PREFACE

Of the seven papers in this current volume, four (those of Bickford, Dooley, Tuggy and Weber) represent work by regular SIL-UND faculty members, and three are by advanced students and teaching assistants: the papers by Constable and Culy are essentially chapters extracted from their MA theses at UND completed this year, and the one by Walker is the continuation of work begun in graduate studies at the University of Texas at Austin. In a sense, then, this volume represents in microcosm the sort of faculty-trainee-student interaction that is high on our list of priorities at SIL-UND.

We would like to thank Betty Brown for her conscientious work in copy editing, as well as Bob Wright for invaluable aid in composition on the computer.
