'64 Session Is Biggest Ever

Miss North Dakota

U Coed to Reign in 1964

A 19-year-old UND coed is Miss North Dakota for 1965.

Karen Victoria Kopseng, who represented Grand Forks in the Miss North Dakota pageant at Bismarck last weekend, was selected from 24 candidates to represent the state in the Miss America pageant this fall at Atlantic City, N.J.

The new Miss North Dakota, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Kopseng of Bismarck, enrolled at UND last fall as a freshman majoring in music. She received the Popplers Music Store Scholarship and an Applied Music Scholarship.

For her talent presentation she sang a soprano aria by Puccini.

At the University, Miss Kopseng is a member of the University Chorus, Angel Flight, a coed honorary service organization of the Air Force ROTC, and Delta Gamma social sorority.

Last year she was Miss Rocky Mountain Professional Photographer and was crowned Theta Chi Pledge Princess at UND. She is five feet six inches, weighs 117 pounds and has brown hair and green eyes.

Miss Kopseng graduated from Bismarck High School in 1963, where she was homecoming queen the year before. She was crowned Miss North Dakota by JoAnn Syvrud of Mandan, who reigned during the past year.

Other UND coeds who have won the Miss North Dakota crown recently were Claudia Jean Gullickson, who won the title as a UND freshman in 1959, and Helen Korfage, who was winner as a UND sophomore in 1958.

All Records Topped As 1,960 Enroll

By RoANN BOELTER

A grand total of 1,960 students has set a new all-time record of enrollment for UND summer sessions.

At this time last year, the previous record enrollment stood at 1,870. Of the present registrants, 1,291 are men and 669 are women.

The Graduate School also set a record with 978 enrolled. In 1963 the figure was 906. Of the total, 767 are men and 211 are women.

Other college enrollments include Education 296; Science, Literature and Arts 248; Business 138; Engineering 79; University College 114; Nursing 18; special 53; unclassified 36.

The total figure released by Miss Ruby M. McKenzie, registrar, does not include workshops, conferences, all institutes, or research programs. The Linguistic Institute is included under the Graduate School and the high school juniors and seniors under University College. Forty-six high school students are enrolled.

Informal Mixer Scheduled Tonight

An informal Graduate Club mixer will be held this evening between 8 and 10 p.m. in the Territorial Room at Princeton Hall.

The event, according to Dr. C. J. Hamre, dean of the Graduate School, will give graduate students and graduate faculty members an opportunity to meet one another.

Refreshments will be served, and Dean Hamre urges all Graduate School students and faculty to attend.

Return Visit

11 IN IRANIAN PARTY COMING TO UND

Eleven students from Iran are scheduled to arrive in Grand Forks July 11 for a two-week "campus stay" at the University.

The seven men and four women are visiting the United States this summer as community ambassadors in the Experiment in International Living.

They will leave Iran July 5 and arrive in New York two days later. After their stay at UND, they will go to Utah to live for a short time with families in Brigham City.

"The group is somewhat older than the average groups that visit this country under the Experiment program," said Dr. Richard E. Frank, associate professor of chem-

Students to See 'Invasion' of Classroom by Machines

By SISTER M. ROSANNE

Miss Kay Lund, educational services representative of the IBM Corp., Minneapolis, will introduce the IBM "Business Education Classroom" to the graduate students in Business Education at the University of North Dakota today at sessions scheduled for 7:30 and 8:30 a.m., and 1 p.m. Accompanying her will be Reno Newberg, school specialist of the IBM Corp., Indianapolis, and Tom Opp, IBM sales representative of Grand Forks.

Through a series of lecture-demonstrations they will illustrate the effectiveness of audio response in shorthand and typewriting via the lab. To assist them, the IBM Corporation has installed for the one day a complete 28-station business education lab.

In response to the invitation of Dr. John L. Rowe, chairman of the Business Education Department, departmental staff and students will actively participate in the demonstrations.

KAY LUND

Guest lecturer.

The IBM business education classroom is a complete program for schools offering business education, Dr. Rowe said.

Historical Event 'Comes Alive' for Convo Goers

By RoANN BOELTER

The curtain rose in Burtness Theatre Friday evening and two people were on the stage—two minstrels trying to decide what kind of performance to give their audience. They debated and decided. They would give an historical "Portrait of Joan of Arc."

And that's exactly what drama duo, Nancy Evans Leonard and Bob Leonard did. With their use of drama, a few simple settings, and costumes of the period, the historical event became alive again.

The audience, which filled three-fourths of the theatre, was responsive and involved with the dramatists in their portrayal—probably because the bits of slang were surprisingly familiar and the language used had modern swiftness.

Nancy Leonard portrayed Joan; and with a slight change of costume, the other Leonard emerged as four entirely different characters — Robert De Beaudricourt, Charles VII, Captain Dunois, and Bishop Cauchon.

The actors have been touring the Upper Midwest this summer under the arrangement of the University of Minnesota Program Service.

One woman's comment overheard after the presentation expresses its success, "An hour and a half! Where did the time go?"

RECITAL — Pamela Wilson in senior voice recital, 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Education Auditorium.

CHANGE—Because of a change in the location of summer food service, the Student will be distributed at the Princeton Hall dining room each Friday starting today—instead of Smith Hall.

ANNUALS — Any students who have not yet picked up their 1964 Dacotah Annuals are urged to do so at once. Books may be procured at the University Press. A few copies are also available for purchase at $5 per book.

LECTURE - LUNCHEON — Paul Carlson to speak at Tuesday noon luncheon for Business Education faculty and students along with their husbands and wives at Princeton Hall. Tickets being sold by Donald Campbell at $1.25.

New on the Campus Skyline

—Dakota Student Photos by Ken Torkelson.

Two imposing additions to the campus skyline are shown above, in advanced stages of construction work. Exterior work has been nearly completed on the new Geology Building (left). Work is progressing on the interior. The Student Union, with the new addition that will more than double its size and facilities, is shown on the right. Its modernistic concrete entryway is a departure from the collegiate gothic to which most campus buildings rigidly adhere. When completed, the new structures will be named Leonard Hall and University Center, respectively.

8 Teams Set to Go

'Play Ball' Tuesday to Launch League

By KEN TORKELSON

The summer session softball league is in operation, with games scheduled Tuesday and Thursday every week at 6:30 p.m. sharp.

Games will be seven-inning affairs with the Ten Run Rule going into effect after three innings, the managers of the eight competing teams decided.

A forfeit will be declared if a team is not ready to play 15 minutes past the scheduled starting time. A team may play shorthanded, but must take an out for each player missing, when it is his turn to bat, it was ruled.

Makeup games would be played on alternate days if possible. If that is impossible, a double-header would be played against the team cancelled out plus the regularly scheduled game. Such contests would begin at 5:30 p.m.

A round-robin schedule will be played and a playoff among the four top teams will follow conclusion of the schedule.

University students attending summer session and University employees are eligible to participate.

Whitey Aus, softball director, reported five diamonds have been set up on the campus for softball use. They are:

DIAMOND 1—Southwest corner of the University Intramural Field across from the Stadium.

DIAMOND 2—The middle diamond on the Intramural Field.

DIAMOND 3—Northwest corner of West Green Field, located between the coulee and student housing buildings bordering University Avenue.

DIAMOND 4—West of State Street behind student housing buildings in the southwest corner beside the railroad tracks.

DIAMOND 5—The baseball diamond in the northeast corner of the University Intramural Field.

The schedule for Tuesday has the Winners or Coaches playing Rowe's Rebels of Business Education on Field 2. The Science and Linguistics Institutes team will fight it out with 8 Plex Housing on Field 3. Walsh Hall will do battle with the Academic Year Institute on Field 4, and the Mechanical Engineers entertain the Guidance Institute on Field 5.

The schedule will continue with four games next Thursday.

Swim Class Enrollment Reaches 100

By ROANN BOELTER

Enrollment in the swimming program of the Physical Education Department has hit the 100 mark, with 55 in the beginner's division and the intermediate and adult classes dividing the remainder.

Classes are open to all of the University faculty, staff members and students, and their families. Children must be seven or older. No specific level of accomplishment is required for enrollment. The charge is $5.

Instructor Frank Zazula said, "It is important for everyone to learn to save themselves (in the water), because of the accidents that can happen in our lakes, waterholes, . . . Just learning how to give artificial respiration can mean a lot. Besides, swimming provides family fun and we can make good use of our pool."

For further information see or call Auke Van Holst or Frank Zazula—777-2234 or 777-2235.

Even On European Vacation

President Starcher Keeps Eye on University Affairs

"We miss all you people back there!" These are the words of Dr. George W. Starcher who, together with Mrs. Starcher, is currently vacationing in Europe.

President Starcher called his office June 17 from Innsbruck, Austria, to check on University affairs, which are never far from his mind.

In conversation with his secretary, Pat Larson, he said they were looking forward to catching up with their mail in Florence, Italy. He also sent his greetings to the Board of Higher Education which met on campus last Friday.

On June 3 Dr. and Mrs. Arne Brekke drove the Starchers to Winnipeg, Canada, where they left by jet for London. Four days were spent touring the London area. Highlights of this first stop were a Shakespearean play, art galleries, and visits at Cambridge and Oxford universities.

From England they flew to Amsterdam where President Starcher was especially interested in seeing and learning all he could about one of his favorite artists, Van Gogh. They also visited The Hague where Mrs. Starcher could look over the fine china. The University of Leiden was another interest stop.

Dr. Starcher is visiting with presidents of other universities and seeing as many European institutions of higher education as he can.

Before leaving for Germany and Austria, the couple rented a car so they could observe and absorb the interests and cultures of the countries at their own pace. They plan to spend about a week in Italy, and in Rome will be a part of a group of visitors granted an audience with the Pope.

From Italy they are going into southern France and along the Mediterranean coast. The Starchers are especially interested in the small coastal villages.

In Geneva, Switzerland, they will enjoy a reunion with their son Geo. W. Starcher Jr. and his family. Starcher, Jr. is a consultant for the McKenzie Management firm.

The two Starcher families will tour some parts of Switzerland together, and Dr. and Mrs. Starcher will be making a stop at Gstaad to call on Dr. Chester Fritz.

After their stay in Switzerland, they will fly to Paris and then on to New York for a brief visit to the World's Fair. President and Mrs. Starcher are expected home about the middle of July.

Science Institute Hears Expert on Clouds, Rain

Dr. Peter V. Hobbs of the Department of Atmospheric Sciences at the University of Washington spoke to the Summer Institute for High School Science Teachers Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. He discussed "The Physics of Clouds, Rain and Rain Making."

Dr. Hobbs is currently developing a Cloud Physics research group at the University of Washington.

Phi Delta Kappa To Hold Meetings Every Monday

Phi Delta Kappa, men's education honorary, will hold weekly meetings during the summer session, according to Emil Marotzke, first vice-president of the organization.

The meetings are scheduled for each Monday through July 27. However, there will be no meeting Monday, July 20. On Thursday of that week, July 23, the organization will hold its annual summer banquet and initiation.

A guest speaker will be featured at each meeting. Speaker for the banquet will be Dr. James Curtain, director of elementary education at the University of Minnesota.

● Iranians

istry and director of the Experiment in Grand Forks.

"The students are actually professional people who are established in important positions in Iran," he added.

While at the University, the group will have the opportunity to meet students and faculty members in their own fields, and attend seminars and discussions by faculty members or other specialists on various aspects of life in America.

While Experimenters from foreign countries visit the United States, three UND students are spending part of their summers as community ambassadors from Grand Forks. Patricia Gronowski of Mandan is in Egypt, Richard Barton of Valley City is in Nigeria, and Barbara Robertson of Grand Forks is in Iran.

A second year medical student at UND, Lyall Bjornson of Arvilla, is spending the summer in Nigeria. He received a $600 scholarship from Experiment national headquarters to assist him.

Since 1954, the Grand Forks community has sponsored 18 ambassadors. This is the first year that UND has hosted a visiting group from another country.

Twamley Snack Bar is open to Faculty and Staff only Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Science Institute Elects Council

The 60 participants in this summer's Science Institute elected five members to serve on the group's Institute Council.

Elected at a June 18 general meeting were Wayne Chinburg, Dickinson; Glenn T. Erickson, Mankato, Minn.; Wayne F. Haeffer, Libby, Mont.; Charles E. Hurley, Grand Forks; and Sister Mary Isidore Rohan, Rock Island, Ill.

At the Council's first meeting last Friday, Chinburg was elected chairman and Sister Isidore was elected secretary.

The Institute Council serves as an advisory and liaison group between the participants and the director, J. Donald Henderson. Also, the Council arranges and plans extracurricular activities.

This summer's institute, the eighth consecutive summer institute sponsored at UND by the National Science Foundation, began June 15 and runs through August 8.

U Asks $12.5 Million to Expand Campus

The full picture of UND's building and improvement needs was placed before the State Board of Higher Education, meeting on the campus last weekend, and it added up to a $12,500,000 program.

The board will act later on placing the request before the 1965 session of the State Legislature, but it did give the University permission to proceed with plans for a $352,000 married student housing development for 32 families. The money will be borrowed, and the project will be self-liquidating.

The entire UND program includes $6.7 million in new buildings to be financed by state appropriation, $4.5 million in buildings to be financed by self-liquidating bonds and $1.3 million in improvements and repairs.

New buildings on the UND list for which specific appropriations would be required are:

—Classroom and office building for Business and Public Administration School, $1.3 million.

—Service building, $350,000.

—Engineering building, $1.5 million.

—Physics building, $1.25 million.

—Industrial arts building and equipment, $380,000.

—Women's physical education building, $900,000.

—Nursing and health service building, $350,000.

—School of Law building, $700,000.

Proposed for financing through sale of revenue bonds are student dormitories and a food service building with a cost tag of $3.5 million and married student housing facilities costing $1 million.

Among plant improvement items are remodeling of old library, $100,000; furniture for four new dormitories, $220,000; equipment for food service building to be completed by fall of 1966; $200,000; land purchases, $152,750; special assessments by City of Grand Forks, $240,000.

Cast Completed For Playmakers' Thurber Revue

Casting is now complete for the University Theater production of "A Thurber Carnival."

The colorful revue features dramatizations of such well known stories as "The Unicorn in the Garden," "The Macbeth Murder Mystery," "The Last Flower," and "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty."

Cast in the women's roles are Patricia Barko, Nell Boozenny, Dorothy Gagner, Barbara Harris, Kathryn La Grave, Georgia Kay Larsen, Sharon Schell, Donna Parke, and Tana Sorenson.

The men's roles will be taken by John Chambers, Bill Fleming, Dennis Gartner, Mack Miller, Leo Siegmund, and Richard Watson.

"A Thurber Carnival" will be presented Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, July 23, 24, and 25, at 8:15 p.m. in Burtness Theatre.

Donald W. McCaffrey, Associate Director of Theatre, is directing the play.

Special Thurber-type sets are being designed by Mack Miller, a senior speech major at UND.

RECORD BROKEN

Attendance records were broken as 513 high school girls attended the Eighteenth Annual Flickertail Girls State on the UND campus the first week in June.

More Rain!

New June Record Is Near

By KIRSTEN SVARE

June, 1964 has not yet become the rainiest in Grand Forks' history, or it hadn't as of Wednesday morning, when the month's total stood at 9:25 inches as compared to June, 1925, when the all-time high reached 9:52 inches.

With only .27 of an inch to go to tie the record, according to the UND Weather Bureau, and with seven days left in the month (counting Wednesday and Thursday), it seems probable that the all-time high will be reached (Unless the weather takes a drastic reversal and it doesn't rain for the next few days.)

Meanwhile, the unusual amount of rainfall has helped the campus appear more green and lush than many people can recall seeing it. The rain has also caused postponing of the all-campus hamburger fry which was to have been held Tuesday.

BOARD AGREES:

ROMANCE DOES HAVE A PLACE IN EDUCATION

Romance got a nod of approval at the meeting of the Board of Higher Education on the campus last weekend.

The board was told that James P. White, UND associate professor and assistant dean of law, and Anna Seim, associate professor of music, will be married next Monday. White will be on sabbatical leave during the 1964-65 academic year and will be accompanied by the new Mrs. White.

The board agreed that after their return to Grand Forks, the bride can be considered for emergency appointment to the music faculty again, if a vacancy is available. Her tenure will become forfeited when she is married.

City Buses Leave Campus on Hour And Half-Hour

City buses leave the University for the downtown area on the hour and the half hour. At a quarter to the hour and a quarter after, buses leave downtown returning to the University.

In addition, a bus leaves the downtown area for the University on the half hour. This bus goes directly to the U, while the others go out 6th Avenue and then to the University.

Shades of Old Sherwood!

Modern-Day Robin Hoods Assault Campus Targets

By KEN TORKEKELSON

Forsooth, young squire, is not yon group behind Fieldhouse Robin Hood and his Merrie Men? For what purpose journey they such a distance from Sherwood Forest?

Nay, my lord. Methinks Robin never knew such accuracy with the longbow as these fair huntsmen. They be members of the University of North Dakota Archery Club. At their first practice Monday night last, see how thoroughly they ventilated their luckless target. As a group, they plan to attack the targets each Monday and Wednesday evening at 7 p.m. Singly they may attack anytime.

Do their bows not warp in this abominable North Dakota weather, or do they shoot one shaft each time the sun shines?

These fellows are indeed clever. They have erected a target in the shelter of the Fieldhouse.

It would please me to become a members of this group. Would they accept a knave such as myself?

Any member of the faculty, any student, or the families of those people may join the group by presenting themselves at one of the practices.

One more thing, good fellow,

JOHN QUADAY

where may I obtain a trusty longbow for this purpose?

Ye Olde University of North Dakota will provide all equipment at a very slight cost to prospective archers.

Hold a moment. How be it that you know all this?

When I stand before yon target, hold your arrows, good fellows. I be John Quaday, director of recreation.

ELECTION TUESDAY

If you're eligible, be sure to vote in Tuesday's North Dakota Primary election.

Why Walk?

Student Union Can Put You on Wheels

By KEN TORKEKELSON

Don't have a car? Can't afford a taxi? Too far to walk?

Let the Student Union solve your problem with a bicycle. The Union's Bike Rental Service, now in its third year, has been very well received by students and faculty alike, reports Craig Millar, Student Union director.

The Union has seven brand new bikes this year. These include three men's bikes, three ladies' bikes, and for togetherness devotees, a tandem bicycle. These can all be rented at reasonable rates by the hour, day, or weekend from the Information Desk on the third floor of the Student Union.

Millar recalled only one accident with the bicycles, and that came at the hands of a woman driver. It seems the driver thought she was about to hit the car in front of her. To keep her driving record accident-free, she turned into the curb, bounced off, and hit a tree. Millar failed to mention insurance.

The bikes can be checked out each weekday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Information about overnight and weekend rentals, all rates and maybe even insurance is available at the Student Union Office.

All-Campus Fry Turns Out Just 'All Wet'

Here is your All-University Hamburger Fry Coloring Book.

See the University Park on Tuesday afternoon at 5:15? Color it wet.

See the people playing games? Color them muddy.

See the hamburgers? Color them soggy.

See the picnic baskets? Color them floating away.

See the people who planned the picnic? Color them embarrassed.

See the weatherman who predicted sunshine? Color him gone far away.

See the person with a color crayon in his hand and a puzzled look on his face? Color him uninformed.

The picnic was postponed! A new date will be set later.

$30 Parking Fee Is Proposed for Fall Semester

Parking on the campus probably won't be so much of a problem beginning with the opening of the fall semester, if the State Board of Higher Education goes through with a proposal it approved at its meeting here last Friday.

But the solution may prove to be something of a shocker to UND drivers—since the Board proposes that fees of not less than $30 for a nine-month school year be charged for parking permits.

Before going into effect, however, the action must be given a second reading and approval at the Board's July meeting in Bismarck.

At the session here, John G. Conrad of Bismarck was elected president of the Board for the fiscal year starting next Wednesday.

ADDRESSES—All Summer Session students who did not leave their local address at the Registrar's Office are requested to do so at once.

Law Admission Test Scheduled At UND Aug. 1

The Law School Admission Test will be given on the campus Saturday, August 1. Virtually every law school in the United States requires this test of its applicants.

Pertinent information and registration blanks can be obtained in the office of the Dean of the College of Science, Literature and Arts, Twamley Hall 205.

Registrations must reach the office of the Educational Testing Service not later than July 18 for the Aug. 1 test, according to Philip A. Rognlie, SLA associate dean.

Speech Institute Keeps 19 Young Participants Busy

By RoANN BOELTER

Study! Training! Debates! Research!

These are the words running through the minds of 19 carefully selected high school students enrolled in the High School Speech Institute under the direction of Henry G. Lee, associate professor of speech.

Interest, good academic records, recommendations from high school principals and speech teachers, and active participation in the field of speech were prerequisites for their selection.

The chosen few will receive four weeks of what they consider exciting, valuable training in theater arts, debate or radio-television.

Special features at the end of the four-week period include: July 9 and 10, public presentation of "Thunder Rock," a full length play

Wesley 'Religion Center' Projected for Campus

SEPTAGONAL CHAPEL PROPOSED FOR WESLEY COLLEGE

An artist's drawing of the proposed new Wesley Center of Religion, projected for the Wesley College property directly lining University Avenue here, was put before the college Executive Committee at its June meeting.

The new center would be focussed around a septagonal chapel, built in the contemporary "church-in-in-the-round" form. According to the plan presented by President Wesley Sheffield, the interior of the chapel would be so arranged that four banks of pews would face into a central worship area. The ceiling would be high and arched, with the chapel topped by a spire and the cross.

Two small wings would adjoin the proposed chapel. On the ground level, these wings would house classrooms and administrative of-produced by the students; July 11, a special closed circuit television production and a recognition luncheon for their parents.

This institute is the first in what will become an annual program. The instructors are from the regular speech faculty.

fices. Beneath the chapel would be a large Wesley Foundation lounge, an apartment for a resident student, plus library, kitchen and rest facilities.

A study of the proposed Wesley Center of Religion was launched by the college trustees at their annual spring meeting in May. Preliminary sketches, plus probable cost of building and program, are to be submitted to the board in September. Acceptance of the plan would mean phasing out the present dormitory program of the college and focusing its teaching and pastoring activities in the proposed new Center of Religion.

Zazula Joins Famed Hole-in-One Club

Frank Zazula, UND track coach, celebrated Father's Day Sunday by knocking in a hole-in-one at the Lincoln Park Municipal Golf course here.

He aced the 147-yard No. 7 hole, using a nine iron. The ball hit on the green about four feet from the pin and rolled into the cup.

140 Words Per Minute

Typing Expert Displays 'Speed With Ease' Method

By SISTER M. ROSANNE

Clickety click, snap!

That was the sound of the typewriter as Franklin H. Dye, speed typing expert and business educator, demonstrated the typing of 140 words a minute with effortless ease and accuracy at a one-day workshop for graduate students in Business Education Thursday.

Appearing under the auspices of the Royal Typewriter school department of the Royal McBee Corp., Dye came to UND at the invitation of Dr. John L. Rowe, chairman of the Business Education Department.

Dye, a native of Hawaii, has a master of education degree from Boston University and belongs to Delta Pi Epsilon, national graduate business education fraternity.

He possesses a varied background of classroom and business office experience. Besides typing, he has taught other business courses at many educational levels: high school, business college, junior college, community college, and teacher training school.

FRANKLIN H. DYE

He's accurate, too.

After learning to typewrite on a manual machine at the age of 13, he began his business career as a clerk-typist for an insurance company when he was 14 years old. He also has had experience as a legal secretary and an insurance claims adjuster.

Business Ed Group to Hear of 'Challenges'

By SISTER M. ROSANNE

Paul A. Carlson will speak at a Tuesday noon luncheon for business educators in Princeton Hall. "New Challenges in Business Education Programs" will be his topic.

Co-author of "20th Century Bookkeeping," Carlson received the 1961 John Robert Gregg Award in Business Education "for the illustrious example he has set for all teachers."

Carlson received his Ph.B. in Commerce and his Ph.M. in Education from the University of Wisconsin. Other graduate study was completed at Oxford University in England and at Northwestern University.

From 1917 to 1959, Professor Carlson was a faculty member at Wisconsin State College at White-water. He became director of the Division of Business Education there in 1930 and served in that position until his retirement in 1959 when he became professor emeritus.

Summer Food Service Schedule Is Revised

Some changes have been made in the food service on campus.

The Smith Hall dining room discontinued its services for the summer except for banquets and special occasions.

The Nodak Room (north dining room) in Princeton Hall is now serving meals and snacks on a cash basis. It's hours are:

Monday through Friday: breakfast, 6:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m.; lunch, 11:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m.; dinner, 5:15 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.
Saturday: Breakfast, 7:30 a.m. to 9 a.m.; lunch, 11:15 a.m. to 12:45 p.m.; dinner, 5:15 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.
Sunday: Breakfast, 9 a.m. to 10 a.m.; lunch, 11:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m.; dinner, 5:15 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Campus Prepares To Mark July 4

By RoANN BOELTER

Mixed emotions toward the July 4 holiday prevail on campus.

The traditional picnic is the center of plans many students have made.

Others have more enthusiastic plans such as water-skiing, boating, and horse races. One fraternity, Delta Tau Delta, is having a reunion.

The mass migration that the University is predicting is almost certain to become reality. Many feel that this holiday is probably the only time they will get home during the summer session.

A few individuals are staying on campus with only their imagination to provide a suitable way to exploit their patriotism.

One anonymous student said, "Don't ask me. I'm not doing anything."

One thing is certain: it will be classes as usual Friday and again Monday.

Movie Program To Make Debut

By RoANN BOELTER

Location of the free movies sponsored by the Student Union has been changed to the Red Room in Smith Hall.

On July 1, a film musical "Flower Drum Song" will be shown in full color. Stars are Nancy Kwan, James Shigeta, and Miyoshi Umeki.

This movie captures the mastery of Rodgers and Hammerstein's Broadway original. It explodes with music, dances, comedy and pathos. The conflict involves the age-old Oriental customs and the ring-a-ding modernites of life today in San Francisco's Chinatown.

Twelve of Rodgers' and Hammerstein's greatest songs are woven into the scenes. The movie begins at 7:30 p.m.

"The Great Imposter" starring Tony Curtis, Edmond O'Brien, Arthur O'Connell, Karl Malden, Gary Merrill and Raymond Massey is scheduled for July 15. On July 29, "The Spiral Road" with Rock Hudson, Burl Ives, and Gena Rowlands will be shown.
