There are many UND graduates who have the title of doctor, or professor, or mister or reverend or miss or mrs. and now even ms., but few are eligible to carry the title of judge. One of these is Judge Paul Benson, Chief Judge of the United States District Court for the District of Fargo.

A native of Verona, N.D., he earned his bachelor's degree at UND, continuing his education at George Washington University where he received his LL.B. degree. He was named to Blue Key fraternity while attending UND.

Judge Benson served as a Lieutenant in the U.S. Navy in World War II for four years and was executive secretary and assistant to Senator Milton Young from 1946 to 1949.

He entered the practice of law in 1950 in Cavalier, moving to Grand Forks in October of that year to join the firm now known as Shaft, Shaft McConn and Fisher. From 1954 to 1955 he was attorney general for the state of North Dakota.

Judge Benson is a member of the American Bar Association, the American Judicature Society, the North Dakota State Bar, and served as President of the Grand Forks County Bar. A former Chairman of the Grand Forks Chapter of the Red Cross, he holds membership in the Elks, Masons, Shrine, American Legion and VFW.

His wife, the former Laurel Johnson of Grand Forks, attended UND for two years. They have five children—including two daughters, Polly Benson Diem, '71, and Santal Benson Manos, ex '69, who attended UND. The Bensons make their home in Fargo.

William L. Brewer, '71, is a social service worker II for the Towner County Welfare Board in Cando, N.D. He was married in August to Anne Mary Hermes.

Mike Halpern, '62, is a partner in the law firm of Boutrous and Halpern in Glen Ullin, following several years employment by the Internal Revenue Service. He is married and has two children.

ROBERT A. FINNEGAN

A three-year all conference basketball star at UND in the 1930's, Robert A. "Casey" Finnegan has a 31-year career in the insurance industry in California that rivals his athletic accomplishments.

Born in Mandan, Finnegan was Co-Captain of the Sioux basketball team in 1937 and was named All American at the National Pro Basketball Tournament in Atlanta in 1939 as well as at the Indianapolis Tournament in 1940. He served with the U.S. Army.

Today, Bob Finnegan is president of the Employers Self Insurance Service in Los Angeles, the nation's largest self insurance company with offices throughout the United States and Canada. He is senior vice president of the Pacific Employers Insurance Co., and served as a member on five Boards of Directors of related insurance companies.

In California he served on the Workmen's Compensation Institute, the Insurance Commissioner's Advisory Committee, is a member of the National Rehabilitation Committee, Governor Reagan's Committee on Efficiency and Cost Control, and is President of the Greater Los Angeles Chapter of National Safety Council, representing the insurance council in meetings with government officials in Tokyo and Hong Kong in 1970.

Finnegan holds membership in the Los Angeles Rotary Five, the Los Angeles Club and the Cave des Roys. His wife is the former Hazel Kolstad, who attended UND from 1934 to 1937.

Harold Gershman, '66, is featured in an issue of the magazine, "Pizza;" he has operated a pizza house in Mexico City, Mexico, for the past two years.

Norman K. Christensen, '51, was named "Boss-of-the-Year" by the Wahpeton Jaycees; he is president of the First National Bank in Wahpeton, where he has resided since 1968.

James Engelter, '68, has joined his father in business, specializing in accounting and income tax services, in Mandan.

be Presented at Homecoming '72

MARK B. FOSS

If ever a man was closely linked with the University of North Dakota it is Mark Foss, who has made a lasting mark on the campus—in more ways than one.

Born in Minneapolis, he is president of the firm of Foss, Engelstad and Foss of Fargo, architects and engineers. He attended UND for six years, earning both a bachelor and master degree in civil engineering, and still found time to be a member of the varsity football team for four years, Blue Key, The Letterman's Club, Iron Mask, Cadet Colonel, Scabbard and Blade and Sigma Tau honorary fraternity.

While at Fort Benning, Ga., in 1945, he was on the basketball team; for two years, he was a Company Commander in Korea for the Corps of Engineers. Mark Foss holds membership in several professional engineering groups and is on the board of the Fargo-Moorhead YMCA. He was named "Boss of the Year in 1971" by the Jaycees in Fargo.

To know Mark is to know his wife Peggy, who is a 1953 graduate from UND and a talented vocalist. The Foss's have seven children, including Mark, Jr.—now a junior at UND, and daughter Meg, who is a freshman.

The firm that Mark Foss heads is making its mark on the UND campus, being involved with Phase I and II of the Upson Engineering building, the Law School Addition, the Winter Sports Center, the Chester Fritz Library Addition, the Ireland Laboratory Addition and the Alice Fox Memorial Footbridge.

Mark Foss served for nine years as a member of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association and is currently the alumni representative on the UND Athletic Board of Control.

Robert Eugene Engberg, '59, was recently elected secretary-treasurer of H.B. Zachry Properties, Inc. and Capital Aggregates, Inc., San Antonio, Texas. A CPA since 1961, he is married and has three children.

GOV. WILLIAM L. GUY

Over the past 12 years North Dakota's number one citizen has made numerous appearances on the UND Campus, at Homecomings, meetings, Governor's Day and on other occasions. It is fitting that Gov. William L. Guy has earned the status of Honorary Alumnus of UND.

Born in Devils Lake, Governor Guy holds a bachelors degree from NDSU and a master's degree from the University of Minnesota. During World War II, he was a Gunner Officer on a destroyer that was sunk by Kamikaze aircraft.

Active during his college years, Governor Guy was editor of the NDAC Yearbook, president of Blue Key and the SAE Fraternity, and was named representative senior.

After military service, Governor Guy was a livestock salesman, an assistant county agent, in the farm supply business, and operated an 820-acre farm near Amenia, N.D., from 1948 to 1960; for two winter quarters, he taught agricultural economics at NDAC.

A past president of the Amenia School Board, he was a 4-H Club Leader, beginning his political career as a State Representative in 1959. He has served as Governor of North Dakota since 1961; he was chairman of the Missouri River States Governor's Committee, organized the Midwestern Governor's Conference, was Chairman of the National Governors' Conference and has served in other regional or national responsibilities.

He holds the NDSU Alumni Achievement Award, the Silver Antelope Award from the Boy Scouts, the 4-H Clubs of American Alumni Achievement Award and an Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree from Concordia College.

Governor Guy and his wife Jean have five children, including Bill Junior who is a 1968 UND graduate.

Bruce F. Nelson, '58, is Central Field Sales Manager of Noxell Corp. and was recently transferred to Chicago from Los Angeles; he resides in Bloomingdale, Ill.

EVAN E. LIPS

The by-laws of the UND Alumni Association do not allow a member of the Board of Directors to be elected to more than three three-year terms. Although Evan E. Lips has completed that tenure, including two years as board president, his involvement with his University will always be one of close loyalty.

A native of Bismarck where he served as mayor from 1954 to 1966, Evan Lips has a record of community service that equals his great record of dedication to UND. He has been president of the Bismarck Chamber of Commerce, a director of Bismarck Industries, Bismarck Building and Loan, the First National Bank, and the Provident Life Insurance Co. as well as Chairman of the Board of Dakota Fire Insurance Co.

His career at UND was one of achievement where he was elected to Blue Key, was a three-year letterman in football, as well as captain in 1939, and was a letterman in basketball. Lips served with the U.S. Marine Corps in the South Pacific for five years.

President of Murphy Insurance Co. of Bismarck, he is a past president of Rotary Club and North Dakota Independent Insurance Agents, and is a member of the Elks, Eagles, VFW, American Legion and Shrine. Bismarck named him Boss of the Year in 1957 and gave him the Distinguished Service Award for Civic Work.

A strong member of the Republican party, Lips has served as a State Senator since 1960. He and his wife Elsa have three children who share their father's involvement with UND. Evan W. ('71) was co-captain of the basketball team, Debby is a 1972 graduate, while Erik is enrolled at UND and in on the football team.

Miklos L. Lonkay, '60, is assigned as a counsel for the office of domestic gold and silver operations of the U.S. Treasury and the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury for International Affairs; he resides in Rockville, Md.

LOWELL T. SWENSON

There are many stories of successful business careers, but few can parallel the achievements of Lowell Swenson of Thief River Falls and the snowmobile industry of America.

A native of Lancaster, Minn., Lowell Swenson began his college education at the University of North Dakota, which he attended for two and one-half years before earning his bachelor of science degree at the University of Minnesota.

He served in World War II as a pilot with the United States Air Force, holding the rank of Major. From 1947 to 1956 Lowell Swenson was associated with the Minneapolis office of Arthur Andersen and Company, a certified public accounting firm, before joining the Wholesale Heating Supply Co.

In 1957-58, Swenson was associated with the Homer Matheson Co., a public accounting firm in Grand Forks, before moving to Thief River Falls and the Dow-Key Company of that city.

In 1965 he became an executive with Arctic Enterprises, Inc. of Thief River Falls, currently serving as president of the company and chairman of the board.

A member of the Society of Certified Public Accountants, Lowell Swenson is President of the International Snowmobile Industry Association and widely recognized as a leader of the industry.

Arctic Enterprises is on the New York Stock exchange and the company is broadening into other recreational products, including motorcycles, boats, lawn mowers and lawn care items.

The Lowell Swensons have four children and one grandchild; son David graduated from UND in 1970.

supply firm and then enrolled in a business school.

Gamble teamed up with his school friend, Skogmo, to operate a Hudson-Essex automobile dealership, and later Ford dealerships as well, in Fergus Falls, Minn. In 1925 the partners opened the first Gamble's store in St. Cloud, Minn., featuring a selection of automobile parts and accessories.

By 1969, Gamble-Skogmo, Inc., had expanded this modest beginning into a retail chain with over 4,200 outlets in 39 states and Canada, making Gamble-Skogmo the 19th largest retailer in the nation. Besides still dealing in automobile accessories, Gamble-Skogmo interests now stretch from home appliances to wearing apparel, from banking to sporting goods.

During his early business years in Fergus Falls, Gamble married the former Gladys Lucille Pearson in 1927. They now make their home in Wayzata, a suburb of Minneapolis.

In recognition of Gamble's business accomplishments, the University of North Dakota conferred an honorary Doctor of Laws degree upon him in 1965. That year Gamble-Skogmo contributed $15,000 to the UND faculty improvement program and $25,000 for the B.C. Gamble Student scholarship program.

In 1967 the B. C. Gamble and P. W. Skogmo Foundations contributed $200,000 to UND to furnish and equip a new classroom building at UND. This contribution provided the impetus for federal and state funds for the construction of Gamble Hall, one of UND's largest classroom facilities. The building, which serves as the home of the UND College of Business and Public Administration, was completed in the summer of 1968.

Bertin C. Gamble, wrote Newsweek magazine in October of 1962, exemplifies one of the most cherished of American folk heroes: "the industrious small-town boy who scrambles from humble origins to emerge as a dauntless captain of commerce."

Fritz Establishes Fund For Distinguished Faculty

Chester Fritz, a University of North Dakota alumnus and benefactor now living in Switzerland, has given the University $100,000 to establish a permanent fund for distinguished professorships.

The gift from the international investment banker will provide for the annual presentation of grants of $2,000 each to at least three fulltime UND faculty members. The awards will be known as the Chester Fritz Distinguished Professorships.

Fritz referred to his gift as an "investment in the future of my alma mater and of the people who make that future what it shall be." A Lidgerwood high school graduate who enrolled as a freshman at UND 64 years ago, Fritz said, "I am especially indebted to the fine teachers who, in the end, have determined, in large measure, how I was able to learn and to use the knowledge that the University of North Dakota could provide."

Fritz said the gift was also offered "because the greatness of any university depends, to a very great extent, upon the quality of its individual faculty members."

Fritz proposed that the professorships be "awarded to the University's most distinguished professors as special recognition of their excellence and contribution to the development of young men and women and to the advancement of knowledge and learning which are the primary purposes of a university."

The Chester Fritz Distinguished Professorships are the first endowed professorships in the 89-year history of the University. "We feel that the professorships will have a real impact on quality instruction and will also be an inspiration to faculty members," said Pres. Thomas Clifford in announcing the gift.

The names of faculty members chosen to receive the first professorships will be announced at UND's Founders Day in February.

The professorships program will be administered by a committee of five, including the UND president, the vice president for academic affairs, the president of the student body, the president of the University Senate and a full-time member of the teaching and research faculty appointed by the president of the University. The committee will devise its own procedures for selection of the Chester Fritz Distinguished Professors.

Born at Buxton, Fritz attended UND in 1908-10. He completed his work for a baccalaureate degree plus a year of law at the University of Wash., graduating in 1914.

In 1915 the Fisher Flouring Mills for whom he had been working in Seattle, Wash., sent him to the Orient on business. In a few years he became the representative in the Orient for the American Metal Company, and later helped organize the international investment banking firm of Swan, Culbertson & Fritz, with headquarters in Shanghai, and other offices in Hong Kong, the Philippines, and South America. With time out for eight tours around the world, he lived in the Orient for 34 years.

Fritz's gratitude to his home state and UND has remained constant. He has been making what he calls "partial repayments" to the taxpayers of the state and to the University for what they contributed to his education.

Prior to 1950 Fritz gave UND more than $31,000 for various projects. In 1956 he established six University scholarships and since then the number of scholarships has grown to 17, three bearing the name of Kathrine B. Tiffany and six the name of Neil C. Macdonald, all in amounts ranging from $750 to $1,000 annually. In 1958 he gave UND $1 million for the Chester Fritz Library and in 1965 he gave another million toward construction of the Chester Fritz Auditorium, which will be dedicated in October. He also gave $30,000 toward construction of the Kathrine B. Tiffany Graduate Study Center at UND and in 1971 he gave the Lidgerwood Special School District $40,000 to establish in perpetuity two two-year scholarships, awarded one each year for a graduating high school senior from Lidgerwood High School.
