UND

University of North Dakota UND Scholarly Commons

The Dakota Student

UND Publications

7-3-1968

July 3, 1968

The Dakota Student

How does access to this work benefit you? Let us know!

Follow this and additional works at: https://commons.und.edu/dakota-student

Recommended Citation

The Dakota Student. "July 3, 1968" (1968). The Dakota Student. 577. https://commons.und.edu/dakota-student/577

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the UND Publications at UND Scholarly Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Dakota Student by an authorized administrator of UND Scholarly Commons. For more information, please contact und.commons@library.und.edu.

THE SUMMER STUDENT

Alphonso Nuivita (right), a tribesman from the mountains in northern Columbia, waits patiently for the interview to end while Chad Stendal (left), his sponsor, cxplains a point. He is on campus this summer so students of the Linguistic Institute can study his language.

Columbia Tribesman Spends Summer at U

By CONNIE NESS

"Just a minute, I'll get him."

But while he was getting him, he came rushing in, work-ing a yo-yo skillfully up and down and chewing bubble gum. He wore loose white pants, a white tunic-like top, socks, shoes and a striped cloth shoulder-bag. He is about five-foot-three and has shoulder-length hair.

His name is Alphonso Nuivita and he comes from the Kogi tribe on the Sierra Navada de Santa Marta mountain in northern Columbia, South America. He is accompanied America. He is accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Chadwill Stenidal, who participate in UND's Summer Linguistic In-stitute. Students in the institute are studying his language while he is learning Spanish. But so far he can speak only a little Spanish and no English, or the interview was actually

But so far he can speak only a little Spanish and no English, so the interview was actually conducted through his sponsors. Mr. and Mrs. Stendal. Mrs. Stendal explained his folothing. In Alphonso's tribe the men do the weaving and sewing. They buy the thread, weave it from a handmade loom and put the large pieces to gether with very little cutting or sewing. Most of the tribes people, except farmers, do not wear shoes. The bag around Alphonso's shoulders serves as a pocket. The women of the tribe make them. Tribe Grows Long Hair Neither the men nor women of his tribe ever cut their hair, except for one month a year when they are allowed to trim it.

it. Yo-yos are the latest fad in Bogota, Columbia, and on the way to the United States Al-phonso bought one. He's be-tween 16 and 18 years old, but in America he has the interests of an 11-year-old. Mrs. Stendal explained that in his society he considered a man. He could explained that in his society he is considered a man. He could marry and have a farm of his own. But since we do not con-sider an 18-year-old a man, he amuses himself with toys. He

Invest bubble gum. Alphonso is taking swimming lessons at the fieldhouse and can float. His tribespeople in the mountains never swim be-cause the water is too cold. They cause the base and cave in water cause the water is too cold. They rarely bathe and stay in water only as long as necessary. At first Mr. and Mrs. Stendal had a difficult time trying to get him to take his shirt off and put on swimming trunks. In his tribe men cover up their (Continued on Page 2)

Judd Urges Wider Viet Bombing

By TIM MARVIN

By HM MARVIN Praising Sherman's march to the sea during the civil war, Dr. Walter Judd urged the bombing of North Vietnam's Red River dikes as the least dangerous and most effective means of bringing the Vietnam war to a close war to a close. Speaking before a crowd of about 500, mostly middle-aged and elderly persons in the State Ballroom Monday evening, the former Minnesota Congressman spoke mostly about the war in Vietnam

Vietnam. Generally following the tra-ditional right-wing line, Judd called the domino theory a demonstrated fact, opposed Red China's entry into the United Nations, attacked "intellec-tuals", slammed the Supreme Court, complained about U.S. bombing restrictions and debombing restrictions and de-fended U. S. aid to fascist Spain but attacked aid to Tito's Yugoslavia slavia. Peace Not Available "Is the word of the United States any good?" is the first question the Vietnam war pos-es, Judd stated. According to him, because of commitments an "honorable peace" is not available. The U.S. can only have peace in Vietnam by breaking its word, he said. "What is the war about?" Judd asked for his second ques-

"What is the war about?" Judd asked for his second ques-tion. "It's about how interna-tional disputes should be set-tled," he answered. "Are we to run when a newly independent nation (apparently in reference to South Vietnam) cries for he asked. heln?

In his question and answer game, "What is the stake?" was the third question. He called the domino theory "a demon-strated fact" and said that it is the United States that is at stake.

History Won't Justify

"What is the problem?" was Judd's fourth question. The answer: "Aggressive communist expansion" in the form of "the stubborn refusal of Hanoi to let the South Vietnamese people have their independence

He went on to attack the U.S. policy of restraint in the war, saying that South Vietnam and saying that South vietnam and our troops were "let down." He bitterly attacked bombing restrictions and said "History will never justify the use of our power ineffectively." He complimented the South Vietnamese army.

If Goldwater had been elected in 1964, the war would have been over in three to four been over in three to four months, Judd stated. According to him, the reason he (Judd) didn't support Goldwater at first was because he knew Goldwater couldn't be elected. at "Goldwater was right," Judd said. was too forth-

'Negotiate or Else'

"Prospects for peace in Viet-nam have never been so far away," he stated and added that the U.S.'s eagerness to negotiate reduces its chances

The U.S. should tell Ho Chi Minh and North Vietnam "to negotiate or else." The "or else" would include blockading the coast and bombing the river dikes, thereby destroying 80 per cent of North Vietnam's food supply.

Judd listed two reasons why the U.S. hasn't taken such measures: fear of Red China and fear of the Soviet Union.

"We face destruction by de-fault unless we have salvation by rebirth," he stated.

Judd's concluding statement: "The only hope for Asia is the return of mainland China to the free world."

1.77-

WALTER JUDD

Pre-registration Half Completed; 600 Enrolled So Far

About half of the students expected to pre-register for the 1968-69 UND freshman class have registered for admission during the first month of the University's summer pre-regis-rtation program. Six-hundred students have registered as of students have registered as of July 1.

The special summer program, which began June 3 and continues through Aug. 2, is in its fifth year at UND. Conducted University College through University College, UND's freshman division, it is designed to provide more time for personal attention and in-dividual counseling for incom-ing students to reduce registra-tion time and problems in the ough fall

About 1,200 members of the 1968-69 UND freshman class are expected to take advantage are expected to take advantage of the program, according to Luther Bjerke, University di-rector of high school relations. An average of 30 students per day have applied for admission since the program started. The pre-registrations are running about the same as last year. For a freshman to pre-regis-

(Continued on Page 2)

Center Food Prices Raised By JAN ADAM There'll be some changes

made And some of them have al-ready been made. Prices of sandwiches and dry cereal have been raised in the University Center Varsity Inn and cafeterias "We'll probably be raising more prices in the fall because of the rise in food and help cost," according to Miss Gladys Black, director of Food Serv-

con. lettuce and tomato, grilled cheese, egg salad and minced ham sandwiches have been raised a nickel each. And dry cereal, which has been selling for a dime per box with a small pitcher of milk, has been raised to 15 cents.

"Our milk was raised from

Extended Weekend

will enjoy an extended Fourth-of-July weekend.

Classes will end at regular hours today and will be re-sumed Monday at 7:30 a.m. Chester Fritz library will be closed July 4 through 7 as will administrative offices on

Next week final examina-tions for the first four-week session and mid-term examinations for eight-week courses will be held during regular class periods. They will be one-hour examinations in most faculty

Exams to Follow

At University

all campus.

tions

UND students and matoes and lettuce have been real high priced, too. Meat has been up for a long time but we just haven't been rising to meet

According to Mrs. Muriel Gryte, manager of the Center Food Service, the only reason food prices in the Center are rising is because of the rising cost of food and wages. "The cost of busboys is going up in the fall and fulltime help will be going up too. We have to meet the minimum fair wage law requirements."

-the styro-foam cups were un-popular with coffee drinkers and were replaced by china cups before the end of the summer session.

UND is one of the few places the country where coffee is in the country where coffee is still a nickel, according to Miss Black. "We are putting off raising it to a dime as long as we can." She estimates, how-ever, that raising coffee to a dime a cup would add about $10,000 to Food Service's intake.

European Affairs Topic Of U Speaker Monday

A State Department official will visit UND Monday for a lecture and informal talks with students and faculty students and faculty. James Stromayer of the Of-fice of European Community and Atlantic Political-Economic Affairs will discuss "DeGaulte and the Crisis in France," dur-ing a presentation in the Uni-versity Center lecture bowl at 8 p.m. He will examine the latest events in France and their effects on the European Community. Stromayer will also be avail-able for informal discussions

Stromayer will also be avail-able for informal discussions with history, economics and po-litical science classes through-out the afternoon. The evening lecture is free and open to the public. Stromayer holds degrees from Northwestern and Johns Hopkins. He served in Stock-holm and London and recently returned to Washington after

JAMES STROMAYER

62 to 82 cents a gallon in April and we expect it to be raised again," Miss Black said. "To-

"We try not to raise prices and we haven't for a long time," Miss Black said. "The Food Service is completely self-sustaining, we receive no sub-ridien" sidies.

Included in the expenses of the Food Service operation are food, wages, dishes, equipment and space rental in the Center.

Last summer, in an attempt to cut costs, Food Service switched to using styro-foam coffee cups exclusively, in place of china cups. Though more economical in both cost and re-placement—"china cups walk out of here like they have legs"

* Alphonso

(Continued from page 1) chest, while women aren't ashamed to go bare.

He Loves Volleyball

He's also learned to play vol-leyball and loves it. Alphonso not only had to learn the game but he had to learn how to catch. In his native mountains catch. In his native mountains people just don't throw things— if you miss it's gone down the slope. He plays volleyball al-most every day with the chil-dren on campus—blowing bub-bles and whapping the ball. The others used to keep score in Spanish for his benefit until one day when he suddenly an day when he suddenly an-nounced the score in English. Before he leaves America he wants to buy a bike, a watch and a radio to take back to his tribe. He's already bought a shotgun. The Stendals met Alphonso while working with the tribes-people in Columbia. His father brought him because he wanted brought him because he wanted the Stendals to teach him to read, write and speak Spanish. Alphonso's father was looking ahead to the time when he would die and leave an inheri-tance because the tribesman who can't speak Spanish and has to deal with the Spanish-speaking lawwer does not sh speaking lawyers does not al-ways know if he's being treated fairly fairly. Work in Columbia Pat and Chad Stendal work with the Indians in Columbia on invitation of the government. They teach Spanish, farming methods and simple medical techniques, but, as Mr. Stendal explained, "We are not trying to integrate them—or Ameri-canize their culture—just help them live in Columbian societty." They brought Albhonso here

They brought Alphonso here to learn more about his culture and to help Mr. Stendal with his thesis for his Master of Lin-guistics degree. Alphonso is learning Spanish and arithme-

Their method is to teach Al-phonso to read and write in his own language first. Then it's easier to switch to Spanish. He can write his name in Spanish now

now. When Alphonso returns to his country he will be the mediator between his tribe and the Co-lumbian government. He will communicate to them the tribe's communicate to them the tribe's needs. But he will return to a different branch of his tribe. His family lives in a community that is not friendly with out-siders and considers it a crime punishable by death to teach punishable by death to teach the language and customs of the tribe to an outsider. The tribe to which he will return has ac-cepted the Stendals and has learned from them. Alphonso was looking thor-oughly bored with the interview and was glad when it ended so he could run off to play ball.

(Continued from Page 1) (Continued from Page 1) ter, he must have been accept-ed for admission to UND and have made a pre-registration appointment with the Universi-ty College. Pre-registration is being conducted from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in room 415 cf Twamley Hall. University faculty members Thiversity faculty members assisting Bjerke with pre-regis-tration are Lloyd Jarman, as-sistant professor of education; John Whitcomb, assistant pro-fessor of mathematics, and Ro-bert Snortland, assistant pro-fessor of engineering drawing. Barbara Alsdorf of Grand Forks is also assisting. Student assitants are Clifford Cranna Jr. and Cheryl Foreng, Joth of Devils Lake; Charles LaGrave, Mandan, and Judy Jarmen, Grand Forks.

Faculty Works, Studies Abroad

UND faculty members are in-volved in educational and reprojects around search

> John Rowe, chairman of the business education depart-ment, served as an educational consultant to several foreign governments during an around-the-world trip sponsored by the U. S. Agency for International Development (ALD) and the McGraw Hill Publishing Company. He visited eight countries,

Around the Globe

From the Deacon's Pulpit

teaching demonstrations and assisting local governments in setting up business education program programs. Dr. Bernt L. Wills, professor of geography, recently complet-ed a year's sabbatical leave in the Pacific. He studied the ge-ography of the southwest Pacif-ic area with emphasis on New Zealand and Australia. Plans made prior to his departure also included a study of wheat pro-duction and comparisons with duction and comparisons with North Dakota.

Dr. LeRoy A. Stone, a mem-ber of the UND psychology de-partment, just returned from a year of research in Europe. He year of research in Europe. He was a visiting scientist in the Perception and Psycholphysics Unit of the Psychological Labor-atories at the University of Stockholm, Sweden.

Stockholm, Sweden. Dr. Thomas T. Walker, associ-ate professor of Education and director of secondary education, will be travelling to Afghanis-tain later next month. He will serve as a special advisor in teacher education for the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization for two years. two years

Other faculty members who spent some time abroad recently include Clara A. Pederson, as-sociate professor of education, who travelled to England to study the elementary school system; Dr. D. Jerome Tweton, chairman of the history depart-Chairman of the history depart-ment, who spent some time in Paris on a research project; Dr. Gordon Iseminger and Dr. Hanno Hardt who accompanied a group of UND students on a field trip to England and Germany

2 Students Win In U Dating Game

Two Upward Bound students were the grand winners of dates, movie tickets, pizzas and prize money Friday night when they participated in a locally enacted version of the tele-vision show The Dating Game.

The first winner was Terry Schumacher who was chosen by Dianne Timboe. The other two contestants were Cliff Nelson and Jim Capes.

Ralph Birkadahl chose Dorothy Grandbois as his date in the second question period. Patty Olsen and Sharon Pari-sien were the other contest-

Much of the exterior work has been completed on Gamble Hall, the new classroom building under construction at the University of North Dakota. Named in honor of Bertin C. Gamble, native North Dakotan and chairman of the Board of Gamble-Skogmo, Inc., Minneapolis, the three-floor structure will house the College of Business and Public Administration and class-rooms and facilities for several other academic programs at UND. Construction on the $1.8 rooms and facilities for several other academic programs at UND. Construction on the $1.8 million building was begun last fall, and completion is expected for classes next fall. One feature of the building is a 12-sided lecture bowl with five pie-shaped audi/oriums, located on the south (left) side. Gamble Hall is situated between Burtness Theatre and Oxford House on the west side of the UND campus. Gamble, for whom the building is named, received an honorary doctorate from UND in 1965. Gamble Hall, which is made possible, in part, by a $200,000 gift from the Gamble-Skogmo Foundations, is expected to be occupied between Aug. 15 and Sept. 1. The photo was taken early this spring.

Workshoppers Set Eccentric Comedy For July 12 Show

By NICKY SAYER

By NICKY SAYER Broad humor, eccentric com-edy and furious pace-that's what's being said about Labiche and Merc-Michel's farce "The Italian Straw Hat." The show is playing at Burtness Theatre on the UND campus, July 12th end 12th 13th and 13th. The play is being presented as part of the UND Summer Speech Institute for High School Students. The entire cast is composed of Institute participants. Directed by Al Reller, UND Directed by Al Keller, UND graduate speech student, the play concerns the adventures and misadventures of a young bridggroom, Fadinard, played by Tim Hoel, Thief River Falls, by Tin Minn. Minn. Fadinard's horse has eaten the Italian straw hat of Anais, played by Julle Berg, Cushing, Wis., who had been preoccupied with her lover by the roadside.

the roadside. The lover, played by Andrew Roe, Cleveland, N. D., is a fierce soldier. He demands the return of his lady's hat. Fadin-ard, although busy with his wedding preparation, engages in a frantic search for a straw hat to replace the one eaten by his horse. The plot thickens into a hilarious chase with a surprise wedding.

surprise wedding. The remainder of the cast includes: Karen Willie, Super-ior, Wis., as Helene, Fadinard's bride; Bruce Marwin, Grand Forks, as Nonancourt, Helene's father; Gene Monson, Lignite, as Beauperthus, Anais' hus-band; Kip Tarpley, Grand Forks, Bobin, Helen's cousin; Joe Genereux, Angus, Minn., as Vezinet, Helene's deaf uncle; Jackie Arnold, Angus, Minn., as Clara, Fadinard's ex-loyer; as Clara, Fadinard's ex-lover; Ken Carlson, Cleveland, as as Clara, Fadinard's ex-lover; Ken Carlson, Cleveland, as Tardiveau, Clara's bookkeeper; Lios Lenroot, Superior, Wis., as the Baroness de Champigny; Bob Fleur, Grand Forks, as Achille de Rosabella, the Bar-oness' nephew; Janet Severson, Grand Forks, as Virginia, the chambermaid of Beauperthus; Art Raymond, Grand Forks, as Felix, Fadinard's servant; Bill James, Grand Forks, as the Corporal; Sylvia Jefferies, Terre Haute, Ind., as the cham-bermaid of the Baroness; and Nicky Sayer, Cooperstown, the assistant director. The performances are at 8:15

assistant director. The performances are at 8:15 p.m. each night and all seats are unreserved. Tickets are $1.25 for adults, 75 cents for students and 50 cents for chil-dren under 13.

Kannowski Named N.D. Journal Editor

Dr. Paul B. Kannowski, chairman of the biology depart-ment at UND, is editor of a new quarterly nature journal. The magazine, "The Prairie The magazine, "The Prairie Naturalist," is the official pub-lication of the newly-formed North Dakota Natural Science Society, founded in 1967.

The SUMMER STUDENT

Published weekly on Thurs-days during the Summer Session

Printed at the University Press, Joe W. Hughes, manager; Ralph Weisgram, plant superintendent. Editor

Janet Adam Editor Janet Adam Contributors include Daniel E. Danielson, Connie Ness and Tim Marvin. Photo credits: John.Bernard and UND Bureau of News and Information. Faculty Advisor... Hanno Hardt

It's the Fourth of July season. It's the time for all good men to come to the aid. It's the time for patriotism, whatever that means. (It must mean something.) I've hated Fourth of July ever since I found out that the whole thing was not about truth and justice and equality. It's more like a Outdrink-Your-Booze-Buddy contest for Your-Booze-Buddy contest at twenty-four hours. Or, Let's-See-How-High-This-Can - Will - Go - With-A-Black-Cat-Under-It game. The Stagnating Set (those

Season for Good Men

the

Some time ago I was sitting in a cafe, sipping fluoridated water, when I overheard two elderly ladies discussing life.

"Say, did you hear about the student at UND that challenged his draft board to make him I-A because he obstructed an Army Recruiter?"

Army Recruiter?" "Yes," the other answered wisely. "Isn't it sad. Why my sister has a friend out East. They're a good family. They send their boy to ... well, one of the good Eastern colleges. And now he comes back with long hair, dirty and ... oofta. Somebody like that certainly must have something wrong with his head." "Yes," the first replied. "And it certainly isn't good for the nation."

means that he hurts America because he has some stupid ideas—most likely about money and basic values nation." Which, as far as I can tell

And suddenly I just stop and think: Who really needs an essay contest on patriotism?

Campus People Made Massive Lines at Hamburger Fry

New School Functions Dr. Rowe to Lecture on Typing Skill The final 1967-68 address of he UND Faculty Lecture As Seminars Are Held the

A workshop in reading readiness and perception concluded today for 55 students in the New School of Behavioral Studies in Education.

The workshop was conducted by Dr. George Spache, a mem-ber of the University of Florida Reading Center.

A two-day seminar in written and oral communication will start Monday under the direc-tion of Dr. Mildred Dawson, professor emeritus of education, Sacramento, Calif. Dr. Sacha and D.

Dr. Spache and Dr. Dawson are among a number of consult-ants and visiting teachers who participate in the first session of the New School which be-gan June 18.

New School director Dr. Vito Perrone officially assumed his duties July 1. He replaced Dr. Donald E. Barnes who resigned to become vice president of student affairs at Prescott Col-lege, Prescott, Ariz.

Town Development Intern Program Established at U

UND public administration students will have an oppor-tunity to gain practical experi-ence in community develop-ment. Work in the state will be carried out by the UND Bureau of Governmental Affairs dur-ing the 1968-69 fiscal year un-der an award from the U. S. Department of Housing and Ur-ban Development.

A the observed from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. A two-part program will underwrite five 18-week internships for advanced UND students in public administration to work in North Dakota municipalities in areas of community development and will assist the League of North Dakota Municipalities in offering more services in community development and will assist the League of North Dakota Municipalities in offering more services in community development and the state. Lloyd B. Omdahl, assistant director of the Bureau of Government al Affairs, announced that it will administer the slopof provided under title 8 of the Housing Act of 1964. The funds are for the period from July 1, 1968, through June 30, 1969.

1969. Student interns will be se-lected during the first semester of the 1968-69 academic year, Omdahl said. Internships will be arranged with participating municipalities, with some matching funds provided by the communities in which the students work students work

To facilitate what Dr. Per-rone called a "total confronta-tion of ideas," graduate stu-dents in the New School were divided into groups of 18 and assigned one faculty specialist in the humanities and one in psychology in the hur psychology

Dr. Perrone urged students to think of the group as a kind of "home base." Members enjoy of "home base." Members enjoy almost complete freedom in de-ciding what to discuss, when to mente, working in whatever manner seems most natural for the particular group. The completed course work will be evaluafed on a satis-factory-unsatisfactory basis, a radical departure from the tra-ditional A.B-C grading system.

ditional A-B-C grading system.

students are required to constudents are required to con-duct at least one self-taught elementary science experiment per week at the learning re-sources center at Lake Agassiz school, to familiarize them-selves with books and learning material in the center and to study special material placed on reserve at Chester Fritz Li-braw

on reserve a control brary. "Each student will set his own goals and strive to im-prove in self-designated areas of the elementary school cur-riculum," according to Neils Hensrud, a research associate in the Division of Evaluation

In about two weeks members will be selected for the instruc-tional exchange teams that will spend the 1968-69 school year in one of the 13 cooperating school districts.

school districts. The teams of three to five master's degree candidates will fill positions of underprepared teachers who will return to the University for additional work toward bachelors degrees. Each unit will be formed to represent a cross-section of teacher talent and achievement to be able to cope with any responsibilities school districts might assign to the instructionmight assign to the instruction-

New School personnel will make periodic trips to the par-ticipating schols and work with the teachers in the field.

Computer Center Closes For Several Days

The Computer Center will be closed for the next five days, according to Conrad Dietz, di-rector of the Center. However, special arrangement for faculty and staff who require the use of computers dur-ing this period can be made by contacting the Center's office.

Series will include vario demonstrations of how skill variou typewriting is developed. Dr. John Rowe, University profes-sor of business education and sor or business education and department chairman, will speak on "Developing Motor Skill in Typewriting: A Dem-onstration Lecture" at 8 pm. Tuesday in the Leonard Hall lecture bowl.

The lecture is free and open to the public. Dr. Rowe's talk will be the 70th since the series was initiated in 1954 by UND

President George W. Starcher Dr. Rowe said the demonstra-Dr. Rowe said the demonstra-tion-lecture is one he has pre-sented in several states and foreign countries. In it, he stresses two concepts that pro-mote the skill of typewriting, variability of response and the reading factor. To develop the

Saxophone Recital Set for Monday

Dale Preston Hallack, former Date Preston Hallack, former band director at Bottineau Pub-lic Schools, will present a grad-uate recital, in partial fulfill-ment of the requirements for a master's degree in music, will be at 8:15 p.m. in the Educa-tion Building auditorium. will Hallack, a saxophonist, will be accompanied by Sharon Lohse, pianist, Newburg, He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Dale Hallack of Reno, Nev. Hallack is a student of Mi-heal Polouitz associate profes-chael Polovitz, associate profes-sor of music, and UND director of bands.

of bands. Among the selections in the recital program are "Gavotte" by Gluck, Handel's "Sonate," Pascal's "Sonatine," "Scara-mauche" by Darius Milhaud, and "Cantilena" by Warren Benson.

first concept, the student is of orded with a large amount of material so that he is, exposed to two- and three-letter through the student learns that he is exposed for word detail and per the student learns to the stude

Dr. Rowe recently returned from a trip to England, Leban-on, India, East Pakistan, Nepal, Thailand, the Philippines and Japan, in which he spoke and gave teaching demonstrations in business education to various groups. Sponsored by the U. S. groups. Sponsored by the U. S. Agency for International De-velopment (AID), he assisted the local governments in these countries in setting up business education programs and in working with teachers in im-proving instruction in type-uriting.

Droking instruction in type-writing. Dr. Rowe is co-author of a typewriting textbook used in secondary schools in the United States, United Kingdom and France. He has also co-authored a similär college text. He earn-ed the bachelor's degree from Wisconsin State University, Whitewater; the master of arts from the University of Iowa, Iowa City, and the doctor of education from Columbia Uni-versity. He came to UND in 1955 and received the honorary 1955 and received the honorary title of "University Professor" in 1966 for his long and distinguished service

Students and Teachers In Journalism Programs

Over 60 high school students Over 60 high school students and seven journalism teachers have registered for summer journalism programs, according to the office of the workshop director Archie N. Hill, Assist-ant professor of Journalism.

Deadline for registrations was July 1, however, applica-tions are still accepted and processea. Sixty-six high school stu-dents will attend the High School Journalist Institute Aug. 4 to 9 on the UND campus. Sequences in newspaper, year-book and feature writing will be offered.

Seven applications have been received for the High School Journalism Directors Workshop scheduled for Aug. 11 to 17 at Medora and Dickinson, N. D.

The course, originally planned or the UND campus was The course, originally produces for the UND campus was moved to Medora because of production facilities there, ac-cording to Hill's office. A news-paper will be published by the optimized cording to Hill's office. A news-paper will be published by the participants. The workshop is sponsored by the UND Department of Journalism. Fellowships total-ing over $1,500 have been made available by The Newspaper Fund, Inc. and North Dakota publishers. The Directors Workshop will

The Directors Workshop will be followed by the Old West Writers Workshop Aug. 18 to 23 at Medora for which seven applications have been received.

The workshop will feature instruction in writing tech-niques, historical research, and marketing of articles.

University Center

'Guess Who's Coming to Dinner' Disappointing, Critic Says of Film zation that he has been thor-

By CHARLES W. BIRD The last of the 1967 multiple-academy-award motion pictures has arrived at Grand Forks: "Guess Who's Coming to Din-ner." In this reviewer's opinion, it is in a completely different it is in a completely different class than "The Graduate," "In the Heat of Night," et al. To put it as gently as possible, the movie stinks. One emerges from the movie with the realization that he has been thor-oughly taken. When a movie is sloppily done and ten emotionally de-tached critics are asked to re-view it, ten vastly different negative descriptions are apt to result in the attempt to pin down the elicited feeling of ill ease. However, "Dinner" is far from sloppy: it is a precision effort of mollycoddling.

Editorials:

Here is the sweet, little white girl back from Hawaii just oozing innocence and sincerity and all sorts of unblemished-ness. And with a nice black fiancee. Talk about innocencel Mama asks Baby if she's slept with pretty Sidney-John. "He wouldn't." Yeah, sure. Then ending gets pretty hor-rible with Papa Tracy's capitu-lating amidst a "Follies of 1934" speech on romantic love ren-

The with "Papa Tracy is capiti-lating amidst a "Folies of 1934" speech on romantic love ren-dered sophisticated by his cute-sie sputtering of all the "safe" swear words the script writers could come up with. This saccharine heap is, if anything, higher than the acad-emy award presentation with all its drooling on Dr. King's coffin But it is interesting, at least, for the tightrope attempt to offend nobody and still seem "sophisticated." Spencer Tracy, Katherine Hepburn, and Sidney Politier are three of the finest professionals in the business. The latter turns in what may be the worst performance of his career, but Tracy and Hep-burn manage nicely at prevent-ing their polish from shining too bricktly. ing their polish from shining ing their poilsn from sninning too brightly. Katherine Houghton as the little girl is another story al-together. She is a fine window decoration but nowhere at all is on a control of the store of the decoration but nowhere at all is an actress. Somehow one is unconvinced that she loves John-that she could ever love anyone at all, except maybe a silkworm or a teddybear. Frankly, the girl fails to come off at all. Tracy and Hepburn provide several moments of re-lease. This phenomena is known as rising above one's material lease. This phenomena is known as rising above one's material —both are great performers and proven it here again. It ain't so at all, my friend. Any system without hurting never passes beyond the realm of dreams. The premises are shot. The word from here is: see "The Graduate" again.

German Theatre Expert to Join UND Department

An expert on the German theatre will join the UND Speech Department this fall replacing Dr. Henry Lee, who speech Department this fail replacing Dr. Henry Lee, who resigned earlier this month. He is Dr. Ronald G. Engle, currently at the University of Illinois where he just complet-ed his graduate studies with a dissertation on Franz Lang and the Jesuit Theatre. Dr. Engle also studied at German universities in Muens-ter and Cologne in 1959-60 and 1966-67. He has written, trans-lated and produced a number of plays and recorded Frost and Sandburg readings. He was appointed assistant professor of speech, according to Dr. Bernard Brommel, chair-man of the department.

man of the department.

Dr. Lee will join the faculty of Temple University, Phila-delphia, Pa., next fall.

Special Events

p.m. Free movie, "Heller in Pink Tights," University Center Ball-room, 7:30 p.m. July 11: Senior piano recital, Elsie Blair Magnus, Prairie Ballroom, University Center, 8:15 p.m.

Lisé, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jon Nelson enjoyed her snack during the Hamburger Fry last week on the banks of the English Coulee.

10 Research Professors To Serve Next Summer

Ten Summer Research Pro-fessorships will be established at UND for each of the next six years under a grant from the Hill Family Foundation of the Hill Family Foundation of St. Paul.

St. Paul. Dr. A. William Johnson, dean of the graduate school, an-nounced that the Hill Founda-tion will provide 84,000 over the six-year period of the $120,-000 program. The remaining $36,000 will come from state funds, Johnson said. The Summer Research Pro-fessors will be selected from the UND graduate faculty and

Iessors will be selected from the UND graduate faculty and graduate students will work under their direction. The goal of the program is to create more of a research environment in which gradu-tate students may develop an interest and experience in re-wearch and creative scholar-ship, according to Dr. Johnson, ship, according to Dr. Johnson. He said it is hoped that the program will become permanent, and even be expanded, fol-lowing the six-year initial period

A UND research professor

Dr. Johnson called the professorships a "significant step forward in the UND graduate and research program."

Rainy, Cool Days Continue at UND

Another weekend vanished down the drain pipes as 1.1 inches of rain and 30 mile-an-hour winds besieged Grand Forks Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Monday.

No weather damage was re-ported on campus, however, according to Gordon Kroeber, superintendent of Buildings and Grounds. "Normal problems with leaky roofs" were the only evidence of the latest downpour," Kroeber said.

Dr. Lee Receives 5-Year Extension Of $82,000 Hill Foundation Grant

Dr. Ya Pin Lee, Hill research professor of biochemistry re-ceived the renewal grant from the Louis W. and Maud Hill Family Foundation of St. Paul, Minn

He became Hill research pro-fessor in 1963. Recognized as a national authority on the thyroid hormone, Dr. Lee was the first to show the action of the thyroid hormone on an enzyme envolved in carbohy-drate metabolism.

The renewal grant brings the total amount of funds contrib-uted by the Hill Foundation to about $560,000. Five professors in the UND medical school have held these grants for a period from five to ten years.

UND Summer Abroad We noted that a number of UND faculty members have spent some time abroad travelling and conducting research. Students, undoubtedly, will benefit from their experiences and others will be encouraged to participate in international programs. But isn't it time for UND faculty and administration to start thinking of "study abroad" projects involving students?

With modern air transportation as inexpensive as it is on a charter basis and prices abroad still pretty reason-able for American travellers, wouldn't it be possible to establish a UND summer-abroad program next year?

Instead of attending classes in European history, arts and the like on campus, students and faculty could actually conduct classes prior to field trips at a base location on the continent.

Other universities have had programs of this nature for many years—we think it is time for UND to go international.

Surprise, Surprise

Little kids like surprises.

Big kids even like surprises. Sometmes.

But sometimes surprises mean you can't buy a psychol-textbook or cash a check. Big kids don't like surprises like that.

Sometimes the bookstore closes for inventory and no-body knows about it ahead of time. It's a surprise. The bookstore is the only place on campus big kids can cash checks. But they can pay ten cents to cash a local check in the bookstore when it is open. That's kind of a surprise, too.

The bookstore is full of surprises. It's open until 3:30, five days a week. It's not open on Saturdays. But that's

Not a surprise. Sometimes the bookstore receives a new book, like "Superstoe." But then it closes for inventory the same day. That's kind of funny. But not surprising.

Saints Hard to Get

The university has hired an ex-priest and his wife, a former nun, to teach in the Religion Department and in the New School, respectively. We understand that both are highly qualified to teach their fields.

Their appointment has resulted in several newspaper articles. We also heard that some administrators are worried about the publicity and the image of the univerarticles.

sity. Again. We can't quite understand them. After all, we do live in the twentieth century and people do have the right to decide their own lives. This university needs qualified teachers-they are hard to find. Saints are almost impossible to get these days.

Summer Will Come

We always felt that the least a student can expect during the summer term is good weather—the courses may be mediocre and the instructors so-so, BUT the weather must be excellent. Instead, it's cool and wet, the Coulee banks are empty and hot coffee and tea are bestsellers in the University Center cafeteria.

Center cateteria. If you feel cheated, we don't blame you. But you can't ask for your money back, so why not read some books, study, attend classes and learn something before summer gets here. We are sure it will happen soon.

July 8: English Proficiency Test, University Center Ball-room, 7 p.m. July 9: Faculty lecture, Dr. John Rowe, chairman, UND business education department, Leonard Hall Lecture Bowl, 8

p.m

8:15 p.m.

