PROMINENT GRIGGS COUNTY LAWYER DIES

Benjamin Tufte, 75, Cooperstown, Griggs county states attorney, died October 25 in a Fargo hospital where he had been a patient for several days. Death was caused by a tumor in the chest cavity, an ailment which had bothered him for some time.

Prominent in Cooperstown civic life and a Griggs county official at intervals for more than 25 years, Mr. Tufte had a career dotted with adventure. Harbor pilot, engineer, mechanic and farm hand preceded his study of law in a Minneapolis attorney's office, and admittance to the bar.

Born August 23, 1861, in Norway, he attended school there and enrolled in the University of Christiania before emigrating to the United States in the 80s. Following attendance at the University of Minnesota he practiced at Red Wing, Minnesota, before coming to Griggs county about the turn of the century.

In 1902 he was elected states attorney, a position he held continuously until his retirement in 1923. In 1932 he was again elected and was completing his term when stricken. He was a candidate for reelection.

In addition to his legal practice he was interested in farm properties and was a one time bank director.

His wife died in 1933. Survivors are one son, Oswald Tufte, Cooperstown, and a sister, Mrs. Britha Ramsey of Binford, besides numerous relatives in Norway.

HENDRICKSON IS BAR PRESIDENT

J. E. Hendrickson was elected to succeed Charles M. Pollock as president of the Cass County Bar association at the organization's annual meeting Friday in connection with opening of the November district court term.

Claire F. Brickner was named vice president and Joseph M. Powers secretary-treasurer, succeeding Hendrickson and Paul G. Thonn, respectively.

A memorial service for two deceased members of the Cass bar and the late Judge C. A. Nye of Moorhead was held. Tribute was paid to the memory of the late W. R. Lovell and M. W. Murphy, both prominent members of the Cass county association for many years.

Resolutions adopted by the Cass and Clay county bar associations following their deaths were read into the court records.

Horace G. Young, whose father and Mr. Lovell were classmates in college, and George Thorp paid tribute to the memory of Mr. Lovell, while L. U. Stambaugh and M. A. Hildreth spoke in memory of Mr. Murphy. James A. Witherow, veteran Moorhead attorney, representing the Clay County Bar association, paid tribute to both Mr. Lovell and Mr. Murphy, and H. G. Nilles spoke in behalf of the late Judge Nye.—From Fargo Forum.

LAW SCHOOL NEWS

The University of North Dakota School of Law completed its registration for the first semester of 1936-1937 with a total enrollment of sixty regular students. In addition, eight students from other departments of the University are registered in one law subject. The faculty of the law school is now composed of four full-time teachers and three part-time teachers as follows: S. B. Severson, Professor of Law; Milton M. Thompson, Professor of Law; Ross C. Tisdale, Assistant Professor of Law; Olaf H. Thormodsgard, Dean and Professor of Law; Philip R. Bangs, Acting Professor of Law; Harold D. Shaft, Acting Professor of Law; and Carroll E. Day, Acting Instructor of Law. M. Day will teach the courses in Municipal Corporations and Criminal Procedure.

The University Junior Bar has been active this year. Regular meetings are held. For its first meeting, Mr. Francis Murphy of the Fargo Bar talked on "How to Try a Criminal Case." The Attorney General of North Dakota, Mr. P. O. Sathre, was the speaker at the second meeting and addressed the members of the Junior Bar on "The Office of the Attorney General." Prominent men of the bench and bar will appear on the program of the Junior Bar.

Mr. P. H. Perreten of the West Publishing Company will give a series of lectures on "How to Find the Law" to the Junior students during the first week of November.

LIBRARY NOTES

We acknowledge receipt of the Annual Index to Legal Periodicals issued by Current Legal Thought of 245 Broadway, New York. This is a publication designated as The Lawyer's Digest of Law Reviews and is a monthly publication which in our opinion furnishes a very comprehensive and adequate report of leading current legal journal studies.

There has come to our desk No. 1 of Vol 1 of "Vidilicet" The Librarian's Now and Then Letter, edited by Mrs. Gladys W. Ringler of the Indianapolis Bar Association Library.

The November number of The Yale Law Journal contains interesting, timely and well written articles on two burning questions now in nearly every lawyer's mind.

One, "The Undistributed Surplus Tax and the Investor" by Benjamin Graham, and the other, "The Surtax on Undistributed Profits of Corporations" by Homer Hendricks.
