BENCH AND BAR

PRESIDENT'S PAGE

The past year has been relatively short for the State Bar Association because of the fact that the American Bar Association is having an early convention, with meetings in both New York and London.

We have, during the past several months, observed many accomplishments in behalf of the association and its members. The most outstanding activities featured the fruition of programs previously planned, and also the continuation and commencement of new objectives, which were concluded with an application to the American Bar Association for an Award of Merit.

Perhaps the most ambitious achievement was the adoption of the new rules of civil procedure by our State Supreme Court, and which became effective on July 1. The new rules of procedure are the long tested and approved rules of civil procedure, adopted by the United States Supreme Court for the federal district courts. This new practice will eliminate much of the guessing in court procedure, and in the trial of lawsuits, which will also permit lawyers to employ the same procedures in the federal courts and the state courts. North Dakota is the 13th state to follow in the adoption of such rules, and it is obviously only a question of time until the courts in other states adopt the theory that rules of court procedure should be made by the courts, because of their qualifications, observation, and experiences in the determination of the substantive and legal rights of litigants.

Our second principal activity for the year resulted from our legislative program, through which an improved, adequate and much more satisfactory judicial retirement act was adopted, replacing the former wholly inadequate retirement act, the adoption of a modern business corporation law, acts to modernize title standards, a statute to increase the salaries of court reporters, a statute to raise the license fee for the adequate support of the State Bar Board, and the association, and statutes to provide for the taxation of expert witness fees, and fees for jurors, justice courts, and police magistrate courts.

Our third principal activity included our continued program of holding institutes and sectional meetings for the continued legal education of practicing lawyers. We have now held two medical-legal institutes, which have led to the approval of an inter-professional code with the North Dakota State Medical Association, and which will undoubtedly receive favorable action from the bodies of the two professions at their annual conventions.

Additional outstanding activities of the association also included our public relations work, which have been ably carried on through an active public relations committee, an improved disability group insurance plan, and the availability of a group life insurance plan to the members of the State Bar Association.

These many valuable developments demonstrate the advantages of an integrated bar association, which brings the lawyers together as a self-governing body and permits the members to be served in a way which they could not, individually, accomplish.

The program of the last year also proves that our North Dakota State Bar Association is one of the best in the nation. A few observations clearly indicate that, and these include the fact that we were the first integrated bar association, one of the leaders in the adoption of the new rules of practice, having a high standard in our continued educational program, one of the first states to adopt a group life insurance plan, and our standing as the seventh highest state with ABA memberships. We twice won an award of Merit, and have an excellent showing for our pending application.

We are taking an active interest in improvements in administrative law practice in the state and are in the process of carrying on a well organized program to eliminate the unauthorized practice of law. With our public relations work, which will bring the members of the bar closer to the public, and the adoption of more uniform codes of procedure, upon rules of evidence and branches of substantive law, with a program to eliminate court delays in deciding cases, we will continue to be one of the leading bar associations that will enjoy the cooperation of our state legislature and the public, which will qualify us to continue to spread the gospel of the law and its purpose, with that of our association, to the public.

(Signed)

FLOYD B. SPERRY

President North Dakota State Bar Assn.

PHI ALPHA DELTA NEWS

Corliss Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta, under the capable leadership of Justice David Vaaler, enjoyed a very successful school year both academically and socially. During the year several rushing smokers were held with the freshman law students. On February 13, 1957, as a climax to the rushing activities, sixteen members of the class of 1959 were formally pledged, thirteen of whom, along with one upperclassman, were initiated into the fraternity on April 12th. Initiation ceremonies were held in the courtroom of the Law Library, and a banquet in their honor was held at the Elk's Club. The new initiates are: James Kelm, Jaroslav Kruta, Dean Lenaburg, Norman MacPhee, Joseph Maichel, Michael Miller, Richard Rahlfs, John Stewart, Mervin Tuntland, Vernon Volney, William Yuill, Leibert Greenberg, Morris Tschider, and Mark Purdy.

During the past year, Corliss Chapter added to a long list of scholastic achievements when Brother Kenneth Erie was elected to the Order of the Coif.

The Editorial Staff of the North Dakota Law Review, which for the past year included members of Phi Alpha Delta, is again headed by Brothers of Corliss Chapter. Members of the 1957-58 staff include, Gerald Vandewalle as Editor and Armond Erickson as Note Editor. The annual award for outstanding legal writing went this year to Brother Erickson.

In a continuation of the annual hockey game Corliss Chapter turned the tables on Phi Delta Phi by shutting them out by a 4 to 0 score. Our competitors came back to tumble the Brothers in a basketball game. However, Corliss Chapter had the last word in the season's competition by defeating our rivals in a softball game by the score of 11 to 9.

A three man delegation attended the District VII Conclave which was held at Kansas City, Missouri. At this Conclave Brother Elroy Arnason was elected District VII Clerk.

Corliss Chapter made a clean sweep of the annual spring Junior Bar Elections. The newly elected Brothers are: President Wallace Brantseg, Secretary Norman MacPhee and Treasurer John Stewart.

On May 3rd Corliss Chapter was honored with a visit by newly appointed District VII Justice, H. Jay Gunnels. The Chapter held a noon luncheon in his honor at the Bronze Boot Cafe. During the afternoon Justice Gunnels met with Dean Thormodsgard, school faculty and Chapter officers to discuss fraternity problems and activities.

PHI DELTA PHI NEWS

Phi Delta Phi had an exceptional year.

Under the able leadership of Magister Emmett Kearney the organization functioned perfectly and our ranks increased with the pledging and initiating of high caliber men.

Initiated were: Donal Kihle, Rodney Webb, Earl Allen, Gary Skagen, Bill McMenemy, Pedar Wold, Odel Astrup, Paul Rhode, William Lindell, Gerald Jukkala, Dennis Sobolik, Theodore Camrud, Benjamin Ostfield, and Paul Kloster. Others pledged but not initiated were: Wilfred Dillenberg, Curtis Erickson, Thomas Sande, Richard Schnell, Edward O'Connor, John Orban, Duane Jensen, Cecil Reinke, and Marvin Morrison.

This year our slate of candidates ruled the law school as the elected royalty. Emmett Kearney was elected King; Phyllis Ratcliffe, Queen and Jack Stewart, Chancellor. The PDP nominees for this year's Junior Bar Association were also elected last spring. Bob Eckert was elected President; Bob McConn, Treasurer and Larry Hatch, Secretary.

The organization was not as fortunate in athletics as it was in administrative and social functions. Out of three sports played we were victorious in only one—basketball. But boy, were we victorious, —by about 20 points.

In the honors division we were also successful. Bob Eckert was named to the Order of the Coif. Mike Nilles was awarded a $150 scholarship for having the highest average in his Freshman class. Mike was also selected as one of the editors of the North Dakota Law Review. Emmett Kearney was awarded the "Charles E. Dahl Award in Law".

The newly elected officers, who will guide PDP during the 1957-1958 school year are: Paul Rhode, Magister; Earl Allen, Clerk; John Doerr, Exchequer and Jerry Jukla, Historian.

Outgoing officers include Emmett Kearney, Magister; Mike Nilles, Clerk; Bill O'Keefe, Exchequer and Jon Kerian, Historian.

Harry Lashkowitz, prominent Fargo attorney, was this year's honorary initiate. He addressed the dinner following the ceremonies; his topic was "Opportunities for the Young Graduating Lawyer".

The graduating class of 1957 departs with the knowledge and assurance that the members of Phi Delta Phi who return next year will maintain the excellence achieved and fostered through the years; further, we know that mere fostering is not enough, and next years group and that of succeeding years will not slumber in ambivalence but will experience renaissance at every gathering.
