The government, under the pretense of rail depicure and water & forest conservation, has in recent years made alarming strides in land ownership.

The following table shows the number of acres owned by the Government —

When the government acquires land, it is taken out of the local tax structure, and in one corner in North Dakota, the tax revenue is so meager that schools could be maintained or roads built.

The taking of this additional 90 th. acres out of taxation, when it is the most certain crop land in the area, affects four no. Dak counties. Not only will tax revenue be lessened, but the income from these lands has been the main stay in building ~~as fine city and~~
